You never can tell about a woman. F. Olyn Thaw now offers to help prove that Thaw is sane.

Judging by the momentum the woman's rights movement is developing "there man" is what he will be.

With the treating evil and the free-lunch counter the American salmon would scarcely recognize itself in its own plate-glass mirrors.

St. Hubert Tupper has definitely refused to accept the Conservative nomination in Vancouver. The day of the Toppers has evidently vanished.

Britain has reduced her sugar duties. This may revive the jam, pickle and candy industries injured by the protective departure of a few years ago.

"Brag and bluster" sums up the policy of the Manitoba Conservatives, as voiced by Dr. Roche. But brag and bluster do not rule this country just yet.

Quebec is going to have a strenuous summer. A provincial election in June and a territorial election in July ought to satisfy even the residents of the Ancestral Capital.

Mr. Herzog is the elephant in the new independence party, and it will hold a convention in Chicago in July. The meteoric newspaper publisher will not stay dead.

On the night of June 8 the political wags will have the usual privilege of saying "I told you so" in reference to the results of the elections in two provinces at once.

Although the reichstag meddles with his management of internal affairs to some extent, Emperor William lets outsiders know that he is the power to whom all decisions are sent.

The Conservative journals the country over are admitting that there is no hope of any great gains for the Conservatives in Quebec. That is where they are wise before the event.

The Bishop of London has disclosed the fact that he composed a sermon while shaving. Some day a thin red line may show on the cheek where he usually emphasized one of the stronger passages.

Dr. Roche did not mean it, but when he declared that the Roblin Government had crashed $240,000 from the voters' lists in Manitoba at one "purging" he gave a pretty strong argument in favor of a Federal system of lists for that province.

The Conservative press must be hard up for a sensation when they take advantage of a trip to New York of the Finance Minister, necessitated by domestic reasons to launch ridiculous stories. Mr. Fielding was in New York because his wife is ill, and not for any reasons of public business.

The British budget has an aggravating way of putting the agitation of the tariff reformers on of Jaint. Premier Asquith has to report a surplus of $23,620,000 for 1907-08, which will mostly be applied to the reduction of the national debt. Already during the past year it has been reduced by $20,000,000.

Weak Women
To weak and ailing women, there is but one way to help. But with that way, treatment must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is the constitutional.

PROTECTING THE FISH.

During the present week the New Brunswick Fish, Forest and Game Protection Association will send a delegation consisting of representatives from several counties to wait on the government asking authority to hold investigations and organize branches in different sections of the province. It is proposed to appoint three commissioners representing fish, game and forest interests who will work in conjunction with the association.

The St. John river and its tributaries total one thousand miles. It varies in width from a mile or so to a few yards, yet there is not one thousand square miles of land in the whole province which could become anything like as valuable or as productive of wealth as could this magnificent waterway if it were properly protected. The Bay of Fundy is the greatest waterway on the Atlantic coast with the possible exception of the Grand Banks and from it countless millions of fish enter the St. John river every year. No effective protection is given these fish. They are slaughtered by the ton, and in some sections where the people ought to know better, even the most valuable fish are hauled in carts and distributed over the farms as fertilizer. In several counties instances are on record in which hundreds of dollars worth of fish have been used to produce a few dollars worth of vegetable or grain. The popular idea always has been that for certain varieties of fish there is an unfailing supply and that no matter how many are killed they will be just as numerous next year. Experience with lobster, salmon, trout, gaspereau and trout should teach the people otherwise. It would pay a farmer better, or a hunter better, to assist in protecting fish, to take them at the proper season and in the proper way, and to sell in the open market, rather than to devote all of their time to growing crops. There is no doubt that in a good many sections fish are regularly caught through the ice in what should be the close season and indeed the railroads know that American markets are supplied with equipment from New Brunswick of fish which must be illegally caught. The Protective Association is evidently very much alive to the situation and its efforts to more effectively guard against what threatens to be a serious loss to the province should be supported by all. —St. John Star.

GAS BY THE POUND

Glad news—says the Montreal Witness—has come to suffering housekeepers and perplexed municipalities in the discovery of a new process of cheapening illuminating gas whereby it can be bottled and sold in quantities to suit purchasers, as coal oil is now. If this process, which will deserve to have his name inscribed on the roll of famous benefactors of humanity if he shall emancipate dwellers in cities from one of the most annoying of domestic tyrannies. Only think of the delight of getting rid of the whole abominable system of mains, pipes, double valves, and the mystery of leakage, and the infuriating by the foot, the mysterious gas man and the more mysterious occult plumber! Each of them could take a bottle of illuminating gas to suit our requirements, or we could order all we wanted from our grocer. To the freedom from vexation and the suspicion of imposture in the added the consumption of cheapness, Professor Hallock, of Columbia University, exhibited a jar of this Blaugas, as it is called, before the members of the Chemistry Club a few nights ago, in New York. Its illuminating power was demonstrated, also its economy. Only think of buying gas by the pound. A twenty-two pound cylinder, at fifteen cents a pound, would give a fifty candle light, for four hours a day for four months. That would mean a cost of 1.17 cents an hour, or about $1.25 a month, or less. This shows what, as compared with the present system, is obtained by doing away with enormous pipes and fixtures altogether, and using movable containers the same as kerosene. It is said that for five cents one could light up a room well for a whole night, allowing the highest price, as usual, for a small quantity. The possibilities of this invention are so enticing that only supposing it to prove practical, we may expect soon to see it introduced into general use, unless those interested in the continuance of the old system get hold of the patents and strangle them, as other inventions have been rendered nugatory for the preservation of vested interests. It is one of those things, however, which can hardly be kept from the public for any length of time if all that is said of it in the way of economy and simplicity be true.

WISDOM FOR WOMEN

Unless a mother wants to heap up trouble for herself and the child now and then it is better never to punish by making the culprit perform a certain amount of work, says Hilda Richmond in the Housekeeper for April. There are mothers who keep certain disagreeable tasks for little sinners, just as some cities compel their offenders against public peace to repair roads of break stones. This is a risky business, since it gives the child the impression that it is a misfortune to have to work.

A grown man says he hates the very sight of an onion because his mother made him weed the onion plants every time he was naughty when he was a child. Onion weeding is tedious back breaking work at best but when it is done as a punishment, it becomes horrible. A bright penny, a special treat in the way of a big orange or a trip to the pond to fish would have sent the boy whistling to the onion bed determined to conquer or die, but to be chained there, so to speak, with a smarting sense of his woes makes him recall those days yet.

Some mothers put the little girls to watchwork when they are restless and in mischief, but the only thing accomplished is to make the little fingers loathe needle work. I have seen rebellious little girls making button-holes all over a piece of old goods as punishment for some wrongdoing. The work was wasted because the mother threw it in the waste basket the minute she was satisfied with the result. The children would gladly take their books or work, but they always resent being ordered to work to atone for their sins. A long quiet time will make them penitent, while hard work only makes them feel injured, and gives them the lasting impression that all work is disagreeable.

As the weather gets warmer it is a little difficult at times to tell just how long to boil the cake lining, but it usually has to be boiled a trifle longer than in cold weather. If you have the cake in a tin, try putting a teaspoonful of vinegar in the lining when you add the flavoring. This really keeps it moist and it will not crumble or drop off when the cake is cut.

"Health Coffee" is really the closest Coffee imitation ever yet produced. This Coffee is made by the process of Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee is made from pure roasted grains, with malt, nuts, etc.

Really it would be an excellent, who might drink it for Coffee. No 20 or 30 minutes tedious boiling. Made in a minute, says the doctor. Sold by A. Mc G. McDonald.

To remove feathers from one pillow to another, take a tin can with both ends melted out (or, better still, make a large pasteboard tube), tie or sew firmly an end in each pillow and shake feathers through.

Steep some tea leaves in water for an hour, then strain them out, and use the liquid for varnished wood. This deoils the woodwork a cleaner, fresher look than when washed with only soap and water.

For whitening boards or cleaning marble take half a pound each of soda, powdered chalk and powdered pumice stone, stir together in a small quantity of water and then add half a pound of soft soap. Mix together to a paste and use as soap with a scrubbing brush.

Put a little powdered pumice stone between the layers of a folded piece of soft muslin and stitch round the edges to prevent the powder from falling out. Rub lamp glasses or window panes with this dry cloth and they will be clean and sparkling almost immediately. Enough powder will remain in the cloth for use many times.

JOSEPH D. McMILLAN.

MONCTON, Monday. — A murder story comes from P. E. Island, but the details are lacking on account of the cable between the Island and the mainland being out of order. The story is vouched for by passengers on the steamer Empress who crossed to P. E. Island today. It appears the body of a young man named McMillan, son of Daniel McMillan, a farmer of Miscouche, a few miles from Summerside, was found this morning on the railway track by section men, and as a bullet wound was found a foul murder is suspected. The story is to the effect that McMillan Sunday night was seeing a young lady home and at a dark and lonely place in the road a shot rang out and McMillan fell mortally wounded. This information, it is said, I did the deed and I know I shall suffer for it. It means either the gallows or penitentiary for life. I would not like the latter for I would pine away and die anyway. I had no quarrel with McMillan. He was one of the best fellows in Miscouche. My deed was not prompted by jealousy. I was in the habit of carrying a revolver through the woods and had placed that one in my pocket on Sunday. Some uncontrollable impulse seized me when I met McMillan and Stella. I had kept company with her for three years.

Was Not Jealous.

Docherty then told how he dragged McMillan's body into the woods so that no one would see it.

Docherty is a fine strapping, good-looking fellow about six feet in height, with a prominent nose and a splendid specimen of physical manhood.

The Inquest.

An inquest was held by Coroner Bowness today and the jury returned a verdict that he, McMillan, came to his death from shots fired from a revolver in the hands of and fired by the prisoner.

Docherty has been remanded till Thursday when he will appear before Stipendiary Wright.

Relief From Rheumatic Pains.

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Roland Curry, a patrolman of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by all druggists.

Shot in the Heart.

"Is that a revolver you have," asked McMillan.

"Yes," replied Docherty, and pulled the trigger. A 22 calibre bullet crashed into McMillan's heart.

"My God, I am shot," he said, and staggered and fell.

As he lay on the ground Docherty fired two more bullets into the head of his victim, whose struggles ceased for ever.

Mid Body in Bushes.

The railway track was bordered with thick bushes. Docherty dragged the body into the woods and accompanied the horror stricken girl to her home.

He stayed there several hours and at daylight went with the girl to Father Monaghan's, the priest's, and told him the whole story and where to find the body. The body was found at the spot indicated.

Told His Father.

Docherty went to the house of his father.

PROBATE COURT.

County of Restigouche

To the Sheriff of the County of Restigouche, or any Constable of the said County, Greeting:

Whereas the administrator of the estate of Annie E. Brazier, deceased, has filed in this court an account of his administration of the said deceased estate and has prayed that the same may be passed and allowed in due form of law.

You are therefore required to cite the following next of kin of the said Annie E. Brazier, deceased, namely:—Ira C. FLEURANT

FLEURANT, Monday. — As I notice that there has been no notes from our quiet little corner, I thought it well to write a few lines on the most interesting things and first of all would say that we are having cold weather now for a week with frequent thaws. I suppose we are all having our share of it.

The river is clear of ice here today.

The roads are in a terrible condition with no. But this did not stop Mr. Kelly, our local member from giving us a visit last week.

Mr. Clarence Edwards of this place is busy repairing his house.

Mr. Ben. Court of Esquimaux Plains who invented a potato bug catcher about a year ago, has been successful in getting his patent through Marion and Marion, patent attorneys of Montreal. The machine is well worthy of a patent as it has been tried and proved to be a perfect success. No hand labor about it. The horse and machinery do it all. We understand that he is going to advertise the patent for sale, and no doubt he will soon get an offer for it, as whatever firm may manufacture it will find a great demand for the machine. There is no article made that a farmer needs more.

This seems to be a hard year year on horses. No less than six have died around here during the past winter.

PRINCE OF WALES.

Stay at the Citadel During His Visit to Quebec.

LONDON, Saturday. — It has now been decided that the Prince of Wales and his entourage will not remain on board ship in the St. Lawrence during their visit to Quebec, but will stay at the Citadel, where Earl Grey and his staff will also reside. Nothing has yet been definitely settled regarding the ship in which the Prince will cross the Atlantic, but it seems to be regarded as probable that he will be conveyed to Quebec either by the new cruiser Minotaur or by the still newer and larger cruiser Indomitable.
