THE LAW OF UMBRELLAS. A correspondant of the New York Raickerbocker says, he wishes to lay down the moral law on the suject of Umbrellas, which Christian people will observe. Some who make great precousions have a slender appreciation of observe. Some winder appreciation of the neum and tumm in particular cases. The very Judge who condemns a crin to the penitentiary, if the law were rightly executed, which he expounds, is often himself a thief! Will be tell us in what code it is hid down; that umbrellas are a thing in common—that they may be seized upon and appropriated, wherever found, without consideration? This, then, O honest, honest! is the Law of Um-

"Section I. If you are away from home, and caught suddenly in a shower, and you see an umbrella standing in some corner for which there appears to be no owner, and, being much in need of it, to save you from a wet jacket, you take it sans ceremonie—that is stealing.

"Section II. If you have a cotton umbrella, and in your haste to get away, or because the lights in the hall are dim, exchange it for a neat silk one—that is

"Section III. If, in stress of weather you borrow one from an obliging friend, who insists on your taking it, and do not impress it upon your recollection to restore it to him the next day—that is slealing. Section IV. If you find a stray umbrella in your house, which has been ac-cidentally left, and you give it house-room, without making any effort to find the bereaved owner-that is stealing.'

HOW TO RAISE FRUIT EVERY YEAR. frightly understood, few trees, unless absolutely dead or rotten, need occupy any ground without yielding a plenteous crop. After long and varied experi-ments, I gradually adopted the following mode: As soon as winter has sufficiently disappeared, and before the sap ascends, examine my trees. Every dead bought is lopped off; then, after the sap has riser sufficiently to show where the blossoms will be, I cut away all the other branches having none on, and also the extremity of every limb the lower part of which bears a considerable number of budsthus concentrating the sap of the tree upon the maturation of its fruits, and saving what would be a useless expenditure of strength. In the quince, apricot, and peach trees, this is very important, as these are very apt to be luxuriant in leaves, and destitute of fruit. You may think this injures the trees; but it dees not, for you will find trees laden with fruit which formerly yielded nothing.

Of course all other well-known precautions must be attended to-such as cutting out worms from the roots, placing old iron on the limbs, which acts as a tonic to the sap, &c. Try it, ye who have failed JEALOUSY is one of the meanest, but n the least powerful, of the unclean spir that infeat modern society. How rare is it that we hear sincere, unqualifie is it that we hear sincere, annualified praise flowing from the lips of a rival! In order to beget batted, it seems only necessary that two men should start on the same path. They may be friends at first; but in a fary short while afterwards we are sure to find them focal the success of the one being gall and wormwood to the other.

Astonishing efficacy of the Oxygenated Bitters,

1N A CASE OF RIGHTERN TRARE STANDING.
From Fitzhenry Homer, Esq., of Boston, Mess.

DEAR SIR—It is now eighteen years since I, was first troubled with the water-brash and derangement of the stomach. I have taken advice of the best Physicians in this city and New York, in London, Paris, Germany, and Italy, followed their prescriptions, and visited the several sulphur and other springs in this country, the watering places of Germany, and elsewhere, in Europe, and had found no relief. Since taking the Bitters & have never had a return of the Water-brash, which daily troubled me of late years to a very great degree. By appetite has returned; the extreme flatelence, severe constitution of the bowels, general debility, and sleepless nights unde which is sufficed, have entirely left me. Having, found so great relief from this most discouraging disorder. If have recommended a trial of som medicine to many of up friends, who are now using it to great advantage. And I cannot refrain from writing to you its favour and prains for the god you have bestowed upon the community; and trust that what little is in my ecope to effer in estanding the circulation of your "Oxygenated Bitters," will be done with grateful pleasure at all times.

Twelvetrees Brothers' Soap Powder (an entirely new invention.)

Is the cheapest, asfert, best, and most effectual writicle for all washing purposes, a packet of which is equal to ten Pennyworth of Soap!

The saving of Time and Labour is so astonishingly great, that a WEEK'S WASH can be accomplished BEFORE BREAKFAST on rabbing being required.

can be accomplished BEFORE BREARFAST

This wonderful Article is MORE SERVICEABLE THAN SOAP, as it produces a better and for which Soap cannot be safely or effectually used.

It will not injure the hands, of the most delicate material; but whilst it is incomparable for permanently whitening Linens, &c., after they have become discoloured by age, or injured by bad Washing, it is also unsurpassable for improving the colors of FLANNELS, BLANKETS, WOOLLENS, COLORED PRINTS, MUSLIN and LACE.

These Reprints have been in successful operation in this country for twenty years, and their circulation is constantly on the increase, notwithstanding to continuity on the increase, notwithstanding and continuity of the competition they encounter from American periodicals of a similar class, and from the numerous foreign periodicals. This fact shows clearly the high estimation in which they are held by the intelligent reading public, and affords a guarantee that they are established on a firm basis, and will be continued without interruption.

Although these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their literary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. Blackwood, still under the masterly guidance of Christopher North, maintains its ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, unusually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other interruption.

It is their literary character which gives them their chief the masterly guidance of Christopher North, maintains in the United States. Such works as "The Castons" and "My New Novel," (both by Balwer), "My Peniusular Medal," "The Green Hand," and other partials, of which numerous rival editions are issued by the leading publishers in this country, have to be be reprinted by those publishers from the pages of Blackwood, after it has been issued by Messra.
