Man builds his castle fair and high, Wherever river runneds by; Great cities rise in every land, Great churches show the builder's hand, Great churenes show the builder's name Great arches, monuments and towers; Fair palacos and pleasing bowers; Great work is done, but here or there, and well man worketh evrywhere;

Along in the summer, when pasture is scarce, and plenty of cattle are to be picked up, I secure enough to consume all the corn I can spare, over what will be needed to fatten my hogs, (these I raise at home,) and just before evol weather commenced, I set the beef factories to work. The chips give me profit in the shape of manure, enough to make the operation pay, even if I could only get the same price for the grain as before feeding it out; but there is a gain here, too. When I read about Illinois farmers and ethers using corn for tuel because it is cheaper than coal, I think they need instruction on this point. If they have not capital enough to buy stock to eat up their grain, let them borvow the cattle, and agree to return so many pounds of fattened beef, for each wanimal, in the same way that sheep are taken on shares; it would be mutually beneficial to themselves, and to those who have more animals than they can keep profitably.

Tobacco Curss Scan.—Francis Whiting, Norristown, Pa.—For the comfert of Mr. Shaw, Surry, N. H., inform him that by the intrusion of a flock of strange sheep having scab, my flock became infected. This was in Autumn. When fected. This was in Autumn. When winter set in the disease began to appear. Whonever I observed a sheep gnawing itself, tobacco juice was applied to the diseased spot. Thus it was kept under, in good degree, till after shearing, when all the flock was dipped all over, except the eyes, in a large tub of tobacco juice, and cured. Next Winter seab appeared again; flock treated in like manner, and cured. A neighbor told une I could not get rid of it; but, after the second dip-

The present was a surprise to the recipient, and he desires us to return his sincere thanks to he donors, and to assure them that the nemorial will be treasured as a memento if the "good fellows" among the Odd illows.

Semething over a hundred vears ago he lessed eight hundred acres of land to the Episcopal Church there, for a term of minety-nine year, after which it was to fall back to his legal heirs. This land now composes the greater part of the city of Wilmington, and is of very great value. The way it happened to pass into private hands is as follows: The trustees of this trust, seeing that the family had been eastered by the troublous times of the Revolution, some of whom, being Loyalists, came to Canada, illegally sold this estate, and left for Europe. The heirs are quite numerous in Canada, many of them quite well-tuda, and they have undertaken to investigate the matter before the United States Supreme fourt.

IN WHAT SHAPE SHALL WE MARKET GRAIN — It is unaccountable to me that so many farmers have not yet learned how to send hay and grain to market, as to make them fay the most profit. I see boat loads and car loads of such produce passing through my neighborhood on its way to your city, hundreds of miles distant. It brings prices that would make a Western farmer's pocket jingle merrily only that a large part of the money stops in the hands of the transporters, to pay freight, Now railroads and sand-boats are excellent institutions, but I have never yet found so good a way to send corn to market as on the four legs of a well-fattened animal. A bull-ock or a hog will pack away a few bashels of corn more snugly than any freight master could do, and it brings better prices, after they have worked it over into beef and pork, than in the rawstate. With the exception of wheat, and perhaps rye, I would not sell a peck of grain from my farm, except for seed. Along in the summer, when pasture is scarce, and plenty of cattle are to be picked up, I secure enough to consume all the corn I can spare, over what will be needed to fatten my hogs, (these I raise at home,) and just before cool weather commenced, I set the beef factories to work. A HANDSOME APPOINTMENT.—A brusque but wealthy shipowner of Sonderland once entered the London office of Mr. Landsay on business. "Noog'ts Lindsay in!" inquired the northern diamond in the rough. "Sir!" ex Gai med the clerk, to whom the inquiry was addressed. "Well, then, is Misth'r Lindsay in, see'st thou!"—"He will be in shortly," said the clerk; "will you wait!" The Sunderland ship-wner intim ated that he would wait, and was ushered that no would wait, and presently walking to the table where the other occupant of the room was sented, took careful note of the writer's doings. The copyer leoked up inquiringly, when the northerner and, "Thou write a bonny hand, thou dost,"—"I am glad you think so," was the reply. "Ah, thou dest; thou makes thy figures weel; thou'rt just the chap I want."—"I'ndeed," said the Londoner. "Yes, indeed," said the Sunderlander. "I'm annan of few words. Noo, if thou'lt come ower to canny and Sunderland, thou see'st, I'll gie thee a hoondred and twenty pund a year, and that's a plum thou doest meet with every day in thy twenty pund a year, and that's a plum thou doesn't meet with every day in thy life, I reckon. Noo, then?" The Lendoner thanked the admirer of his penmanthan man ment emitted in the second of the penmanthan man ment emitted in the second of again; flock treated in like manner, and cured. A neighbor told me I could not get rid oft; but, after the second dipping, the sheds, fences, walls, everything against which a sheep could rub was thoroughly white washed, using best fresh lime. I saw no mere scab after that, though I kept the same sheep and their progeny for years. The infection been left on the sheds and feeding-boxes, where the rains and frost and storm could not wash it away. Strong tobacoo gisco cured my sheep, and I believe will cure any, as mine, in some cases, had lost half the floces, and were loathsome objects. I do not remember that I lost one.

A Hinto Farmers would do well to keep their lambs and sell the old sheep as all they get for lambs could be fully made up to them by the sale of the second year's wool. He thinks it is a great mistaketo to them in course of a single year by the product of the wool.

A PRESENT WORTHILY BESTOWED.

The Cleveland Herald, under the above head, gives the following item of news: Captain John Kist has long been a working and energetic member of the fraternity of Odd Fellows, and has done much to build up the order in this city; especially among the German portion of our citizens. On the late visit of the Canadian brethren to this city he was particularly interested, and contributed his time and means to make the international affair a success. After all the matters pertaining to that affair had been settled, it was found that Allemanis Lodge No. 670, of which Captain Kist an active member, had a considerable amount of money left over unexpended from the fund appropriated for the purpose of entertaining their Canadian Iriends. The lodge rotted that the saturates thereupon procured an elegant change of entertaining their Canadian Iriends. The lodge rotted that the saturates thereupon procured an elegant change of the meeting presented it to him. The cane bears the following inscription, "Presented to Brother John Kist by the members of Allemania Lodge, No. 570, 1, O. o. F. of Allemania Lodge, No. 570, 1, O. o.
