IS THE SCOTT ACT AN ISSUE?

Last year, at the municipal nomination, Mr. F. W. Johnston, after he had been nominated for reeve, told the people he had heard that some persons in the town were endeavoring to introduce the Scott Act as an issue into the municipal contests. "Why, gentlemen," said Mr. Johnston, "it is absurd to try to drag in the Scott Act on this occasion. You all know, as well as I do, that the Scott Act was settled on the 30th of October, and so far as the ratepayers are concerned it is not, and cannot be, an issue in this or future contests." These were brave words at that time, and a large number of people were gulled by them, but what has been the result?

(1.) In the election in St. Andrew's ward there were four candidates nominated.—Messrs. Cantelon, Bingham and Lee, old councillors, and Mr. Jas. A. Reid, a new man. All of the four were Conservatives, but Cantelon and Reid were in favor of the Scott Act, and Bingham and Lee were opposed to it. Reeve Johnston had been elected by acclamation, and so had a little time on his hands. He employed it by canvassing against the Scott Act candidates, and inviting his anti-Scott friends to "plump" for Bingham and Lee. The Scott Act was not a dead issue, so far as Mr. Johnston was concerned, in that election.

(2.) The January meeting of the county council was duly held, and Mr. Johnston was one of the members. The first duty of the new council was the election of a warden. The warden of the county, under the Scott Act, is a licensee commissioner by virtue of office. There were two candidates in the field, Mr. Kelly, of Blyth, and Mr. Strachan, of Grey. The former was an anti-Scott man, and the latter a supporter of the Scott Act. The parties were about evenly balanced, but through the machinations of Mr. Johnston Mr. Kelly was elected. The Scott Act was not a dead issue in that event so far as Mr. Johnston was concerned.

(3.) Mr. Johnston is one of the assessment committee of the town council, and when the question of reducing the rates on hotels came up, favored and worked for the reduction, although before the Scott Act the public houses had not been assessed higher than neighboring properties because of being possessed of bar-licenses. Mr. Johnston was working inimically to the Scott Act, when he acted on the assessment committee, despite the fact that at nomination he claimed it was a dead issue.

(4.) At the June meeting, Mr. Johnston took decided action against the appointment of a police magistrate for fear that such an appointment would cause the Scott Act to be better carried out. On that occasion Mr. Johnston didn't seem to think the Scott Act was a dead issue.

(5.) Mr. Johnston advised warden Kelly not to forward the June memorial of the county council to the Legislature, and by so doing showed that, so far as he was concerned, the Scott Act was still a live issue.

(6.) At the December meeting of the county council Mr. Johnston did everything in his power by voice and vote to thwart the appointment of a police magistrate, but without avail. If the Scott Act has been a dead issue, Mr. Johnston has been fighting very assiduously against the corpse during the past year.

If Mr. Johnston, or any one else, says on nomination day that the Scott Act is not a live issue in Huron, we want every Scott Act voter in town to prove by his ballot on polling day that it was a live issue in 1885, and will be in 1886 and until May, 1888—and after.

No report of the frothy speeches made at the Conservative meeting at Smith's Hill has yet appeared in the papers. Why is it thus? Were the speeches too full of bomb about the "Religion"?

OUR NEW STORY.

A thrilling tale of most unusual interest will be begun in THE SIGNAL in a few weeks. The author has already made her mark as a gifted and graphic writer, and the story is sure to delight all who will read it.

ABOUT THE MODEL EXAM.

Sir,—I understand Mr. H. W. Ball, one of the school trustees for St. Andrew's Ward, has ferreted out a huge conspiracy against our esteemed principal of the public school. It seems that the five examiners of the county for model work, have put their heads together to conspire against our principal, so as to make a bad abiding for his teaching, and as Mr. Ball says it is so, and speaks of it as "a gross outrage," it is only right that the conspirators should be made to suffer. We know that our principal has been hardy dealt with, because Mr. Ball has said so, and Mr. Ball, like Brutus of old, is an honorable man, and would not invent a lie or concoct a libel. But, seriously, Mr. Editor it is true that such a conspiracy has been entered into against our efficient principal? Is it true the recent "plucking" was caused by envy and malice on the part of the examiners? Also, who was the examiner on school law, and has he any feeling personally or politically against Mr. Embury or any of the pupils? By answering this you will oblige one who wants to see our principal get a fair show.

For the benefit of "Enquirer," and everybody else, we might say that the examining board for the model school consists of Messrs. Gregory, of Exeter, Hartness, of Seaford, S. P. Hall, of Goderich, and Malloch, of Clinton. Inspector Malloch is chairman of the board. The members of the board are all looked upon as responsible men, and we would sooner doubt Mr. Ball's veracity than question their integrity in this matter. The gentleman who usually examined on "school law" was Mr. S. P. Hall, of Goderich high school, whose probity and uprightness need no comment. Mr. Hall is a Conservative in politics. Whether he had personal or political spite against Mr. Embury or any of the pupils, is beyond our ken, but we never heard of Mr. Hall having personal or other bitterness against anybody. This is not the first time the model school examinations has been a failure under the tuition of the present principal. Mr. Ball is a trustee, and it is his duty to find out where the blame attaches. If the principal has been conspired against, an investigation should be called for, at the instance of Mr. Ball. If the examiners have been libelled, and it turns out that the principal is incompetent, that functionary should be dismissed and a better man appointed. The hard names and fabrications hurled at the examiners by Mr. Ball will not raise the standard of the school, or lessen the responsibility of the principal. A cessation from abuse by the friends of Mr. Embury, and a full and fair investigation by the board is necessary in the present case. We are of opinion, if an investigation be had into Mr. Ball's allegations, it will be found that, as Hon. John Henry Pope would say, "There's nothin' to it."

Some injustice appears to have been done to Mr. W. Holmes, merchant, of Wingham, who was tried last week at the sessions here, on a charge of assault upon one Munro, a commercial traveler, by the course the proceedings took before the magistrate. The magistrate could only try the case with the consent of the prosecutor, and this consenting having been withheld only the prosecutor's evidence was heard. From the prosecutor's account of the matter the public might well have believed that Holmes was the aggressor, but when the whole story was told as it was before the jury, it was apparent that Munro was not only not abused to the extent that he claimed, but that he really got no more than he deserved. It was shown by the evidence for the defense that Munro first attacked Holmes, that Holmes did not kick Munro, and that in fact the prosecution was entirely unfounded. This view the jury appears to have taken, because they dismissed the charge. Magistrates, when charged with the duty of merely investigating a charge with the view of seeing if it should be sent to a higher court, should be careful to do no injustice to respectable people with characters to lose, who are brought before them, and should hear all the evidence offered, to prevent very serious wrong being sometimes done by inducing the public to believe the half-told story of the prosecutor, instead of hearing all the evidence, when the public could form the correct conclusion. If such is not now the law it ought to be.

THE POLICE MAGISTRACY.

The question of the police magistracy in Huron is likely to be settled at an early date. The motion of the county council endorsing the memorial of the Huron County Scott Act association, which nominated Mr. John Beattie, of Seaford, for the position, is endorsed by all friends of temperance throughout the county at large, and we hope the Government will lose no time in acting upon it. The appointment of a magistrate is an imperative necessity in Huron, and the sooner the appointment is made the better. It is a notorious fact that the law has been flagrantly violated, and that inspectors and commissioners have stood by with folded arms. Nay, more; they have endeavored to strangle any efforts that were put forth by the temperance element to lessen the crime.

As we pointed out last week, the commissioners are pronouncedly against the Scott Act; the chairman has a brother in the business; one of his associates has a son who is one of the delinquent inspectors; and the other two inspectors and commissioners are not "above suspicion."

There are some who argue that a police magistrate with judicial powers, will have too arbitrary an authority because there will be no appeal from his decision. Well, why should there be an appeal? If all the evidence is heard before the police magistrate, and the circumstances warrant a conviction, why should the criminal not be convicted? If a man is caught in the act, convicted of theft, and sent to jail, how is it that he has not the right to appeal? If a thief has the right to appeal, why should the keeper of a rogerery? They are both criminals in the eye of the law, and each has his friends and sympathizers.

Then they say, "John Beattie or any other temperance man should not be appointed, for he is in sympathy with the Act." Indeed! Then they might just as well object to having a thief tried before Judge Toms, for the reason that our senior judge is an honest man. It requires a man who is in sympathy with the law to maintain the law.

A number of appealed cases came before his honor Judge Toms at the last court. We will take one as a specimen case: A man named Schaffer is alleged to keep a rogerery in Kipper. He is cited before two justices of the peace for controvancing the act. On the evidence of two witnesses, Morrison and King, he is convicted. He appeals the case, and after a lapse of time it comes up for trial before a jury in Goderich. Morrison swears that he drank in Schaffer's "tasted like gin."—He had asked for gin. Schaffer gets into the witness box and swears that he had not a drop of any kind of liquor in the house at the time that Morrison drank. King in the meantime has left the country, and his testimony, sworn to before a magistrate is not allowed in evidence. The jury retire, and, as it costs Morrison nothing to disbelieve his evidence, and it would be a heavy loss to Schaffer's pocket if his veracity were doubted, they bring in a verdict for defendant. A peculiar phase of the case is that Schaffer at the magistrate's court, when King and Morrison both gave testimony, refused to give evidence in his own behalf, yet he had no hesitation in getting into the box last week, in the absence of King, and swearing that he had no liquor in the house on the day alleged. If at first the case had been tried before a duly appointed police magistrate King would not have been in Michigan, and Schaffer's unsupported testimony would have been of no avail against that of two reliable witnesses.

The above we believe are good and sufficient reasons why a police magistrate should be appointed in Huron.

Hon. DAVID MILLS must be a man of some consequence in the Reform party. We well recollect when the late George Brown was the best abused Reform editor in Canada. Now Mr. Brown is swept over with crocodile tears by the Tory editors, who sigh for the deceased with mighty sighs, and wall forth, "We'll never see his like again." And now that George Brown is no more, and that Gordon Brown has retired from active newspaper life, it seems that David Mills has been singled out as the target for personal abuse by the Tory editors. The Free Press, of London, editorially would be as fat as a pancake if it were not for personal abuse of Mr. Mills, and the Hamilton Spectator—to us mind the best Conservative journal in Canada—uses its editorial columns with abuse of the talented editor of the London Advertiser. We are out of the squabble, but we know Mr. Mills intimately, and we know if he was a "small potatoes" man, neither the clever Spectator nor the stupid Free Press would make a target of him. No journal refers personally to the editors of the Free Press or Spectator.

"THE CHAMOGAL BURNER."—The Band Dramatic Company will give the popular old melodrama, "The Chamogal Burner," in Victoria Opera House, on Wednesday evening next, 23rd inst. His sermon to "Business Men" on Wednesday evening last, was a very practical one. Mr. Crossley has made many warm personal friends in Goderich.

We are pleased to learn that the Redemptorist Fathers Miller and Kautz, who were conducting special services in Goderich a couple of years ago, have sent a large order to F. Sallows for copies of the excellent photographs which he took for them during their visit to Goderich. The Exeter Times says: Tuesday evening last, Rev. T. M. Campbell, of Goderich, delivered his justly celebrated lecture, "God Save the Queen," in the lecture room of the James-street Methodist church, under the auspices of the Exeter Young People's Christian Association. The speaker was greeted with a large audience and everybody was delighted with the address.

"The New Era" is again talking about the benefit it would be to have Clinton made the county seat of Huron, but its appeals are in vain, and should it keep them up for years to come it is not likely that the county buildings would be removed to Clinton, just because it is slightly more central. We would advise our contemporary to preserve its gashings on the subject until a more opportune time at least.—[Exeter Times.]

MAITLAND LODGE NO. 33 A. F. A. M., G. R. C.—At the regular meeting of Maitland Lodge, No. 33 A. F. A. A GODERICH TOWNSHIP LIBEL SUIT.—The case of Perdu vs. Clark came up at Oppode Hall, Toronto, on Saturday, on motion of plaintiff's counsel to transfer the action from the Chancery to the Queen's Bench Division and to strike out the defence. The motion was refused. The defendant Clark is charged with publishing a libel in a Clinton paper on the plaintiff, who was living with defendant's sister and his brother-in-law. The affair has arisen out of the death of Mrs. Trick.

DECEMBER SESSIONS OF THE PEACE.—At the meeting of the Sessions held on Dec. 11th, a new division court was established in Blyth. This makes the twelfth court for the county. The appointment by judge out of session of the following constables was confirmed: W. H. Clegg, Gorrie; C. R. Cooper, Brussels; A. Waddell, Goderich; Thos. Moon, Wingham; and John McLeod, Bayfield. The appointment of a constable for Bayfield lockup was adjourned until next meeting of sessions, which will be held on Jan. 6th, 1886, at which time the selection of jurors for 1886 will be made.

CHRISTMAS TREE.—We commend to the kind consideration of the people of our town the "Christmas Tree" entertainment of the Mission school, to be held in the Gaelic church on the evening of Christmas Day, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The admission fee will be 10 cents. An interesting programme of readings, recitations and music is being prepared, and a treat is in store for the children and spectators. Any donations for the children in the way of clothing, toys or other gifts will be thankfully received. We hope this deserving cause will be liberally assisted by our town-folk. Make the children of the poor happy.

THE DISPENSATIONS.—We have received a printed copy of the lecture on "The Dispensations," delivered by Rev. E. M. Campbell, of Goderich, before the Theological Union of the Gaelic Conference. He divides the period of the world's history into six dispensations, corresponding with the six days of creation, and calls those periods the Adamic, Patriarchal, Mosaic, John the Baptist, Christian, and Christian Supremacy. Campbell has a good grasp of the subject, and he shows a good literary style. The pamphlet should be in the hands of all who desire good reading. It is published by request, and there is no intention of making any gain out of it, but to cover expenses a charge of 10c. is made for the little book. For sale at the bookstores.

Rev. Mr. McDonald, of Seaford, preached an eloquent and instructive sermon in Knox church on Sunday evening from Hebrews 4:15. After the sermon the preacher spoke for a short time on the question of missions. He showed that today the Christian world numbered about 400,000,000, while those of other religions and pagans numbered over 1,000,000,000. He then dwelt upon our North-west missions, and he evidently spoke as one who knew wherof he testified. He said that the people would fully appreciate the subject of Northwest missions when they were called upon in the course of the next few years to pay the taxes. The late rebellion would cost the country several millions, as all the claims were not yet settled. He showed that the government having put the Indians on reserves, in many cases placed over them "faru instructors" who were morally unfit for the position, and that some of these had so ill-treated the Indians that they became exasperated and rose up against the government, and precious lives were lost. The Indians under the charge of the Protestant missionaries had remained loyal and peaceable, and thus it could be seen that the small amount spent in mission work was well spent.

MARRIED.—In Colborne Township, on the 15th inst., by the Rev. Dr. Ure, Mr. Norman Galt and Miss Mary A. Galt, the eldest daughter of Mr. Darius Galt of Galtville.
