School Children's Annual Entertainment.

At North River.

The annual entertainment given by the pupils at North River and Hallow's schools, took place in All Hallow's Hall, on the night of Monday, Nov. 4th. Other years this event took place somewhat earlier, but owing to the late return of a great number of our fisherfolk, it was thought advisable to prolong the date this year. Long before the appointed time people were wending their way towards the Hall, and the doors were only opened a short while when to all appearances it seemed that there would be a "bumper" house. The program numbering about twenty items, consisted of Choruses, Solos, Recitations, Dances, Action Songs, Physical Culture, Figure Marching and Dialogues. There was every evidence of harmony in the Choruses, whilst the rendition of the different solos brought forth favorable comment on the musical talent of the children. The recitations showed careful training and in turn received encores. The dances and action songs which were confined to the smaller children received well merited applause, whilst special mention must be made of the physical culture and figure marching. These last two items, which were performed by the senior girls, would do credit to any of the military organizations which we have seen perform in similar manner. The three dialogues entitled, "Recess Speeches," "Matrimonial Advertisement," and "The Census Taken" were in turn well acted. The children spoke very fluently and could be heard distinctly in all parts of the Hall. It may be mentioned that the "Census Taken" evoked the greatest attraction and the applause was so deafening at times that the performers had to often await an opportunity to speak.

At the conclusion of the program the audience was thanked for their patronage and it was announced that the entertainment would be repeated on the following night.

After the second night's proceedings a very enjoyable dance was held when all enjoyed themselves to the utmost until the wee small hours of the morning.

On previous years it was customary for the distribution of school prizes to take place at the conclusion of the second night's program, but owing to the absence of our Pastor, Rev. Dr. Whelan, who takes such a keen interest in the furtherance of education in his parish, it had to be deferred until his return.

The proceeds exceeded those of other years and were beyond the expectations of all concerned. Every credit is due the teachers, Misses Mary and Kathleen and Mr. W. H. Casey, who must have been untiring in their efforts to bring the concert to the success it has attained. VISITOR.

MADRID, To-day.—The Premier's assassin, at first thought dead was found to be alive when carried to the hospital. The assassin appears to have an isolated crime with motives which remain obscure. It appears not to have been a part of a plot. The assassin came recently from Buenos Ayres by way of Paris. The King appointed the Foreign Minister, Marquis Manuel Garcia, Premier temporarily. It is expected General Weyler will be the permanent appointee.

STOCKHOLM, To-day.—The Noble Prize for Physics goes to Omslaff Dalen, a Swedish engineer; the prize for chemistry is divided between Prof. Grigard, Nancy University, V. Prof. Sabadler of Toulouse University. The value of each is $28,900.

OTTAWA, To-day.—On Nov 20th the Marine Department will begin the removal of the buoys on the St. Lawrence for the winter.

Carnegie Heroes.

The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission has rewarded the men who displayed so much gallantry in the disaster which fell the Shore and the Kronen in October, 1910. The information is contained in a letter to the Daily News from the Hon. D. Morrison, who interested himself in the case. Mr. Morrison says the facts were verified at first hand by Mr. Benitz, a representative of the Commission, after the attention of the Trust was drawn to the matter. The Commission has awarded to Lewis Little a silver medal and $1,500; to Robert Brown, Jas. Little, William Ford, James Ford and Eli Paul a bronze medal and $1,000 each.

SCHOONER DAMAGED.—The schr. W. M. Dohmy, Capt. Geo. Miles, arrived here yesterday from Bonavista, in rounding Cape St. Francis she had a tough time of it. Her foremast was sprung near the base, lost her jibboom and received other damage of a minor character.

BRIDGES DANGEROUS.—Two bridges leading to the coast at the C. E. Cemetery at Portugal Cove are not fit to go over. Yesterday a funeral procession passing there had to make a wide circuit to avoid going over them. If a serious accident is to be averted, the Government should immediately repair them.

VESSEL IN DANGER.—When the Stella Maris was on her way to Catalina she picked up the schr. Altruist, Capt. Kelly, in a very dangerous position and at anchor off Catalina. She was from Labrador, fish laden, was caught in a fierce snow storm and there was every danger of her chains giving out and she being swept ashore. She was towed safely to Catalina.

PAINFUL INJURY.—While proceeding to Petty Harbor over the Waterford Road yesterday afternoon, Mr. John Pridham's horse took fright at a passing auto and caught the driver between the wheels and a telegraph pole. The man received painful injury, one of his legs being badly crushed. He was taken into Mr. C. Murphy's residence and attended to and later had to be driven to a doctor.

SCHOONER LEAKING BADLY.—The Ingraham arrived here this morning after leaving the schr. Laddie at Harbor Grace at 9 o'clock last night. The vessel was bringing home freighters from Labrador, sprung a leak and all the passengers left her, coming up on the mail boat. The crew stayed by her, and though there was 4 feet of water in the hold, kept the pumps going until she reached Seldom, where the tug took her in tow. She will be docked at Harbor Grace for repairs.

Quips and Jest.

There are no jokes that are not old—they all came down from ages dark; the freshest of them all were told by Shem and Japhet in the ark. So say the scholars, who have sought the pedigrees of jests and things, through dusty tomes of tommyrot, and in the tombs of ancient kings. The jests we see in almanacs, which we imagine freshly canned, were old when Moses made his tracks toward the milk and honey land. You cannot spring a cheerful jest that was not known in Pharaoh's time; and Cleopatra used to brag of how she framed the comic rhyme. But let us never take it hard that all our jests are old and stale; a joke, though bearded like the pard, is always better than a wall. I'd rather far come down the street dispensing jokes that Noah knew, old things with whiskers to their feet, than go around morose and blue. While I still frolic on the stage I'll strew around my harmless chaff; and if the same is green with age, what difference, if people laugh? The chestnut is a noble fruit that should not be manking by feared; I don't respect the fresh galoot who damns it merely for its beard.

Household Notes.

Instead of scrubbing bath tubs and white enamel sinks, wipe them out with a cloth dipped in kerosene. All the stains will come away at small expense of labor.

Remove the hot-water marks from the Japanese tray by rubbing it well with sweet oil till all marks disappear. The tray should be polished with a soft cloth.

Brushe articles should be immersed in boiling water, then rubbed with a piece of flannel dipped in yellow soap, then with a soft cloth and chamolis.

Remember that nothing ruins ivory-handled knives more quickly than to put them into water. The proper way is to wash the blades and rub off the handles.

When the vinegar cruet has become clouded, clean it by putting a teaspoonful of lye in it; let this remain for a few days, then wash out. It will be perfectly clean.

A hint for the laundry: To set the colors, green, blue, lavender, reds, purples and pink, soak them in a tub of water to which two ounces of water has been added. Black, grey and dark blues should be soaked in strong salt water.

Every kitchen that is covered with linoleum should have rag rugs or strips of carpet placed on the floor where one stands to wash dishes and in front of the working table. The feet do not get nearly so tired if this is done.

When turnips are young, wash them off carefully and boil without peeling. You will find the thick rind will cook as tender as any part of the vegetable and the flavor will be much improved.

Black kid gloves are bound to wear rusty at the finger-ends. When that is the case, add a few drops of black ink to a teaspoonful of olive oil, and with a camel's-hair brush paint the rusty places.

Needles kept in a needle book with the leaves made of flannel are bound to rust. There is a dressing in flannel which causes this. Better make the leaves of your needle book of small pieces of chamolis skin.

Old ink stains in cotton goods can be removed by melting tallow and while it is boiling drop the ink-spotted material into it and keep it there until the spot is saturated. Then rub with soap until the spot disappears.

When black lace grows rusty, it can be restored by dipping it in a strong solution of vinegar and water. Then rinse in coffee and iron while damp, with a piece of flannel placed between the lace and the iron.

Creamed ham is very delicious. Cut cold ham into thin shavings, put one rounding teaspoonful of butter into a small saucepan, melt and add one-quarter cup of milk. When hot, put in the ham and dust with pepper. When all is cooked creamy, serve at once.

Water bottles, pickle jars or any glass that is stained where it is impossible to get the hand inside, do wash it with an eggshell and force it through the neck of the bottle, add a little warm water, shake well, and you will find the glass clean and polished.

Oysters are bound to be tough if they are cooked long. In a stew they should remain over the fire only long enough to curl their edges, and in frying they should be taken out of the fat when they are golden brown. The fat should be hot enough to brown them almost immediately.

CONVINCING

't is impossible for any argument in favour of Sunlight Soap to be more convincing than a trial of the Soap itself.

The Stella Maris Here.

The Stella Maris, Capt. E. Hann, arrived here at 5 a.m. to-day. She went as far as Cartwright on her last run down the Labrador and had it very stormy all the way coming and going with a very high sea. She brought a large number of passengers for various places up to Hr. Grace and Marconim from Macovick, Cape Harrison, Indian Hr., and Vension Tickle. The ship was supposed to make a trip to Nain to take a large freight from Rigolette but not having the capacity the Solway had to take the goods. She met the Solway Monday week, the 4th inst., at Cartwright. All the wintermen have gone in the bays on Northern Labrador and the people having done well north with cod are in good circumstances for the winter. The winter has set in on the coast. The ship may make another trip down there.

Bazaar Opened.

The St. Bon's Mammoth Bazaar was formally opened at 3.30 this afternoon in the British Hall by His Grace Archbishop Howley in the presence of hundreds of onlookers. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Williams were present. The interior of the spacious hall is superbly and artistically decorated. The lady co-workers have charge of the stalls, which occupy conspicuous places in the top flat, and are expecting to do a brisk business. The Bazaar will be continued for three days.

Good Advice.

We would advise our many friends and patrons who would like to secure some of "The Picturesque" scenes of Xmas cards, to place their orders early as the demand is sure to exceed the supply.
