A Case for the S.P.C.C.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

Little girl?

Can you imagine any group of kindly, intelligent people banding together to inflict upon an innocent child a physical deformity which would probably be incurable, and would drive people away from him all his life?

It is quite unimaginable, isn't it? And if it were to happen, it would certainly be a case for the society with the great heart and the long name.

And yet, day in and day out, kindly and intelligent people combine to inflict the moral deformity of vanity or abnormal self-consciousness upon some innocent child whose pretty face or quick brain is its only fault.

Near our summer home there lives a very lovely little girl about five years of age. She has soft, sunshiny hair; eyes that are really as blue as forget-me-nots, and a little-tipped flower of a face that no one can help admiring. Her mother furnishes a perfect frame for the little picture by dressing her in the daintiest of white frocks with blue bows to bring out the forget-me-nots in her eyes.

The unanimity with which people admire this little human flower is natural. The unanimity with which they say so to her and in her hearing is most unnatural.

"I never saw such a beautiful child!" "Isn't she adorable?" "Doesn't her mother dress her beautifully?" "Do you know you are a very pretty little girl?" "Where did you get such lovely eyes?" Such are the comments which people make, either directly to Dorothy or over her head to each other.

And of course the evil effects are beginning to appear. How could it be otherwise unless Dorothy were a feeble-minded child, incapable of understanding plain English—which she is very far from being.

Children understand what is going on about them much more quickly than we realize. Even before a baby begins to talk he can understand a great deal that is said to him. A bright child of three is probably old enough to be spoiled by hearing itself lavishly praised, and yet a child has to be seven or eight years old before he begins to talk about it in its presence as freely as if it were stage deaf or feebly minded.

Some foolish mothers find in the sweetness of such flattery a compensation for the harm it does. Some are even foolish enough to join in it themselves, but the intelligent mother bitterly depreciates this practice, and tries to guard her child from it, as carefully as she would keep him from hearing profanity or vulgar language.

"I'll never go to a summer hotel with a child again," the mother of an attractive little four-year-old told me last winter. "It has taken the whole winter to undo the spoiling Barbara got last summer."

Of course this unwise praise is given not by ill-intentioned people but by kindly-enough folks who "just didn't think." I am glad no reader friend of mine will have that excuse in the future.

Wedding at Trinity.

LILLY-FOWLOW.

On Thursday afternoon, the 11th inst., St. Paul's Church, Trinity, was the scene of a happy event when Mr. Hugh R. Lilly, son of G. R. Lilly, Esq., Stipendiary Magistrate, led to the altar Miss Lizzie Fowlow, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Robert Fowlow, and for the past year or two C. E., teacher of Trinity East High School. At the appointed hour of 3 o'clock the bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father. The bridal dress was of cream satin, draped with maltese lace and chiffon. She wore a bridal veil and wreath of orange blossoms and carried a beautiful bouquet of white chrysanthemums, sweet peas and asparagus fern. The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Fowlow, sister of the bride, and Miss Flora Lilly, sister of the groom. Their dresses were of white embroidery with pink sashes and black and pink picture hats. Mr. W. N. White supported the groom. The bride was given away by her father, Capt. R. Fowlow. The incumbent of the mission, Rev. H. V. Whitehouse, performed the wedding ceremony. After the nuptial knot was tied the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's father where a very quiet reception was held. Owing to the recent sad death of the groom's sister, Mrs. Edwin Mallam, of Heart's Content, all previous invitations to the wedding were cancelled. The Rev. Mr. Whitehouse, in a few well-chosen words proposed the health of the bride and groom after which followed the other toasts customary to such an occasion. We understand the groom's present to the bride, though ordered sometime ago, has not yet arrived; the present to the bridesmaids was a gold ring to each, to the best man gold cuff links and to the organist a silver hat pin. The bride and groom amid showers of rice boarded the train at Trinity Junction at 8.29 p.m. for Gamble.

where the honeymoon will be spent. A party of immediate relatives and well-wishers accompanied them as far as "the Leap." The bride was the recipient of many pretty and valuable presents testifying to the esteem in which she was held by her host of friends. We join with other friends in wishing them both many years of wedded happiness.—Com.

An Operation For Appendicitis

Was Ordered by His Doctor, But Complete Cure Was Effected by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Almost anyone who has suffered from appendicitis will assure you that this trouble developed only after months or years of derangements of the liver and bowels.

Appendicitis can almost invariably be prevented, and very frequently cured, by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In the case described in this letter the doctors had ordered an operation, but a thorough cure was brought about by this great medicine.

Mrs. A. A. Sallantype, Sturgeon Falls, Ont., writes: "My husband was treated for appendicitis, and the doctors ordered an operation. But he would not consent to an operation and began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since doing so he has had no need of an operation, or even of a doctor, as the trouble has completely left him. I cannot find words to speak our gratitude for his cure."

Starvation Imminent.

Special to The Evening Telegram. LONDON, Sept. 15.

Hunger has become the ally of organized capital in the fight against the Dublin transport workers. By the end of this week the spectre of starvation will be a grim reality. In the foul slums of the city, where life at its best is a hand to mouth struggle to keep body and soul together, there is no sign of weakening on the part of Larkin's deluded followers, despite the steady ominous growth day by day.

Cadet Dance

One of the most successful social events held for the season was the C. C. C. dance which took place in the British Hall last night. The affair was promoted and run off by supporters of the Corps for the purpose of raising funds to build a new race boat, which it is expected, will be placed on Quidi Vidi Lake next year. Over four hundred persons attended and all thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The ballroom of the hall was artistically decorated, the colours of the Corps being shown conspicuously. The programme of fourteen dances opened at 9.30. The Cadet Band supplied the music under the direction of Lieut. Bulley, and the various selections discoursed evoked encores. At midnight there was the usual interval of an hour when Mr. J. P. Grace, chairman of the Boat Club Committee, occupied the platform and thanked all heartily for their patronage. He was followed by Mr. P. F. Collins, President of the Club, who in a few brief remarks intimated that the foundation of the new boat was laid and paid for and expressed his gratitude on behalf of the Club to one and all present for their attendance in such large numbers. Dancing was then continued until 3 a.m. when the affair was brought to a happy termination by the rendition of the National Anthem.

It is the intention of the Club to run a series of dances during the winter months.

Complaint re Mails.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—Every now and again we hear complaints about the mails. The wonder is that we don't hear more. If other places get no better treatment than we do here. The s.s. Dundee—the only steamer that calls here—makes the round of this bay both ways twice a week. When she comes from the south on Monday we should get the papers of Friday and Saturday; on Friday the first four papers of the week—Monday to Thursday. Now all this season we have been losing papers, or having some of them come when a fortnight old. Seldom all of them turn up at the proper time.

But this week things are even worse than usual. On Monday we got no papers at all, but we hope they will turn up on Friday. Alas for our hopes! When we go for our mail we find that one paper only has found its way along—and that is last Saturday's. Is not this preposterous? Who is to blame? We know, Mr. Editor, that the papers are mailed regularly from your office. So the fault lies with the postal authorities. Will the P.M.G. look into the matter, and try to give us satisfaction? Let him disburse those officials whom he made incompetent, and replace them by competent men, irrespective of party interests.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space I am, yours truly,
E. A. BISHOP.
