Mother Gave Her Child Away.

Had Given up all Hope of Living. Heart Trouble was Cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. Andrew Savoy, Grattan's, N.b., rrites:-"In the year 1905 I was taken sick and did not think I could live any length of time. My trouble was with my heart and people told me that nothing could be done for a case like mine. I consulted the very best doctors but they could do me o good. For seven weeks I could hardly ross the floor. I had no pain, but was so reak nobody in the world can believe how felt. I had given up all hopes of living | fiercely. and had given my little girl to my sister-

"One day a friend came to see me, and carling me by name, said, 'Lizzie, if I were you I would try a dose of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as they are good for heart trouble.' My husband got me a box, but for two days I was not feeling any better, but on the fourth day my husband said, 'I believe those pills are doing you good,' I was able to say, 'Yes, I feel a good deal better this morning.' He said, 'Well, I will get you another box right away.' I took two boxes and three dozes out of the third one, and I was perfectly well and have not been sick since then.

"I will never be without them in my home for God knows if it had not been for Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I would not have been alive now."

"The servants!" said Betty.

The question seemed to startle him into sudden action. Driven into a corner, he was a desperate man. His pistol was in his hand, as he spoke, and Sir Rupert Ashton glanced at him. Perhaps Mary saw the look, and remembered what Baxter had said only a little while ago. She laid her hand quickly on his arm lest he should make good his words and shoot Sir Rupert like a dog.

Dubuisson did not answer Betty's question, but turned upon Ashton

"Curse you! Are you satisfied now with your lying work?" "Curse me, it is just; I hope you will yet live to think less harshly Sir Rupert was as calm and deliberate now as before he had been agitated and almost incoherent. Another reason for prompt action, said Sir Rupert. "There is the ring. If I succeed, Dubuisson, put it to the eredit side of my character and think ome good of an evil man. Give me wo minutes. When you hear the first vild howl of hatred and triumph, then will be time for you to go. Forgive ne, Lady Betty, if you can."

Before anyone could utter a word, efore Betty realized that the heavy gold signet ring was in her hands, Sir Rupert had gone through the servants' quarters. They listened, wondering what his intentions might be. Then came the rapid beating of horses' hoofs upon the cobble-stones of the stableyard, then only the sound of smashing glass, and the sharp crackle of fire; then a screaming roar of voices, madness and malignity at their highest sulting in Pneumonia.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is intended especially for acute throat and lung diseases, of which colds, croup and whooping cough are the most common. Those who have used it for years and are in a position to know its real value, assert that it is without an equal for the treatment of these diseases. It not only cures colds and grip, but counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. It has come into almost universal use as a preventive and cure for croup, and has never

Toronto, March 29.-The advantages of the Hudson Bay route via Fort Churchill, from a military point view, were discussed tonight at the Canadian Military Institute by Mr. J. W. Tyrrell, the well-known explorer of the sub-Arctics of Canada, who is a lieutenant in the Corps of Guides. Such a route, he said, would be of inestimable advantage in case Britain should be involved in war, supplying as it would a direct means of communication by which grain could be shipped from Western Canada to Britain when the St. Lawrence route might be intercepted. Then, should the southern boundary of Canada be invaded, troops from Britain could be landed at Fort Churchill independent-
