THE BEST TEACHER.

Old Experience Still Holds the Palm. For real practical reliability and something to swear by, experience—plain old experience—is able to carry a big load yet without getting swayed.

A Western woman found some things about food from Old Experience—a good reliable teacher. She writes: "I think I have used almost every breakfast food manufactured, but none equal Grape-Nuts in my estimation."

"I was greatly bothered with weak stomach and indigestion, with formation of gas after eating, and tried many remedies for it, but did not find relief."

"Then I decided I must die and see if I could overcome the difficulty that way. My choice of food was Grape-Nuts, because the doctor told me I could not digest starchy food."

"Grape-Nuts food has been of great benefit to me for I feel like a different person since I began to eat it. It is wonderful to me how strong my nerves have become. I advise everyone to try it, for experience is the best teacher."

"If you have any stomach trouble—can't digest your food, use Grape-Nuts food for breakfast at least, and you won't be able to praise it enough when you see how different you feel." SHOULD BE VOTE ON BORDEN'S PLAN

AND NO EMERGENCY

Does Not Think That Canadians Want a Place on the Imperial Council.

Fergus, Jan. 7.—"I believe that the people have the right to be heard at the polls. I believe that this is too great a problem to be passed upon by myself or other members of Parliament without consulting the electors." Such was the view expressed by Hugh Guthrie, M. P. for South Wellington, at his meeting here this evening. Mr. Guthrie is making a tour of his constituency, and hopes to speak in every municipality in it. He showed by his speech tonight that Right Hon. R. L. Borden's proposal to grant thirty-five million dollars to Great Britain should be submitted to the popular vote, not at a plebiscite, but at a general election.

He showed that the admiralty's memorandum does not bear out the assertion that Britain is facing an emergency.

Mr. Guthrie showed clearly that in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's policy was the true solution of the problem of the national and imperial defence.

Mr. Guthrie hoped that it would be a long time before Canada obtained a voice in the councils of the empire in the deciding of questions of foreign policy and the issues of peace and war.

No Opposition.

Robert Kerr, president of the local Reform Association, issued an invitation to anyone who might wish to speak in opposition to Mr. Guthrie to come forward. None came, and the chairman then introduced Nicholas Jeffrey, of Guelph.

Mr. Jeffrey said that it was the intention of Mr. Guthrie to go about South Wellington and discuss the naval policy. Three years ago, he said, the colonies came forward to offer their aid to the mother country in the danger then thought to exist. Canada had declared for a Canadian navy, and her people had believed the problem solved. Now the government proposed to take thirty-five million dollars from the Canadian people to give it to a country which did not need it.

"I am persuaded," commenced Mr. Guthrie, "in my own mind that from many points of view the naval proposal now before the House of Commons is the most momentous which has come before the Parliament since Confederation." That proposal, he said, was to grant to the treasury of Canada thirty-five million dollars to the treasury of Britain for the construction of three powerful battleships. The proposal he outlined by saying: "We are going to Great Britain to borrow thirty-five millions to give it to Britain to pay interest of about a million and a quarter a year."

"For any member," he continued, "to vote away $25 millions in support of the approval and consent of the people would be a very high-handed proceeding indeed, unless, indeed, the member came from the province of Quebec. There the naval question was an issue, but neither in this riding nor in any other in the province was the navy problem discussed."

"Don't you think that the Government should be bold enough in launching a proposal of this kind to go to the people and say: 'What do you think of it?'" asked Mr. Guthrie. "Here I have a question—a naval one. What should the Government do? I say, dissolve Parliament and go to the people."

There were three schools, Mr. Guthrie said; first, the people who wished to give 35 millions to Britain; second, the party to which he himself belonged, believing that Canada should not remain inactive, but that what was for her done should be done for the Empire; third, those who wished to do nothing. The last group, he said, was composed chiefly of Nationalists in Quebec, "whose speeches reeked with sedition."

Wants No Imperial Voice. The Premier, Mr. Guthrie continued, had been influenced in framing his naval policy by the Nationalists. "Some of his leaders," he asserted, "has given a pledge to Henri Bourassa, that the naval service shall be repaid. I believe that pledge has been signed and sealed and is now held by Mr. Bourassa."

Mr. Bourassa had declared that Canada could not have a navy until it had obtained a voice in the councils of the Empire. He would have a Canadian navy policy," said Mr. Guthrie, "who achieves that end. I think he will be a long time. Is there a man that wants to be embroiled in European wars? Is there a man in Canada competent to decide the questions of peace and war? Is there anyone who wants to be embroiled in European militarism? I don't think there is."

Mr. Guthrie declared that the dominions should have any voice in Winston Churchill, he said, had indicated that there was no emergency and no need for more Dreadnoughts.

"I don't believe there is any fear," declared Mr. Guthrie. "I don't believe there is any ground for fear. I don't believe there is any danger. But I do believe that Canada should do something to relieve the Empire of the necessity of patrolling the coast of Canada. We should make a start, and we should make it now. Our way would have to begin in a small way. My view is that the Liberal program is the correct program."

PLAN NEW RAILWAY TO HUDSON'S BAY

Surveys Are Being Made From Winnipeg to Port Nelson.

[Canadian Press.]—Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 7.—A syndicate of prominent local financiers are arranging to begin work in the spring on the construction of a railroad from Winnipeg to Hudson Bay, with Port Nelson as the objective point. They have already spent a large amount of money in preliminary surveys, purchasing land, etc., and are in earnest.

The directors are now contemplating the construction of terminals here under an option already secured. The charter for the road has already been secured under the name, Hudson Bay, Peace River and Pacific Railway.

TRoubled with KIDNEYS COULD NOT SWEEP FLOOR.

It is hard for a woman to look after her household duties when she is suffering from a weak and aching back, for no woman can be strong and well when the kidneys are out of order.

PRE-STOCK INVENTORY SALE

Thursday, Friday and Saturday

TABLE LINENS, SHEETINGS, COTTONS, TOWELS AND TOWELLINGS

AS FAR as can be judged from the amount of stock and the low pricing which has been done, Thursday, Friday and Saturday should see the biggest three days' selling in this section for some time.

We might say regarding some of the specials offered that never have such great reductions been made. We refer particularly to the sale of Table Linen Seconds, which at the prices marked for this sale are about one-third the regular value of such qualities if free from imperfections. Such opportunities as these may never be offered again. The purchase was an exceptionally large one, and owing to having many extra long cloths, the discount from the maker was made exceptionally liberal, and if you go through the list below you will see that this is your opportunity to replenish your household supplies, not only in table linens, but in all above-mentioned supplies, Towels, Towellings, Sheetings, Cottons, etc.

190 Bordered Damask Table Cloths (Seconds)
