SALMON REGULATIONS NOT STRICT ENOUGH

John P. Babcock Returns From Trip to Headwaters of the Fraser

(From Wednesday's Daily)
John P. Babcock returned on Monday night from his annual trip to the headwaters of the Fraser, whither he goes each year to observe the salmon as they reach the spawning beds. He gives an interesting account of his observations from which it will be seen that while the catch of salmon this year has been greater than was expected, or appears to be usual in an "off" year, yet the number of fish which reached the spawning grounds was most disappointing, and the hatcheries secured but a meagre million of eggs for propagation purposes. From this Mr. Babcock draws the conclusion that the regulations at present in force are not sufficiently restrictive if the supply of salmon is to be kept up. Discussing the question with a Colonist reporter yesterday, Mr. Babcock said:

"I returned from the headwaters of the Fraser yesterday in order to clean up the files of the Department, after which I shall go back to the river for one night. I was up the river every year, to ascertain as nearly as possible, the number of sockeye which reached the spawning grounds. The number which successfully evaded the traps and nets and gained access to the extreme headwaters of the Fraser river was greater than in any 'off year' since I have been familiar with the conditions. At Fort George, the Indians captured more in one night this last August than they caught all the season last year. The run to Chilcot lake was most promising. The Chilcot Indians were very successful. They took over 20,000 with their dip nets in August. They have not taken so many in any year except 1905 in the seven years. Last year and in 1906 they caught but a few hundred. They had good fishing this year for fully two weeks.

Indians Use Dip-Nets

"The Chilcot and Fort George Indians capture their salmon with the dip-nets commonly used by all the Indians along the Fraser and Thompson rivers. The method is a good one, though they take only a small number of those which pass up.

"The Fraser was very high in July and early August, and as the Indians at Fort George began to catch sockeye as early as August 6, it would appear that the salmon which reached there must have entered the lower river early. Strange to say, the sockeye do not appear to have entered the Chilcot lake about this year. Very few reached the dam at the outlet of Quenneville lake and none were observed in the tributaries of that great lake. Fort George is as you know north of the confluence of the Quenneville and the Fraser, some 90 miles, and the Chilcot river enters the Fraser some 100 miles south of the Quenneville. It is therefore a matter of note that the run to the Quenneville is all, while the numbers which entered the Chilcot and those noted at Fort George was much greater than is usual in an 'off' year.

Sockeye Has Strange Ways

"It is one of the many strange and unaccountable characteristics of the sockeye's migrations, why they go to one lake fed stream and not to another is one of those things 'no fellow can seemingly find out.' The run to Seton and Shuswap lakes was very poor, better than the run of last year. The take of sockeye eggs at both the hatcheries at Seton and Shuswap lakes is under a million, and there is little or no prospect of increasing the number this year.

"The run to the Birkhead appears to be better than last year, but the season is not yet over and it is expected that the early take at Harrison does not appear to have been as large as last year at this time. October and November are the two best months on the Harrison and as that season has never failed to make an excellent showing, the fall take is expected to be large.

Regulations Ineffective

"Considering that the catch in both the Sound and the Gulf and lower Fraser was much greater this year than last, and is better than four years ago, and that the regulations on the Fraser were more restrictive this year than last, the run to the spawning beds is most disappointing. It would appear that the new regulations were not as drastic as has been charged, and that they are not yet sufficiently restrictive to insure the perpetuation of the industry, that we are still catching too many fish and must adopt additional measures to insure the stocking of the spawning beds."

The Fernie district fire relief committee has written the Victoria city council, expressing its gratitude for the generous donation of $1,000 which the city has made to the relief fund. The committee expresses its appreciation of the city's generosity and its confidence that the donation will be of great assistance to the sufferers in the recent conflagration. At last night's meeting of the city council the following resolution was recently passed by the executive of the relief committee was read:

Late Mr. Norris, a Nonagenarian, Was Long a Resident Here

(From Wednesday's Daily)
The funeral of the late William George Norris took place yesterday afternoon from his residence, Fort street, at 2:30 o'clock. The late Mr. Norris, who died on Sunday, had reached the advanced age of 90 years and seven months, and despite it, looked decades younger. He enjoyed splendid health up until a few years of his death.

Born in London, Eng., he came to Canada as a young man, accompanied by his wife and two children. He took up his residence in Toronto, conducting a store there. In the early sixties he was in the lumber business, though he retired from business some years ago. Here he has resided to the day of his death. Some seven years ago the death of Mrs. Norris occurred.

Four children survive him, two daughters and two sons, all of whom reside in this city. They are Mrs. C. F. Todd, Mrs. L. G. McQuade, John C. and Frederick Norris.

At the funeral yesterday Rev. P. J. Jenne, the rector of St. John's church, officiated, assisted by the curate, Rev. A. J. Stannard. The interment took place at the grave. There were many in attendance to do honor to the memory of the aged pioneer, who numbered many friends in the city and district of which he has so long been a resident. The pall-bearers were: E. Redfern, Thomas Shotbolt, N. Shakespeare, George Elliott, P. R. Brown and Charles Hayward.

Mr. McBride intends to address some meetings in Victoria, later on, but arrangements have not yet been completed. He will also speak at Chilliwack and other points in the New Westminster electoral district.

MRS. DUNSMUIR'S WILL WAS READ YESTERDAY

(From Wednesday's Daily)
Those entrusted with the task of reading the will of the late Joan Dunsmuir performed their duty yesterday morning at 11 o'clock.

Conditional sums in cash are bequeathed to Mrs. William Charles, Mrs. Harvey Combe, Elizabeth and Ruth, John Bryden, Mr. Miss Olive Bryden, Mrs. G. A. Kirk, and her daughter Betty, Mrs. Sumner (sister of Mrs. Kirk), and J. S. Harvey. Subject to the above legacies, the whole of the estate, which is valued at between $800,000 and $900,000, is divided into four equal parts, between Mrs. H. Croft, Mrs. H. Burroughs, Lady Musgrave, Mrs. A. Gough Calhoun, and Mrs. R. S. Chaplin, Mrs. Dunsmuir's daughters, who are the executors. The management of the estate will continue under the supervision of R. T. Elliott, K.C., and J. S. H. Matson.

HIGH PRESSURE PIPES ARE NOW ARRIVING

First Shipment Received From the Old Country—Pump Tenders

(From Wednesday's Daily)
The first shipment of pipes for the salt water high pressure system have arrived here from the Stanton Iron Works, England, and the pipes for the waterworks distribution system were also made. Since the work on the installation of the high pressure system was inaugurated some time ago by the laying of the eight inch main on Broughton street, from Douglas street to Wharf street, and the twelve inch main on Government street, from Herald street to Johnson street, the necessary pipes have been borrowed from the waterworks supply, but now that the supply for the high pressure system is arriving more rapid work on the laying of the grid iron system for fire protection will be made.

Yesterday the city purchasing agent and the city electricians were busy figuring out the various tenders for the electric and steam pumps to be installed for the high pressure system. These tenders have still to be considered by the fire wardens next Friday evening when the report will be made to the city council. The tenders are as follows: Pindley, Durham & Brodie, $18,822; Hinton Electric company, $12,500; steam, $11,800; Vancouver Electric company, electric $10,000, steam $17,900; Canadian Electric company, electric $12,150, steam $12,450, with a tender for steam turbine pump, $16,100; W. J. Harvey, Sub-tender for steam turbine $16,000; R. P. Richet & Co., electric $10,535, steam $18,822; and the tender for the electric and steam pumps for the duplicate system of pumps for the neighborhood of $18,000, but the above tenders indicate that the cost is likely to exceed that figure.

D. H. Balo has been awarded the contract for a modern two-story dwelling for T. A. Cairns to be erected on Niagara street.

MAY MAKE GUNS FOR MEXICO REPUBLIC

J. T. Shadforth to Visit Southern Country in Response to Request

(From Wednesday's Daily)
That the government of Mexico intended to manufacture a modern ordinance for its coast defense and army is the belief of an expert now in Victoria, J. T. Shadforth, organizer for the Northern Iron and Steel Corporation who is at the Grand hotel, has been asked by officials of the Mexican government to proceed to Mexico to consider with them regarding the establishment of a steel plant, primarily intended for the manufacture of ordinance. Mr. Shadforth is an expert in the manufacture of modern guns. He said yesterday that he had recently returned from Mexico, and was convinced that the only possible competitor British Columbia would have in the manufacture of guns, would be the United States. He said that the only possible competitor would be the United States, and that every inducement will be given to the manufacturer by way of concessions of a valuable nature. He is anxious to locate a plant in British Columbia.

RALPH SMITH TAKES COMOX RIFLE RANGES

Captain of H.M.S. Shearwater Finds Them Gone and He Wires to Ottawa

(From Wednesday's Daily)
A small but typical instance of the way in which the Liberal government and its henchmen look upon all public property as intended to be used solely for the benefit of the Liberal party, and the way in which they will do everything in their power to prevent it from being used for any other purpose, was shown yesterday when Ralph Smith, captain of the H.M.S. Shearwater, found the rifle ranges at Comox for many years, and also the Imperial and not Canadian property. However, it seems that Ralph Smith thought that they would like them at Nanaimo, and he ordered them to be moved down there. Quite recently the Shearwater went up to Comox for her musketry practice, and found that the ranges had disappeared. The captain of the Shearwater is interested in musketry, but not at all in politics, so he was very angry when he found that the ranges had been removed. He immediately telegraphed Ottawa, and the wires were kept hot for a while. The government agreed to replace the ranges, either with the original ones or new ones. So the Shearwater will after a while get her musketry practice, and as election time is so close, it is a fair bet that Nanaimo will keep her stolen ranges.

English Fruit Exhibit.

R. M. Palmer, deputy minister of agriculture, leaves Vancouver today with part of the fruit shipments for the English fruit exhibit at the Colwood. The exhibit has been hitched on to an express to ensure speed of transit. He goes first to Skamoose, where the exhibit will be put up, and then to the above legacies, the whole of the estate, which is valued at between $800,000 and $900,000, is divided into four equal parts, between Mrs. H. Croft, Mrs. H. Burroughs, Lady Musgrave, Mrs. A. Gough Calhoun, and Mrs. R. S. Chaplin, Mrs. Dunsmuir's daughters, who are the executors. The management of the estate will continue under the supervision of R. T. Elliott, K.C., and J. S. H. Matson.

A particularly attractive display of Wealthy and King apples, with a sample of late peaches from the orchard of Mr. Peat, at Colwood, is displayed in the window of Day and Borge, Fort street. The apples have quite as much color as any shown from other parts of the province, and prove how much the Colwood district is for choice fruit growing.

WIRELESS STATIONS ARE POSTPONED FOR SEASON

Col. Anderson Says No Work Will Be Done at Prince Rupert and Queen Charlotte This Year

On his return from the north Col. W. P. Anderson, chief engineer of the marine department, Ottawa, definitely announced that the wireless stations at Prince Rupert and the Queen Charlotte islands had been postponed until next year. The colonel expected the various aids to navigation including foghorns, lighthouses and gas buoys. On his return he will make various recommendations, and the matter will be presented to the light-house board, of which he is a member. A very thorough examination of Brown and Edve passages, forming approaches to Prince Rupert, was made. These passages will only be used when Prince Rupert has deep-draught vessels playing to the Orient. There is now a gas buoy outside Brown passage. All the approaches to Prince Rupert have been charted and the maps will be available for navigators early in the spring. The work will be gradually extended south.

The chief engineer added that the re-charting of the Queen Charlotte was also urgent owing to the inaccuracy of former and incomplete surveys and owing to the rapid development of the islands.

LIGHTKEEPERS CHANGED

William Thompson, of Ucluelet, Replaces Thomas Patterson at Cape Beale

Several changes were recently made in the personnel of the lightkeepers of the coast of Vancouver island following the resignation of Thomas Patterson, of Cape Beale, who has taken up his residence at Alberni. William Thompson, who was transferred from the station at Ucluelet, was given charge of the Cape Beale light. W. J. Daykin, the veteran lightkeeper of the coast of Vancouver island, who has been transferred to Sechart, has been transferred to Ucluelet to take the place of Thompson. The work is being done by Hays and Haywood, of Yates street.

More Permits for Dwellings

Building permits were yesterday issued by the building inspector to H. J. Sullivan for a dwelling to be erected on Bushby street, to cost $1,900, to J. H. McGregor for a dwelling to be erected on Pendergast street, to cost $1,900, and to George C. Mesher & Company, for two dwellings on Pendergast street, each to cost $1,900.

Re-Wiring the Buildings

The entire lighting system of the public buildings is being re-wired with heavier wires. Many new lights are being constantly added and it was found that the wires were becoming overloaded, so new wires are being put in. The work is being done by Hays and Haywood, of Yates street.

LUMBERMEN DISCUSS DEMANDS OF INDUSTRY

Large and Influential Deputation Have Conference With Ministers

(From Wednesday's Daily)
A large and influential deputation of men interested in the lumber industry called at the parliament buildings yesterday and had a prolonged interview with the Hon. Richard McBride and the Hon. P. T. Fulton, K.C. Those present included representatives of the Mountain Lumber Manufacturers' association, with headquarters at Nelson, as well as a number of coast men. The object of the deputation was to lay the views of those engaged in the lumber industry before the government on various points on which they hope fresh legislation will be introduced by the government at the forthcoming session of parliament. The subjects discussed included the question of royalty, tenure and fire protection. The holders of timber licenses are, it is understood, desirous that some certain method be provided whereby they can be assured that the uncut timber lands will not be forfeit to the government at the end of twenty years, contending that if some such arrangement is not provided there will be a great deal of slashing towards the end of the time. The result, they claim, will be that the timber will be culled and the finest thrown on the market for what it will fetch, and as a consequence the price will be demoralized, the government will lose large stumpage dues and all concerned will lose money. The amount of timber now held under license greatly exceeds the quantity likely to be required by the trade during the next twenty years. The government is giving the whole matter careful consideration, and the views presented yesterday were received with attention. No announcement of policy in this regard is to be expected for some time. Among those present were C. F. Lindmark, of Revelstoke, Mr. Lachmund, P. J. and W. A. Mackay and E. P. Bremner, of Vancouver.

RAILWAY COMPANY TO AMEND ITS DEFENSE

Latest Development in Litigation Between City and V. & S. Railway

(From Wednesday's Daily)
The litigation between the city of Victoria and the Victoria Terminal & Siding Railway, in which the city is seeking to terminate its agreement with the company on the ground of non-performance of contract, came up again in chambers yesterday before Chief Justice Hunter. The matter had been adjourned for a week to enable Fred Peters, K. C., to communicate with his principals. He applied yesterday for leave to amend his statement of defense, saying that Mr. MacNeill, of Vancouver, had so instructed him that the statement of defense as it stood had been drafted by Joseph Martin, K. C., who was no longer engaged in the case. Mr. Peters referred to the length of time that the suit had been pending as a reason why no objection should be made to allowing him a week for this purpose.

The suit is only taking the course of every-Victoria suit, remarked the Chief Justice. "It is only in the ordinary course of practice. It always takes them two years here to bring a case to trial."

For the city, W. J. Taylor, K. C., objected strongly to the delay of a week. There had been sufficient delay, and he did not see why the issue he wanted could not be ordered trial at once. The city wanted to know what legal effect on the agreement the omission to run the ferry continuously as agreed upon would have. Both the president and the vice-president of the road had admitted that the ferry had been discontinued.

His Lordship thought that the pleadings needed amending, and that a week was not too long in view of the fact that Vancouver had to be communicated with. "It was pointed out that the pleadings, and that if it should be in Vancouver, where he will reside over the assizes. The Chief Justice also remarked that the next month would be taken up with the court of appeal there, and that consequently the matter might be postponed indefinitely.
