Consistent. This wait between the note and the money is a very important thing. No—You see, twenty years ago we were simply trying to make the money as realistic as possible.

DIMOCK CREEK

There died at Dimock Creek, Co. Bonaventure, P. Que., on August 4th, 1915, Mary, second daughter of the late John and Elsie Campbell of Escuminac, P. Q., and beloved wife of Archibald M. Pidgeon, aged eighty years and two months. Although in failing health for some time she was only confined to bed for a few weeks. With great patience, Christian sweetness, resignation and unimpaired faculties of mind and memory she passed beyond. Those who waited on her felt how great a privilege it was to minister to one, whose death was so entirely bereft of fear. With confidence in the Saviour whom she had trusted through a long and strenuous life she went to be with Jesus.

She is survived by her aged husband and four children: Rev. Geo. C. Pidgeon, D.D., of Westminster Hall, Vancouver, B. C.; Rev. E. Leslie Pidgeon, of St. John's Presbyterian Church, Vancouver, B. C.; Mrs. Elsie P. Dimock of Vancouver, B. C. and H. John Pidgeon of Dimock Creek, P. Q. Besides her immediate family she is also survived by two brothers, James and Peter Campbell, the former resides in Cedar Springs, Ont.; the latter in Escuminac, P. Que., and one sister, Mrs. Joseph F. Doherty of Richibucto, N. B.

A faithful wife, loving mother, true friend, kind and sympathetic neighbour, she has gone, and we who knew her are richer in experience because of her life. Quiet and uneventful it apparently was, but how wide-spread and fruitful in its influence. In their Christian home were trained the children who have gone out to teach, train and lead heaven-ward many of their countrymen, and thus though dead, she yet speaketh.

THE NAKED DESPATCH RIDER

The indomitable courage and resourcefulness of Trooper Smyman, of the South African Imperial Light Horse, is described in a thrilling story published in the Johannesburg Sunday Post. Smyman had to carry three despatches. It was necessary to cross the aVal, and when he reached the river it was in flood. Removing all his clothing, he made it into a bundle and fastened to the back of his spare horse. Then he remounted his own horse and started to cross the river. The spare horse was swept away and drowned, but Smyman, on the other animal, reached the farther bank. He rode naked through a hot day and well into a cold night, when he found himself in touch with the rebels.

The whole of the next day, after hiding in the bush, he rode through country infested with the enemy, still naked, delivered the three of his despatches at nightfall. Then, nearly stopping to get a pair of trousers and a blanket, he continued his journey.

dispatches, after which he returned to the base.

"Very nice story," said a caller, "but where did he carry the despatches?"

PORT DANIEL CENTRE

Having this fairly begun in our locality, although many farmers have retarded beginning waiting for the expected rain, but no rain has appeared and work has started. Crops will not be an average owing to the late spring and later drought.

Results from our schools arrived and have had a rather discouraging effect, passing being secondary matters. Pupils, with few exceptions will have to do over their grades. More work will have to be in evidence in the future whether from teachers or pupils, the ensuing year will tell the tale.

The Presbyterian congregation here are looking forward to a service on Sunday from the Rev. Mr. E. J. Fattis, late of P. E. Island, now secretary for the Pioneer Camp Association of the Presbyterian church. As Mr. Fattis was formerly with us in student days, general satisfaction is felt as to the liability of his being open for a call. It is high time the church authorities realize the need of vigorous work to fill the vacancies on the Gaspe coast, otherwise we do not like to face the consequences.

The Anglican congregation here was supplied on Sunday last by Rev. Mr. Roy, late incumbent of Shigawake congregation. He was met with well-deserved welcome from all his old friends, which we are sure he appreciates in his declining years.

An Italian, blasting rock in the limestone mountains here for P. X. Deriche, met with a serious accident by the premature explosion of a dynamite charge. Dr. Beaulieu of St. Godfroi attended him and he is now out of danger but may lose the sight of an eye.

Rev. Father Cyr of this place deserves great credit for the efficient manner in which he has his new Presbytery completely lighted by electricity, practically all his own work.

M. E. Allison, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia here was called to Chandler, to relieve Gordon Kennedy of that branch, who was called home because of the fatal illness of his sister. He has the sympathy of Port Daniel friends in his bereavement.
