A writer from Fauvel last week sent in to the Graphic for publication an announcement and signed a gentleman's name to it. We thought it best to varify the correctness of the announcement and wrote the supposed writer, who answered that he had not sent such an announcement. The letters and all details have been sent forward and an effort will be made to trace the writer and if same can be done an action will be entered against the guilty party. This is a serious offence and is punishable by a term in prison.
