Scarlet fever and diphtheria are alarmingly prevalent and a number of the members of our city congregation have some of their little ones down with one or the other of these complaints.

Mrs. McIlroy, widow of the late James McIlroy, of this city, died last Friday evening after a lingering illness at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. T. Coyle, 603 Young street. She had attained to her Church, her deeds of charity were the ripe age of 76 years, and leaves a large family consisting of Messrs. D. A handsomely illustrated exhibition number has been issued by the Colonist, which should be preserved as a pleasant souvenir of this year's fair by those who are fortunate enough to have the opportunity of visiting the grounds, and will be useful to them in the meantime, as it contains the full official programme for the whole week. The number is bound in a colored lithograph cover showing a very good bird's eye view of the grounds, and this with the use of the colors throughout sives the number of the number colors throughout, gives the number a family in Regina. The Winnipeg Industrial exhibition is now in full force with the show of this year. Greater efforts have been made on this occasion than on any previous one in the history of the association, to make the exhibition attractive to the visitors who favor it with their presence, and to the exhibitors who have taken this opportunity to display the merits of their merchandise. The grounds are full of activity and hustle. Farmers with their cattle and produce; manufacturers with their implements and machinery and merchants with their wares, all seeking in a friendly spirit of emulation to distance their friends and neighbors in the quality, quantity and excellence generally of their exhibit. Only one thing seems necessary to ensure success. and such success as the association has never before experienced, and that is, fine weather. Both on account of the association itself, in whose success we all have an interest and a pride, as well as on account of the exhibitors who have gone to so much touble and expense to display their goods, and the visitors as well, who have set aside the week for the purpose of enjoying the attractions of the exhibition, it is devoutly hoped that the week will be a pleasant one, and that the clerk of the weather will hold off the rain storms until some more convenient season. - Ner'-Wester.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Bridget McCarthy, of Regina.

R. I. P.

Then why such grief? Of death such dread? Can we not understand? For us, not them, tears should be shed There in that better land!

Once again the grim reaper, Death has passed through our little congregation. On Friday, July 3rd, God called to her eternal reward Mrs. Bridget Mc-Carthy. How true indeed-the young may die, the old must die. Serenely happy in complying with God's holy will, whether it was to get better or go Home to meet those dear ones gone before fortified by the last Rites of our dear Mother, the Church, receiving great spiritual strength and comfort from the very kind attentions of Rev. Fathers Waugh and Woodcutter, and cheered comforted, loved, aye, one could almost say with a holy devotion by a most loving, else can we gain? Mrs. McCarthy had been ailing for many months past and her death was not unexpected. She was perfectly conscious to the last and seemed to recognize all around her. As she breathed her last there were at her bedside her daughter and sons with the wife of the other son, now unavoidably absent in Revelstoke, B. C. Mrs. Denis McCarthy came last fall to pass the holidays at her husband's home and as the end seemed daily nearer remained to the last, her bright and intelligent little daughter and son being a source of great comfort Bat Portage preaching a retreat to the to Mrs. McCarthy, and her almost last Faithful Companions of Jesus. action on earth was to embrace the little DOY who seemed to have completely captured his grand mother's heart. Mrs. Denis McCarthy was all a loving daughter could be and the care and attention she vied with the others in bestowing on that mother could not but inspire the onlooker with admiration. Mrs. Mc-Carthy was one of those fervent catholic mothers who found God's will in all things He seemed pleased to send her; thoroughly devoted to her family and done in a quiet unostentatious manuer. One might almost remark as a coincidence Mrs. McCarthy was, like our Divine Lord most particularly fond of children. No child could pass her nor visit her unnoticed, and now her remains are laid to rest beside her own daughter and two sweet little children whom God saw fit to call to Himself from this congregation, one a little over a year ago. How matern Mor the thought presents itself, will she who loved those little ones and mingled her tears with those of the bereaved mother recognize those little ones on the other shore. Oh! The great beyond!

> 'Life is a training school-no more ! What we call death is birth. They only live who go before.

We only want on earth."

the mystery it holds!

Mrs. McCarthy (nee O'Brien) came to Canada just prior to the terrible famine of 1845-48. After the two months voyage their humble home was located near Burlington, Ont ; but later on they moved westward to Eramosa township. Here the happy home was made after most ardnous toil, for wife as well as husband, and here too were laid to rest several of those dear children so fondly dear daughter was called away, and last year the news of another daughter's death in Ontario came to her. She had ten children; four alone survive, namely, Edward, John Julia, and Denis in British Columbia.

Her inneral was largely attended and her coffin was literally covered with flowers in many beautiful designs. Dr. Cotton was her medical attandant, and need it be said that all that the kind hearted and skilful doctor could do was done? God had seen her work was over. He called her Home-to her dear ones. I would say, rejoice and be glad; she whom you so tenderly loved and cared for is only parted from you for a while; she lived and died with Christian resignation, and by precept and example in both life and death, laid down for you and us all the way wnich, God grant, it may be our happy lot to follow. Take courage then, dear Christian friends, 'tis but for a time and she who loved you so faithfully in life will not forget you in death, and when our summons comes, God's message that must inevitably come to one and all, happy indeed shall we be if we can with such child-like faith, such unbounded confidence in God's mercy, rest as calmly as Mrs. Mc-Carthy did.

"Yet is not theirs the happier fate? Will we not understand? They only go before and wait There, in the better land?'

A WOMAN'S MESSAGE.

CONVEYING WORDS OF HOPE TO THE AFFLICTED.

Had Suffered From Heart Trouble and Liver Complaint, Which Wrecked Her Nervous System...Is Now as Well as

From the Carleton Place Herald.

Truth, it is said, sometimes is stranger than fiction, and in no way has this phrase been better exemplified than in e plain unvarnished statement of Mrs. W. H. Edwards, of Carleton Place, to a reporter of the Herald a few weeks ago Mrs. Edwards is well known in this town, having lived here for nearly with a holy devotion by a most loving, self-sacrificing daughter and affectionate sons, she breathed forth her soul to God Who gave it. A devout Catholic mother, a fervent Christian woman crowns a well spent and useful life by a happy death. What more can we ask? What else can we gain?

The story she related we will give in her own words. She said: "In July of 1894 I was taken ill with fever, caused by blood poisoning, and laid hovering between life and death for eight weeks. After the doctor succeeded in breaking up the fever, my heart began to trouble me, jaundice and liver complaint also set in, I could not sleep and my nerves were terribly unsleep and my nerves were terribly unsleep. sleep and my nerves were terribly un strung. During my illness, after the fever left me, I was attended by no less than three doctors, but their medicine seemed of no avail as I lay for months in a terribly emaciated condition and never expected to be around again. This state of affairs lasted till about Christmas, when a friend suggested to me to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. My husband procured a few boxes and I then began their use although with but little confidence in them. By the time I had used three boxes I began to feel a little better and began to get an appetite. This encouraged me to persevere in the use of the pills, and I still continued to im: prove. I began to sleep well, my heart ceased to bother me, and my nervous system, which had received such a fierce shock was again fully restered. trouble also disappeared, in fact, I became almost a new creature. I now feel as well as I ever did in my life. I have used in all eight boxes and still continue to take an occasional pill if I feel in any way depressed. Yes, she said, I am thankful to think that I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because I believe no other medicine could have effected such a cure in me and have so effectually built me up. I am perfectly willing that this simple statement of mine should be published, and hope some poor suffering creature may see it and be restored to health as I was."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make pure, and blood the processing the root of discountering the root of di rich blood, thus reaching the root of disease and driving it out of the system, curing when other medicines fail. Mos of the ills afflicting mankind are due to an impoverished condition of the blood, or weak or snattered nerves, and for all these Pink Fills are a specific which speedily restore the sufferer to health. These pills are never sold in any form except in the company's boxes, the wrapper round which bears the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." All others are counterfeits, and should be always refused. Get the genuine and be made well.
