

6. Biotechnology activities

The Centre is conducting biotechnological research within its principal areas of interest. Specific activities include

- * Disease resistance
- * Vaccines against parvo virus
- * Disease resistance of poultry
- * Bovine growth hormone (BGH), porcine growth hormone (PGH)
- * Fish biology and disease resistance

7. Desired alliance with other research institutes and firms

Research collaboration with other research institutes and industry for research, development and evaluation of new products within the core research fields of the Centre.