

ADDRESS IN REPLY TO THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE—Con.

Johnston, Alexander (Cape Breton)—Con.

1902—151. Quotes Mr. Smith's evidence in the South Ontario election case—152. This man was sitting behind Foster that very year as one of his faithful followers—153. Quotes Mr. Justice Osler and Mr. Justice Ferguson on Mr. Smith's evidence—154. Every one knows that for many years the history of the Conservative party was one of most flagrant corruption—155. Quotes the secretary of the Welland Conservative Association's letter to Hugh A. Rose in 1900—156. Dr. Weldon's statement that in 1904 the Conservative leaders in Halifax would not consent to run a clean and pure election—157. A statement most damaging in character and at variance with facts sent out in the last Fielding election by Conservatives—158. Nothing in the whole trial reflected upon Fielding's character—159. Recommends Foster to read articles in the Toronto 'News' and Halifax 'Herald'—160. Foster should remember the election in Kings, New Brunswick, in 1891—161.

Lake, R. S. (Qu'Appelle)—162.

Has called the attention of the government to the alarming report on the fuel famine in the Northwest—162. The necessity for more drastic measures is immediate and imperative—163. The people will want to know that there is some authority which realizes its responsibility—164. Suggests that the government should take possession of and distribute the coal supply at Fernie—165-6.

Laurier, Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfrid (Prime Minister)—33.

The tone of Borden's speech causes doubt as to chances of agreement during the session; 1906 has been a record year for Canada—33-34. 'I say with legitimate pride that we stand far ahead of the great American Republic'—35. The character of expenditure depends upon the people's ability to bear it—36. The new public works have developed trade and commerce; Mr. Hyman's resignation—37. London election investigation; the Tories can always use the devil's fire—38. We have to improve the law and make wrongdoing as difficult as possible—39. Haultain's partisan attitude towards the Autonomy Bill the reason he was not called to be premier; he did not interfere—40. He expressed no opinion to the Lieutenant-Governor; nothing proved derogatory to Preston's honour—41. It is unfair that he should be attacked in this way—42. The Budget speech will be delivered next week; hopes to prorogue in the early spring—43. No objection to an adjournment of the debate—89.

Lemieux, Hon. Rodolphe (Minister of Labour)—166.

intended to make an announcement regarding the Lethbridge coal strike—166.

ADDRESS IN REPLY TO THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE—Con.

Lemieux, Hon. R. (Minister of Labour)—Con.

A telegram from Mackenzie King states that miners and employers have practically reached an arrangement—167.

Maclean, W. F. (South York)—61.

The only way to deal with political crimes is to hold the benefitting parties responsible—61. The people of Canada hold the Minister of Public Works responsible for what was done in London—62. As long as existing laws are not enforced there will be election frauds and insurance frauds—63. The political change in the province of Ontario and its effect—64. No reference in the Address to the policy in regard to telephone and telegraph services of the country—65. The greatest monopoly in the west to-day is the telegraph monopoly—66. Advocates a prohibitive export duty on our electrical energy—67. The export of ores, exportation of raw material should be prohibited—68. London election crimes committed in the interests of the Autonomy Bills and the Liberal party—69.

Osler, E. B. (West Toronto)—121.

Quotes the Prime Minister on the London election; Col. Walker's election in 1874—121. The Grits played with devil's fire so that the smell of it was all over the place—122. People can hardly believe that these acts were committed without Hyman's knowledge and consent—123. Producing only 200 tons a day—165.

Pardee, F. F. (West Lambton)—9.

The continued prosperity of Canada a subject of congratulation—9. The increase in expenditure only commensurate to the increase in the country's business—10. So long as the expenditure is wise and prudent it will redound to the credit of the government of Canada—11. The tariff must regard the agricultural industries; desirability of clean election laws—12. Great care should be exercised by insurance companies in investing money—13. Every transaction should be investigated; Tribute to Mr. Hyman; Congratulations on Sir Wilfrid's 65th birthday; Moves the Address—14.

Speaker, His Honour the—153.

Reads the rule governing quotations; it is optional with members to table documents or not—153.

Sproule, T. S. (East Grey)—77.

To what act of the government is the present prosperity of the country attributable—77. 'We never had so large a percentage of useless immigrants'; omissions in the Address more important than its contents—78. Preston and the Arundel Printing Company and the North Atlantic Trading Company—79. The aim of parliament paralyzed by the government and their supporters—80. No hint as to the policy regarding insurance; The commission frittered away
