REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON TOBACCO.

That whereas the attention of this Conference has been called to the great and increasing evils arising from the use of tobacco, especially among the young people of the present day; and whereas, our young people naturally and properly look to their leaders in the Church for advice and example on this and other important questions, therefore be it

We earnestly recommend that every member in our Church be urged to be a total abstainer from its use; and, alarmed by the growing use of tobacco among the youth of our country, we earnestly recommend that those in our Sabbath-schools, in the educational institutions of our Church, and in the ministry, shall be total abstainers; and we further recommend that our people use all their influence to have the teachers in our public schools and higher institutions set the example of abstention from its use.
