She Found Liberty in the Sword

Her Name Was Joan of Arc

A CROSS the dark horizon of medieval France there flashed the figure of the greatest woman who ever lived.

From the home of a peasant she rose by her own wondrous works until she stood beside kings.

She loved peace, yet she was the greatest warrior of her age.

In the shadow of oppression she found the light of liberty in the Sword of Battle.

Joan is dead—killed by the people she loved—but her spirit lives forever.

Sport Letter From New York

New York, Nov. 7.—(Correspondence) Baseball magnates, players and followers of the game in general, are almost unanimous in expression of the opinion that the coming winter months will witness important changes in the methods and arrangements governing the professional end of the national sport. It appears certain that out of the mass of suggested and proposed changes, radical developments will occur relative to the conduct of the business end of the game during the duration of the war at least.

Both major and minor league magnates will discuss and consider numerous suggestions looking toward improvement of conditions existing at the present time during the coming annual meetings. While no hasty action will be taken it is considered likely that several innovations both in combination and conduct of the sport will be adopted before the season of 1918 is reached. Owing to the difference of opinion on these points among the various club owners, it is difficult to name the proposals which may eventually be enacted in baseball law, but there has been no dearth of these both from official and unofficial sources.

Among the plans advanced are the following: Shorter season and schedule in the major leagues, coupled with a suggestion to start the World Series several weeks earlier than has been the case in recent years; curtailing the number of players now permitted to each club and a reduction of the present salaries; the shifting of one or more club franchises to new and more profitable fields of patronage; the elimination of long and expensive southern training trips; rearrangement of the large annual transportation bills; readjustment or combination of minor league circuits in order to provide more attractive and lucrative play. It is exceedingly doubtful if all these

It is expected that the big league clubs will draw upon the minors for war time substitutes. If this is done both the quality and quantity of play may decrease on certain circuits. Viewed from any angle the position of the baseball magnate cannot be compared to the proverbial bed of roses at this time. The proposal to stage a football game between eleven of the universities of Chicago and Michigan for the benefit of the middle western gridiron classics. These two institutions first met in football in 1892 and since that date have played fourteen games, of which Michigan has won nine and Chicago five. The Wolverines led in points with a total of 189 to Chicago's 102. Michigan has held the Maroon eleven scoreless four times while Chicago shut out the Ann Arbor University but once and this was in the famous final games between these universities played in 1902 when Chicago forced Michigan to make a safety; the only score of the contest. Michigan's greatest string of victories was won between 1901 and 1904 when the Yost Warriors took four games in a row by scores of 22 to 0; 21 to 0; 28 to 0 and 22 to 12. The Swedish Amateur Athletic Association has officially accepted John

Famous Swimmer Killed. New York, Nov. 7.—Another famous Australian athlete has made the great sacrifice for, according to late reports from the European front, Cecil Healy was killed in a recent charge. He was an adjutant and had achieved an excellent record for bravery and resourcefulness under stress of severe fighting. Healy was one of the best of the Australian middle distance swimmers, and at the time of his death held several Antipodean records at distances ranging from 150 to 400 yards. At one time he possessed the world's record for 150 yards in open water, but his time was bettered by D. P. Kahanamoku, the Hawaiian expert, recently.

Fleming in Class B. Montreal, Nov. 10.—Frankie Fleming, Canadian featherweight champion, has been placed in class-B by the examining board which examined him in connection with the military service act. Fleming is apparently fit, except that his
