Noronto, Dec. 17—One would think, of seniors battling in an exhibition me at the Arena tonight that the me was the fingal for the J. Ross Robtson cup. The, Irish won 12 to 1. St. ischaels were making their fifth appearable. The league has even gong further and legalized off-side loafing inside of the lines, dividing the rink into three sections. The Vancouver manager thinks that the off-side rule, if adoption of would greatly improve the standard of bolayed in the east. The coast teams will insist that the rule will be in vogue during half of the games that are to be played in the east next year by the coast hockey champions.

The London correspondent of the New York Sun was permitted to attend a scance of Sir Alfred Turner's "wonderful medium" Cecil Husk, at Peckham of Dec. 14. The materialization of psych phenomena by Husk, who is seventy years old and entirely blind, has caused Sir Alfred Turner, a British soldier adamant.

A circle of ten persons, including Sir Alfred and Lady Duff Gordon, one of the passengers saved from the Titanic, sat in a darkened room in Husk's house and clasped hands around a table. Four of the circle were skeptics. The Sun correspondent was forced to give his word of honor that he would not unloose his hand or touch anything, the admonition being accompanied by the explanation that such action would make the spirits angry.

Morgan the buccaneer, who seems to be a favorite visitor to the terrestrict planet at spiritualistic seances, was the next on the list. He stood majesticall for a minute. As he faded away he "God bless you," was as fervent as the of Cardinal Newman, but it was uttered in a volcanic voice.

When everything was in readiness lights were seen passing around the table. Then a voice was heard. Sir Alfred Turner said it was that of Grimaldi, the famous clown, around whose life Leoncavallo is said to have composed "Pagliacci." Grimaldi remained throughout the seance as interpreter. The seance lasted three hours.

The voice announced that the spirit of Cardinal Newman was about to appear. A phosphorescent cross was visible within the circle. A deep voice was heard exclaiming "God Bless you!" Then came a Latin benediction, intoned in an accent far removed from the scholarly Oxford Latin used by Cardinal Newman. The classic tongue as pronounced by the spirit, bore a remarkable resemblance to the coster dialect of Whitechapel, especially in the management of the aspirants. The supposed acolyte then sang. It was thought that he was singing a Latin or Greek hymn.

Sir Alfred Turner, who knows both these languages, confessed that he could not make out a word. The members of the circle who knew something of the classics were divided in opinion as to what language was used. A friend of the medium volunteered the information that it was Latin. Even after this pronouncement no one could catch the drift of the words.
