F. S. THOMAS, Dufferin Block, Main St., N. E. BOER LEADERS ARE INCITING NATIVES. Speeches Made Which Inflamm the Zulu Mind Against the British.

CAPE TOWN, July 23.—The Cape Times, in an article entitled "Compulsives," refers to a speech delivered by Mr. Beyers of Potchefstroom, in which he said that the British were "trying to exterminate the Kaffir." The paper remarks: "If the impression which these utterances are intended to convey become general among the natives throughout South Africa, and if the resentment and exasperation they are calculated to engender continue to be recklessly fanned by the Boer leaders in this country and the radical leaders in Great Britain, we shall have a graver reckoning than Natal is now writing on the state of history, terrible and deplorable as this is. The native community throughout South Africa are watching the events in Natal with the keenest interest, and their sympathy naturally goes out to their fellow-countrymen in trouble. If this sympathy is transformed into passionate resentment against the government by reckless misrepresentations and misstatements, the ultimate consequences will certainly be disastrous." The Cape Times says that it is already receiving anonymous communications from natives epiched in a half-hysterical, half-menacing tone. Frank G. Cleveland of Chicago, who is spending his holidays in touring the maritime provinces and Maine, was in the city yesterday. Rev. G. M. Campbell will speak at the Seaman's Mission at 8.30 Sunday evening.

HAPPY DAYS IN ST. PETERSBURG. Pleasant Little Incidents in These Days of Peace. How Guests at Dinner Cheerfully Give Tips to Students—Some Men Rise High in This World.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 23.—Most of the St. Petersburg correspondents have been so much absorbed by the Duma and the revolt of the peasants that they have neglected the details characterizing the daily life in the capital. The moral atmosphere that surrounds the city is, however, an essential element in the situation. For this reason a story told by the well known war correspondent, Mr. Raymond Recouly, is of special interest. He was calling the other day at a friend's house, where he met Don Jaime de Bourbon, who has lunched that very morning at Peterhof, alone with the Tsar, the Tsarina, and their children, in the pretty little house by the sea, surrounded by rich gardens, an oasis of complete calm, in fact of almost tragic silence, in the neighborhood of the great city now swayed by warring passions. After Don Jaime's departure the conversation turned on the humiliating situation of Russia, and against the new Liberal aristocrats, who, however, were represented in this very company by men who derided the anarchy due to the autocracy. Mr. Recouly listened to the table, ordered the waiter to hand over, and recalled a fact that had recently come under his observation attending the steady advance of the port. Thus an acquaintance of his was lurching when suddenly there stood a butler with the dining-room, and, putting their revolvers in the faces of the two people at the table, ordered them to hand over their money. "You must understand," said one, "that this is a political robbery."

WENT TO FREDERICTON TO JOIN THE CIRCUS. The smiling features of little Herbert Bree, St. John's pet, looked radiant in the more stately visage of Master Lane, whose signboard and shoe-shine factory adorns the barber shop under Nelson's corner, King street. The story is one of the lure, not of the wild, but of the tame, and the lure of the circus. Master Lane always did have a hankering for the sawdust amphitheatre and its daring reinmen, so he decided yesterday to follow his lustrous calling and join the ranks of ten men. So he departed for Fredericton, where it is supposed he will find his fate in with the bare-breasted troupe who holt the canvas and unload the animals for the hour of the show. A writing his ebullient contentment had not been seen in its accustomed place. At any rate Lane openly said he was going to the capital to join "de show."

ENGLISH POLITICIANS HERE. QUEBEC, July 23.—Hon. Ed. Blake, Hon. J. Langford and C. R. Devlin, M. The death is announced of Miss Winifred Edwards, which took place early this morning at the residence of John E. Edwards, her father, Princess street. The deceased was but eighteen years of age and her demise will be regretted by a host of friends.

THE CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION will meet next month in Toronto. At that meeting the matter of forming a mutual insurance association for the benefit of Canadian manufacturers will come up for further discussion. O'Donovan at the Church of Assumption at 9 o'clock and interment was in Sand Cove Cemetery. The remains of Mrs. Martha Sloan will be interred in Greenwood Cemetery this afternoon. The funeral will take place from the residence of her son Hugh Sloan, 24 Middle street, West End, and the Rev. H. D. Marr will conduct the service. "To or not to be" is the question concerning the C. M. B. A. outing this year. The decision will be arrived at next Tuesday evening at the branch meeting.

A BANNER DAY AT BLUE ROCK. Yesterday Was by Far Best Day This Year. Large Number of Young People Taking Interest in This Healthful Sport—Old Bathers Leaving.

Yesterday was a banner day at Blue Rock. The water was excellent for bathing and a large number of men and women of all ages took advantage of this opportunity to participate in that most healthful and enjoyable exercise. For a large part of the afternoon the bathing grounds were alive with people. Above the surface of the water could be seen gray heads, bald heads, and heads on long silken tresses had been coiled with care. Among the young ladies patronizing the bathing house this year are a number who will become expert swimmers before the season closes. They go into the sport recklessly and are only prevented by modesty from attempting the high dive participated in by the men. The large rocks along the beach for some distance were covered during the whole afternoon with women and children who seemed to derive much pleasure from watching the bathing. The spectators' seats over the bathing house were also filled. One by one the lookers-on, without the least temptation to get into the water, would leave their friends and rush for a bathing suit. Beattie, proprietor of the Blue Rock bathing house, states that very few of his old time customers have swum up this year. His business, he claims, is being reduced from year to year owing to the fact that so many people are going out of town in the summer, where they do their bathing in fresh water.

LAWN BOWLERS INVADE CANADA. St. John Man Travels Across the Ocean With a Hearty Group of Rather Elderly Sports.

W. I. Robson of the buying staff of Manchester, Robertson, Allison, Ltd., has mysteriously disappeared, making the trip across on the Virginia. He purchased foreign novelties for the firm, and in his luggage were found throughout Europe. Three others of the M. R. A. buying staff are at present in the Old Country. Mr. Robson says that on the way across he travelled with the party of British bowlers who are to play a series of games with Ontario associations next month. These men, accompanied by their wives, are lawn bowlers, a sport not familiarly known in Eastern Canada, but immensely popular in upper provinces and across the ocean, as well as in the United States. After seeing the sights of the country, they will start in to bowl. They expect to carry back untold laurels, for they are expert players, and pick of England, Scotland and Ireland, though the age average is very high. For instance, the Englishmen average 37 years and over; the Scots, 53, and the Irish about 47. One of the party, an Englishman, is over 80, but a great bowler.

SUDDEN DISAPPEARANCE OF ONTARIO TEACHER. Miss Robertson of Goderich Had Been on Visit to New Glasgow. QUEBEC, July 23.—Miss Robertson, a school teacher from Goderich, Ont., has mysteriously disappeared. She had been on a visit to New Glasgow, N. S., and was on her way home. She was met in Quebec by her brother and they put up at the Hotel Victoria. Yesterday when he went to call his sister she was gone and her purse and jacket she had taken also, though she left her hat, containing her railway ticket home.

Mr. Fotheringham will conduct the services and interment will be in Fernhill Cemetery. The funeral of Mrs. Katherine J. The funeral will take place from the residence of her son Hugh Sloan, 24 Middle street, West End, and the Rev. H. D. Marr will conduct the service.

NARROW ESCAPE OF APOHAQUI WOMEN. Timely Assistance of Neighbors Alone Prevented Death. Mrs. Charles M. Parlee and Daughter Nearly Drowned in Kennebecasis River.

(Special to the Star.) APOHAQUI, July 23.—An accident occurred here today in which Mrs. Charles M. Parlee and her daughter, Ada, had a narrow escape from drowning. A number of girls were in bathing, when Ada, in some manner got beyond her depth. Her companions ran for help and Mrs. Parlee who arrived on the scene rushed into the water after her daughter. She also got beyond her depth, but for the timely arrival of Harley Jones, S. V. Ward, and Brunswick, Ordway, both were saved. They were both very near when rescued, and great difficulty was experienced in bringing them back to consciousness. They were attended by Dr. Burnett of Sussex, and are now considered out of danger.

THE GRATITUDE OF A PRINCESS. Men Who Assisted Princess Louise are Allowed to Suffer for Their Share in Her Escape.

BERLIN, July 23.—The sensational flight of Princess Louise of Coburg from the asylum at Brno, where she was imprisoned for five years by her husband, Prince Philip of Coburg, is recalled by a sordid aspect of the matter, otherwise a romantic escape. Her lover, Mattachich, enlisted the help of a clerk in the local bank, named Frederick Thormann, and a local innkeeper, named John Weitzer, both of whom rendered valuable aid in furthering the flight of the princess. Mattachich promised both of them substantial rewards, and Princess Louise, after her escape, renewed these promises in person. When their complicity in the affair became known both suffered. Thormann lost a good post, thereby sacrificing his prospects for a pension, while Weitzer lost his best customers and otherwise sustained damage. Two years have elapsed. As the princess shows no sign of redeeming her promises, Thormann and Weitzer have decided to sue her. Thormann assesses the compensation due him at $10,000, and Weitzer fixes his claim at $9,000. The valet, William Glass, who gave publicity to the scandal resulting in the committal of the Princess von Wrede to a sanatorium as a kleptomaniac, has also been sentenced to a month's imprisonment, to be followed by two years' police supervision, for attempted blackmail.

LORD ALYMER WILL INSPECT 62nd REGIMENT. Inspection Takes Place at 2.30 This Afternoon on Barrack Square—Annual Church Parade.

At 2.30 o'clock this afternoon Lord Albymer, Governor-General, will inspect the 62nd Regiment, Barrack Square by General Lord Alymer. The regiment has had a very successful season's drill and is about to be sent to the front. A majority of the soldiers enjoy the Saturday half-holiday and weather conditions good. The Fusiliers should make a grand showing. The usual manoeuvres will be gone through both in company and regimental drill, and doubtless a large crowd of spectators will witness it. Tomorrow afternoon the annual church parade of the Fusiliers will take place. The regiment headed by the two bands will leave the drill shed at 2.30 o'clock and march to Trinity church via Broad, Charlotte and Germain streets. It is expected that General Lord Alymer will view the parade from King street. The sermon will be preached by the regimental chaplain, Rev. Canon Richardson.

THIS EVENING. Band at roller rink afternoon and evening. Special meeting of Golden Rule lodge, I. O. O. F. Company A, Loyal Crusaders, pay a visit to St. George's district, No. 333, St. of T. in Temperance hall, Market building. The death occurred in this city yesterday of David McLaren, Charlotte street. Deceased was 55 years of age, and was never married. He leaves behind his mother, four sisters and three brothers. The funeral will be held on Monday. Mr. Ozawa, the Japanese gentleman who has been attending the school of Missions this week, will deliver an address in the Exmouth street Sunday school tomorrow afternoon at the close of the session.

SENT FALSE REPORT TO HER HUSBAND; THEN DISAPPEARED. Mrs. Frank McDermott, of St. David Street, With Her Infant, Has Been Missing Since Yesterday Noon—Husband Frantic With Grief—Received Word at Mill That Little Child Had Been Run Over and Badly Hurt—Police Aiding in the Search.

The mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Frank McDermott, of St. David's street, and her infant is causing considerable uneasiness to her husband and friends. Yesterday morning early Mr. McDermott, after getting his breakfast, took his dinner can and left his wife and four children at home and in the usual way went to his work in the Indian-town mill. About 11 o'clock one of members of the mill office staff informed him that his wife had telephoned for him to come immediately home as one of the children had been run over by a team and had been seriously injured. Needless to say Mr. McDermott left his work and hastened home and was happy to find that there was no truth in the message that one of the children had been injured. The three children were alone in the house and playing about as usual, but the mother and infant were gone, and the father's joy was soon turned to grief as he could not find where his wife and baby were. Then the telephone message from her that she was not truth mystified him, and he quickly started a search for her. The only tidings he could get was that she was seen walking up Brussels street with the baby in her arms, and he traced her to Moore's drug store, where he learned that she had purchased some medicine, but since then he has lost all trace of her. Many times he has asked for tidings, but no person can be found by him who appears to know anything regarding her whereabouts. He searched all yesterday afternoon, last night and this morning, but can learn nothing of her whereabouts since she left the drug store with her baby yesterday morning. Mr. McDermott says that his wife has not been well lately and has been taking considerable medicine. This fact, with her sending the telephone message to him yesterday morning, and her disappearance he thinks is the probable cause of her being in a temporarily unsettled mind. The police have been communicated with on the matter and the grief-stricken husband will be given every assistance in an endeavor to locate his wife and child. It is thought that she has wandered away somewhere but it is not thought that she has committed suicide. An inquiry at Moore's drug store was made about 11.30 o'clock this morning and the clerk was brief in his remarks that he knew nothing about the affair whatever.

MURDER AND SUICIDE AT BEAR RIVER, N. S. Avar Morine Killed His Wife With a Hatchet, Cut His Own Throat and Jumped into the River.

(Special to the Star.) DIOBY, N. S., July 23.—Avar Morine, living on the flat east side Bear River, about five this morning killed his wife with a hatchet, cut his own throat and jumped into the river in front of his house. Morine was a former sailor on the Bear River, was placed on the sick mariners' list last August and discharged presumably as well lately. A large family of children are left to mourn both parents and to the mercy of neighbors. One of the children sleeping with the mother witnessed the murder. A doctor was quickly called, but Mrs. Morine expired soon after his arrival. Mr. Morine seemed despondent lately. A coroner's inquest will be held.

NO FUN FOR PRINCE, HE TURNS TO SUICIDE. Son of Exiled King Tries to Poison Himself Because He Has No Amusement.

PARIS, July 23.—From sheer boredom and lack of facilities for amusement, Prince Ounilo, son of the exiled ex-king of Dahomey, attempted to commit suicide at Algiers yesterday by drinking a decoction of match heads. He shares his father's exile, and as the French Government has kept the family short of funds, the young Prince moped all day for want of something to do. He got several hundred matches yesterday, cut the phosphorus heads off and boiled them down. Then he swallowed the decoction, but the pain was so great that he could not bear it in silence. His cries brought help just in time to save his life, and he is now out of living without amusement. His father, ex-king Behanzin, suffers from Bright's disease, and the orders declare that the Algerian climate does not suit him. It is probable that the Minister of the Colonies will consider whether the King and his son cannot be permitted to return to their native country.
