CHATHAM, Aug. 21.-Another old resident passed to her eternal rest this morning in the person of Mrs. Johnson, relict of the late Hon. John M. Johnson. Deceased was a daughter of the late A. D. Sheriff, sr., who did business here in the forties; she was sister to the late High Sheriff and Adam D. Sheriff, formerly of the cus-toms, and is survived by three sisters and five sons. Mrs. Johnson was 76 years old .. She died at the residence of her son Edward. Mr. Pitts of Halifax died at the re sidence of Thos. H. Fountain, where he had lived for some years. He was well advanced in years, being about 83, and was a quiet, unassuming old gentleman. His remains were removed to Halifax for interment.

Burton Flett, a young man who resided for some years in this town, died at the residence of his father—the marine hospital at Douglastown—on Sunday, and was buried at Nelson on Tuesday. He was a bright boy and was a general favorite. Consumption was the cause of his death.

Thomas Keating, a prosperous dairy farmer, died suddenly at his residence, near Chatham, on Friday last. He was in his sixty-second year, a good citizen and highly esteemed in the community in which he lived all his life. He leaves a widow and a family of nine, all of whom are grown up and some married. His funeral took place on Sunday afternoon and was Picnics and excursions are still the order of the day and night. Beside the usual daily excursion on the Alexandra, the St. George conveyed a large Burnt Church, and the Rustler another of St. Mary's Sunday school children to Beanban's Island yesterday, whilst today St. John's Sunday school are enjoying the day by a driving party to Napan, and St. Andrew's school by the Rustler to Beanban's Island. Quite an excitement was created at the wharf before the Rustler left, by the approach of the bark Sunheim, in tow of the steamer St. Nicholas. The pilot appeared to have miscalculated the force of the tide, and the fact that the bark was heavily laden with salt, and a catastrophe was averted only by the prompt action of Pilot Asa Walls, who happened to be on the wharf at the opportune moment, and caught a line from the bark, with which he eventually "snub-bed" the craft before she actually rammed the crowded steamer. The force with which she approached the excursion boat was so great that a mooring post on the wharf was car ried away in an ineffectual attempt to stop her, and the crisis was of such an appalling character that some lady passengers on the Rustler fainted during the impending danger. Fortunately ro one was hurt. Hon. Mr. Tweedle arrived home this morning. William Keany is now visiting Chatham after an absence of more than forty years. Mr. Keany, who is accompanied by his wife, sees many changes in his native town, and is spending his time in re-visiting the scenes of his boyhood. Captain Hugh Cameron of Black River was in town today; the veteran is the proud possesser of a long-service decoration.

Lt. Governor Snowball was somewhat indisposed for a day or two lately, but is reported as improving Mrs. Snowball has been confined to the house for some time, her enforced absence from the many social functions being much regretted.

Major Cunliffe of the Imperial service and Mrs. Cunliffe are guests at the Adams House. The major is here in search of sport and will probably remain until the moose season opens. HAMPSTEAD, Queens Co., Aug. 18.

SACKVILLE, N. B., Aug. 34.- Miss Elizabeth Allard Aldrich of Lincoln. Mass., has been engaged by Dr. Borden as second teacher in the Mount Allison art department, in place of Miss Bessie McLeod, who intends spending the year studying in New York. Miss Aldrich has had considerable experience as a teacher, while her work as an artist is considered especially fine. She began her studies in art with private teachers at Portland, Me., and then spent three years at Cooper Union, N. Y., where she received three first grade certificates and a diploma. Since graduation she has studied in Boston under Prof. Bartlett, president of the Normal Art School. For two years she has held the position of supervisor of drawing in the public schools of Spencer, Mass. where she had under her instruction about forty teachers, and over a thou-sand pupils. At the close of the second year an exhibition was given of the school work, which was considered to be the finest ever held in Spencer. Miss Aldrich has worked for the Ar Library Publishing Co. of Boston for four years, coloring and designing. She has taught a great deal privately and will no doubt prove a worthy succes sor to the excellent teachers who have preceded her at Mount Allison The prospects for a successful year in the art department this year are exceptionally bright, and the attendance is expected to be very large. The presentation was accompanied by ver-bal expression of the kindly feelings of the people of Maugerville towards Rev. Mr. Colston and his esteemed wife, and of the general regret which is felt over his early departure to his new field of labor at Welsford, after six years faithful and successful labors at Maugerville.

CAPE BRETON. SYDNEY, Cape Breton, Aug. 22.-The J. W. Devere Stevens case has been adjusted, Mr. Stevens effecting ment with Mrs. McClaverty. John Townsend, keeper of the storm signal station at Louisburg, lost his life in an accident off Louisburg yesterday. Townsend, who was substituting in a pilot boat for John Tutty and pilots William Townsend, Lewis Tutty and Thomas Wilcox, went out to meet the steamer Egda that was coming in from Boston. They rowed to board the steamer on the port side, but were ordered by the mate to board on the starboard side. They then attempted to cross the bow, but miscalculated the distance and the speed, with the result that the steamer plowed through the boat amidship, sinking it immediately. The men were all thrown into the water, and Townsend, who was sitting in the middle of the boat, was struck by the bow of the steamer and instantly killed. The others were

LAURIER IN PARIS.

Will Put France on Same Plane as

Telegram's special cable says: London Aug. 23.—The Times publishes a special despatch from Paris, which says that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was lunched at St. Sulphice yesterday. He was re-ceived by Archbishop Bruchesi of Montreal, who is in France at present. The correspondent explains that the interest aroused in the Canadian premier's second visit to the country is due partly to the pride the French people possess in the thought that he is the most distinguished French-Canadian living, and partly (this the Times representative calls an absurd impression) because that, although a British subject, his ambitions are so they look upon him as as great a danger to British imperialism as Cecil Rhodes was in one moment of his

The Frenchmen recognize Sir Wilfrid's patriotism as chiefly Canadian. His visit is not only for the purpose of visiting his ancestors' home, but to acilitate negotiations for better com mercial relations.

LIVING IN THE TRANSVAAL.

(Boston Herald.) Some of the young Englishmen who umped at the chance of pbtaining a position in the civil service of the new Transvaal colony are now finding it extremely difficult to make both nds meet. According to all accounts the salaries paid are miserably inadequate, in comparison with the great cost of living in these colonies. According to a dispatch from Pretoria, a civil officer who intends to keep house must expect to pay as high as $1,500 a year for the rent of a house equal to ch a man of moderate means would occupy in England. A servant's wages would run all the way from $35 to $50 a month, according to ability, while even the Kaffir boys to work round the house and the stable have a ridiculous idea of their wage value since peace was declared. Railway travel must be figured as costing close to six cents a mile, newspapers cost six cents, while meat from the cold storage depots is so dear that it is practically a luxury. The civil servant, therefore, who draws a salary of from $2,000 to $2,500 a year and has a family to support will find the great-est difficulty in making ends meet. In fact, one British officer already at Pretoria said in an interview most Englishmen working for the gov-"would find the Transvaal impossible unless they possessed private means."

HAD DONE HIS DUTY.

There was a boy living in a village whose uncle died. The next day a man driving along the road was surprised to find the boy working in the field. Thinking this did not show proper respect to the dead uncle, he called the lad to him and said: 'Johnny, didn't you know your uncle was dead?' "Johnny slowly approached and drawled out:

tariff The London Times correspondent also says that a result of the visit will be the establishment of an ocean service, with a subsidy of 800,000 francs from both countries. This scheme is said to be well advanced towards realization, and is profoundly interesting to Parisian industrial and finanofal circles. Yet to mack the scheme some French journals accuse Sir Wilfrid Laurier of making his life work the slow, relentless destruction French influence in Canada. The truth of the matter is, the correspondent says, that some French journals have never forgiven Canada's action in giving assistance to Great Britain in her war in South Africa.

As an instance of President Hadley's aptness in meeting every situation or replying to every pertinent or impertinent question, the following story is told:

At a reception given for him by an old friend some 500 miles from New Haven, one individual with a better memory than tact asked him what he thought of the recent base ball game. As Yale had met with a disastrous defeat, the subject might be called unpleasant. Without hesitation President Hadley said:

WHEN STARS ARE IN THE QUIET CLEARED OF CRIME

By Bulwer Lytton. This song, which has been set to beautiful music, was written by the author of a famous series of novels and of the plays of "Richelieu" and "The Lady of Lyons." His son, "Owen Meredith," wrote "Lucile."

When stars are in the quiet skies,
Then most I pine for thee;
Bend on me then thy tender eyes,
As stars look on the sea! For thoughts, like waves that glide night, Are stillest when they shine; Mine earthly love lies hushed in light Beneath the heaven of thine.

angels keen

There is an hour when angels keep
Familiar watch o'er men,
When coarser souls are wrapped in sleep—
Sweet spirit, meet me then!
There is an hour when holy dreams
Through slumber fairest glide;
And in that mystic hour it seems
Thou shouldst be by my side. My thoughts of thee too sacred are For daylight's common beam;
I can but know thee as my star
My angel and my dream;
When stars are in the quiet skies;
Then most I pine for thee;
Bend on me then thy tender eyes,
As stars look on the sea!

On account of his good conduct during his imprisonment, M. Dauval was allowed to marry, and his wife and three children returned to France with him. During the voyage home on the liner Australien the passengers got up a subscription in favor of the victim of a cruel injustice, and the chemists of Paris have decided to install him in a pharmacy in the centre of the capital. When M. Dauval left the steamer at Marseilles he was hailed by a large crowd with outcries of "Long live the innocent convict!" and at his hotel numerous delegations presented him with bouquets.
