$14,000 DAMAGE IN UPPER PORTION OF FARRELL BUILDING

BLAZE IN CANTERBURY ST. DID MUCH DAMAGE BEFORE IT WAS FINALLY CONTROLLED—BELIEVE IT STARTED FROM A STOVE.

Damage to the extent of about twelve or fourteen thousand dollars was caused by a bad fire in the building owned by Michael Farrell on the corner of Canterbury and Church streets Saturday afternoon.

The building is a three-story brick structure and was occupied on the upper floor by the Metropolitan Shirt Waist Company, Max Ross proprietor. The second floor is occupied by the S. J. McGowan Mfg. Co. Ltd., manufacturers of loose leaf systems, printers, binders and publishers.

These establishments have an entrance on Church street.

On the ground floor the owner of the building has a tailor shop, and there are also the premises of Roger Hunter Ltd., printers, and Thomas P. Kane, plumber.

It was about three o'clock when the fire was discovered issuing from the Metropolitan Shirt Waist Company's floor; the fire must have had a good start, for when it was discovered the flames were pouring from the windows with a dense smoke. An alarm was sent in from No. 32 when the department arrived they had a hard time to contend with.

The firemen were greatly hindered by the dense smoke, but after about an hour's work they had the fire under control.

Funeral One of Largest and Most Impressive of Recent Years—Many Floral Tributes of Esteem.

The funeral of the late Senator John V. Ellis was held last Saturday afternoon from Trinity church at half past two and after a private service at the late residence for the immediate family. At the residence the funeral service was conducted by Ven. Archdeacon Raymond assisted by Rev. G. F. Scovill, rector of St. Jude's church, and Rev. Percy Colthurst, curate of Trinity.

At the church the deep respect and esteem in which the late Senator Ellis was held was well evinced by the presence of every walk of life gathered to pay a last tribute. The different fraternal societies and societies with which the deceased was connected were represented, but the majority of the congregation was made up of friends and those who had admired the work and character of the late Senator. Many beautiful wreaths from private citizens and from the societies of which the deceased was a valued member, showed the deep respect of all.

Among the out of town people who were present were Chancellor Jones, of the Senate of the University of New Brunswick; L. B. Archibald, of Truro, who represented the Masonic fraternity of that town; E. G. Colthurst, of Moncton; James S. Kline, of Halifax, a nephew of the deceased; George N. Babbitt, Provincial Secretary, Fredericton; George W. Babbitt, of St. Andrews, and A. H. Lindsay, of Moncton, who was formerly connected with the Globe. Among the others present were Senators Daniel, Senator Gilmour and Senator Domville; Hon. John B. Wilson, representing the Provincial Government; His Worship Mayor Frynk and the committee of the Pioneer Lodge of Oddfellows, of which the late Senator Ellis was the last surviving charter member; F. J. G. Knowlton, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of New Brunswick, represented the Masonic Order.

Although the different societies with which the deceased was connected did not attend in a body, a large representation from each were present to pay a last tribute to their friend and brother.

Impressive indeed was the service in the church conducted by Rev. Percy Colthurst, assisted by Ven. Archdeacon Raymond and Rev. G. F. Scovill. The large auditorium was filled and deep and solemn was the sense of loss as the solemn words of the funeral service were uttered. The choir was present and sang "I Lift Up Mine Eyes Unto the Hills," and later "Peace Perfect Peace."

A touching feature of the service was the fact that the sons and near relatives of the deceased acted as pallbearers. They were Frank B. Ellis, William L. Ellis, M. D., George D. Ellis and Joseph Ellis, and James S. Kline of Halifax, a nephew, and Edward R. Taylor, a son-in-law.

In the funeral cortege the mourners were followed by the employees of the Globe Publishing Co., and among the other bodies that walked were the Council of the Natural History Society, the Board of Management of the S.P.C.A., and the representatives of the Home for Incubables. The procession wound its way up Charlotte street to Union and down Union as far as the high school building where the interment was taking place. Many of the citizens followed the body to Greenwood cemetery where the burial took place.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received by the bereaved family, among them being a cross from the Board of Management of the Home for Incubables, pillow from The Standard Publishing Co., a wreath from the Pioneer Lodge of Oddfellows, a wreath from the Natural History Society, a basket of roses from the Wednesday Evening of Montreal, a cross from the members of the Scotch Rite in Quebec, a wreath from the Supreme Council of the Scotch Rite in the Dominion of Canada, a cross from the members of the Scotch Rite in Quebec, a wreath from the Carleton Union Lodge, No. 8, F. & A. M., a Masonic emblem from the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Nova Scotia, of which the late Senator was the Grand Representative in New Brunswick, a wreath from L. B. Archibald of Truro, and Past Grand Master of the Knights Templar of Canada, a cross from the S. P. C. A., a rose pillow from the postmaster and staff, a Masonic emblem from Carleton Place, No. 5, Royal Arch Masons of Montreal, a triple cross from the Sovereign Great Priory of Canada, a cross from the Alumni of the St. John High School, and besides these many other beautiful floral tributes were received from private citizens.

The widespread regret at the death of the late Senator Ellis was further attested to yesterday by the receipt of many telegrams of sympathy by the bereaved family.

ORANGEMEN NEAR STRONG DISCOURSE

Members of Orange Lodges, Black Knights and Chapter at Church.

PROCESSION MADE FINE APPEARANCE

Large Number of Brethren in Line with Two Bands—Rev. William Lawson Preached Strong Sermon

An imposing demonstration of the strength of the Loyal Orange order in the city was given yesterday, when officers and members of the county, district and local lodges paraded from the Orange Hall on Germain street to Zion church, where they attended divine service and listened to an address on the principles of the order delivered by Rev. William Lawson, the Sons of England and St. Mary's band took part in the parade, and the great array of banners of the various lodges, glittering in the sunlight and the long lines of officers and men in full regalia, made an interesting spectacle.

Members of the different lodges met at their respective halls, and marched to Germain street, the St. Mary's band escorting the lodges from the West side, and the Sons of England Band from the North End. At Germain street the main procession was formed at 3 o'clock, and marched to Zion church. The committee which had charge of the arrangements for the parade was composed of C. B. Goodrich, W. E. Helle and Jas. Sullivan of the district lodge. The Grand marshal of the parade was R. F. Goodrich, assisted by directors appointed by local lodges. The Grand Master was absent from the city, but the grand lodge was represented by the Grand secretary, Neil J. Morrison.

Among the lodges in line were: Vernon No. 1, J. B. Vancouver, W. M., No. 2, I. F. Newcomb, W. M.; York No. 2, George Oldford, W. M.; Gildon No. 1, R. W. Wigmore, W. M.; Johnson No. 24, Robert Wilks, W. M.; Willis No. 70, H. P. Allingham, W. M.; True Blue No. 11, Thomas Ferguson, W. M.; Dominion No. 141, H. Sellen, W. M.; and the Royal Scarlet chapter, W. M. Campbell, W. C. of C.

The procession attracted a great deal of attention, the route of march to the church being lined by spectators. At the church a special service was conducted, and the musical features were of an appropriate character.

An Eloquent Sermon.

Mr. Lawson spoke from the text I Peter, 2:17, "Honor all men, love the brotherhood, fear God, honor the King."

"Such an injunction from such a man is no surprise," he said. "I was taught by an object lesson of the coin out of the mouth of a fish, by the command of the King of Kings to pay tribute to an earthly Cæsar. That was for all men an abiding example of the duties of good citizenship. The text forms a very fitting motto for us; it defines our position and our relation to our outside neighbors. We allow place, profession and creed to all men after their conscience and respect them sincerely however much we may differ from them. If Orangemen do less than that, they are recreant to their principles, false to their high trust, and forfeit their blood bought birth-right, stain their fair escutcheon, despise their glorious heritage, and dishonor their illustrious leader.

"The very foundation of our order rests on that Divine rock; equal rights to all men. The use of Orangeism was a protest against interference with this principle. The Divine Magna Charter was engraven on the seal of Prince William when it was issued here by some host on Saturday.

from the laws of the land. He made it the birth-right of all mankind.

"We want," continued the speaker, "to prevent recurrence of the bloody conflicts which have been waged for this principle of liberty, the demand of humanity. Men who have never been wanting ready to be baptized in blood for the truth, and the priceless boon of liberty.

A Monument to Liberty.

"Orangeism is a monument to right-liberty; it is a standing rebuke to bigotry and intolerance, and a stern and perpetual defence against any encroachment upon this divinely implanted and proclaimed principle. No organization of human origin can possibly have a monopoly of excellence, and no one church or society has the truth; hence there is room for the freest liberty, tolerance and charity. On this and other points Orangeism is misunderstood, even by some who desire to know and interpret its teachings. Others who maintain antagonism to us through wrong conceptions and false assumptions, and have a faculty of ignoring evidence need correcting in the spirit of Christian charity.

"It has been objected that Orangeism exists with the special design of persecuting Catholics. This is an unwarrantable slander, and as the mark as heaven from earth, or I would never have become an Orangeman. I am a minister of the church of St. Peter, said, should ever be in active operation.

In conclusion the speaker urged his hearers to be like the men who in the past stood valiantly for religious liberty, to emulate their spirits and follow their example. Play the man! No fagots are piled; no sword is lifted to the head, and no violent hands are laid upon us! Thank God! But things are assuming a not very pleasing shape in Canada, and if the old days should show that the law of love is not of God, country and home, to endure hardship as good soldiers of Jesus Christ for the cause of liberty, humanity and home.

After the service the lodges formed in procession again, and marched to the Germain street hall where they disbanded.

GRAND MEMORIAL PULPIT DEDICATED YESTERDAY

Presented to Christ Church Cathedral by English Lady, in Memory of Mother.

Fredericton, July 13.—The new Crane memorial pulpit, donated to Christ Church Cathedral by Mrs. James I. Fullows, of London, Eng., as a memorial to her mother, the late Mrs. Crane, for many years a resident of Fredericton and a member of the Cathedral congregation, was dedicated this morning before the commencement of the morning service by Very Rev. Dean Schofield and was used today for the first time.

F. P. Gutelius, general manager, and other Intercolonial Railway officials were here on Saturday conferring with President A. R. Gould and other officials of the corporation, who were en route to Quebec relative to operating arrangements for the St. John Valley Railway, left by private car on Saturday evening attached to the Canadian Eastern Division express. Before leaving Mr. Gutelius declared that the matters under consideration would be settled later by correspondence and that he had nothing to give out.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Davison and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Story, of St. John, came here by motor boat on Saturday.

ARTILLERY AT CHURCH

Annual Parade of Third Regiment of St. Mary's Yesterday—Eloquent Address by Dr. Raymond.

The annual church parade of the Third Regiment of Artillery was held yesterday morning to St. Mary's church, where divine service was held and an interesting and instructive address was delivered by Ven. Archdeacon Raymond at 10:30. Officers and men of the three batteries paraded at Barrack Square, and headed by the band, marched through Broad street, to Charlotte, along Charlotte to Union and thence by way of Waterloo street to the church. There was a large turnout and the men made a fine appearance as they swung through the streets to the music of the band. They were the cynosure of many admiring eyes and the subject of many complimentary comments upon their smart appearance.

Arriving at the church they took while a great congregation of civilians crowded the rest of the edifice. A special form of service was conducted, with appropriate hymns, and there was something inspiring in the part in the responses and joined in the singing. Archdeacon Raymond delivered an eloquent sermon, referring to the importance of military training and its value in making good citizens, and dealing at length with the duties they assumed in fitting themselves for the defence of their country and the fine traditions they were expected to live up to.

After the service the regiment marched by way of Waterloo, Union and Charlotte streets to Queens Square, where they formed up in review order and were addressed by Col. B. R. Armstrong. The commanding officer expressed his pleasure at the way the officers and men had turned out, and congratulated them on their appearance. He also expressed the hope that next year when the new armory and better facilities generally would be available, the regiment would be even stronger than it is today, and be able to make an even better showing at the annual church parade.

At the conclusion of the Colonel's address the batteries marched to their respective quarters and disbanded.

The annual inspection of the corps will be held this evening and tomorrow evening.

Rev. E. L. McTavish, of Winnipeg, pastor of Young Methodist church, accompanied by his wife and two little daughters, is spending a brief holiday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Fraser MacTavish, 203 Charlotte street.
