shell fire which raged above them also and it was against this second line of Canadians that the German infantry came up—and broke.

I had no details of some parts of this second phase of the first day's battle. With regard to the troops on the left, I only know that the Princess Pats behaved with a superb self-sacrificing courage, more wonderful than even their former actions in this war.

In the Land of the Maple Leaf.

In the Land of the Mapie Leaf.

I can tell more of what happened in the centre against which the German thrust was hard towards Zillebeke Lake. Here some of the Canadian Mounted Rifles were in support, and as soon as the infantry attack began they were ordered forward to meet and check the enemy. An officer now in command of one of their battalions tells me that he led his men across country to Mapie Copse under such a fire as he had never seen. Because of the comrades in front, in dire ned of help, no notice was taken as the wounded fell, but the others pressed on as fast as they could go.

On platoon had an astonishing escape, Two shells burst right over them, but only one man dropped.

Maple Copse was reached, and here the men halted and awited the enemy with another battalion who were already holding this wood of six or seven acres. When the German troops arrived they may have expected to meet no great resistance. They met a withering fire, which caused them bloody losses. The Canadians had assembled at various points, which became strongholds of defence with machine guns and bomb stores, and the men held their fire until the enemy was within close rance, so that they worked havoc among them. The survivors retreated hurriedly, and the enemy directed their guns upon the defenders. Colonel E. H. Baker, a member of the Canadian parliament, fell with a piece of shell in his lung.

"Long Shall the Tale R. Told."

"Long Shall the Tale Be Told."

Hour after hour our gunners fed their breaches and poured out shells. The edge of the salient was swept with fire, and though the Canadian Josses were heavy the Germans must have suffered a most terrible punishment, so that the battlefield is one great shambles. Our own wounded who were brought back owe their lives to the behaviour of the stretcher bearers who were supreme in devotion. They worked in and out across that shell-swept ground hour after hour through the day and night, rescuing many stricken men at a great cost in life to themselves. Out of one party of twenty only fine remain alive. Very gallant, too, were the signallers and "runners," who kept up communications.

"No one can say," said one of their officers yesterday, "that the Canadians do not know how to die."

It is a tragedy that so many of them have fallen in this battle under that develish shell fire, but the splendor of their courage will live for ever.

HEROISM AND DEVOTION NEVER SURPASSED

London, July 11, 5.55 p. m.—Today's casualty list of British officers is the largest which has been issued since the beginning of the offensive. It contains the names of 78 officers, many of whom belong to the Newfoundland contingent. St. John's, Nfld., July 11-The latest casualties in the Newfoundland regiment are: Fred. Wheeler, Tazzards Harbor, died of wounds, and forty-three other privates wounded, making the total now 409, of whom 25 are killed.

Colomial Secretary Bonar Law wired to Governor Davidson "expressing intense admiration that is felt for the gallant deeds of the Newfoundland contingent, and the warmest sympathy with the rela-tives of those who have suffered in the tives of those who have suffered in the fight."

Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig also wired Governor Davidson:
"Newfoundland may well feel proud of her sons for the heroism and devotion to duty they displayed on July I, which has never been surpassed. Please convey my deepest sympathy and that of the whole of our arms in France in the loss of the brave officers and men who have fallen for the empire and our admiration of their heroic conduct. Their efforts contributed to our success and efforts contributed to our success and their example will live."

Newfoundlanders Win Glory.

Newfoundlanders Win Glory.

London, July 13—The Times correspondent at British headquarters in France, sends the following:

"The Newfoundlanders were the only overseas troops engaged in these operations. The story of their heroic particannot yet be told in full, but when it is it will make Newfoundland very proud.

"The battalion was pushed up to what may be called the third wave in the attack on probably the most formidable section of the whole German front, through an almost overwhelming artillery fire, and across ground swept by an entilading machine gun fire from hidden positions. The men behaved with completely noble steadiness and courage."

BAY RUM AFTER SWIM
KILLS N. S. SAILOR.
Charlottetown, P. E. I., July 12—Eldon Whynot, aged thirty, a sailor on the Lunenburg fishing schooner "Emily Selic," died on board while on the fishing ground off Naufrage on Monday. The vessel returned to Souris where an inquest was held. The evidence showed that he took sick on Sunday and died on the following day. He was in swimming on Saturday, seemed chilled, and took a drink of bay rum. The verdict of the jury was "Accidental poisoning from drinking bay rum." Whynot belonged to Port Medway, N. S.

Helps the System to Cure Itself.

Tou cannot cure constipation by violent methods. Violence is never effective against nature. That is why the use of morning salts and purgative pills so easily become a habit. These things do not cure the trouble: they only force matters, and in so doing weaken the bowels till natural action becomes impossible, and you have to go on taking your pills or salts indefinitely. Compare Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief. This great tomic laxative helps nature by strengthening the bowels, natural action is restored and a cure effected which is real and lasting.

Dr. OHAS. F. FORSHAW, D.Sc., F.R.M.S., a well-known British clentist, writes:—"Never take Salines or Pargatives for Constitution—of force Bowel action is to aggravate the trouble and create the constitution habit. I recommend as a superior and convenient reatment Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief."
