THE GRAY WOLF.

His Cunning Is Marvelous, and He Is

The cunning of the gray wolf is marreicus, and it is most difficult to catch napping. He somehow seems to know that fron is associated with man. A piece of iron anywhere will keep him at a distance. If you shoot an antelope, for instance, and just put your spur on the carcass you may leave it as long as you like and no wolf will touch it. A pocket handkerchief will

Lobo, a great gray wolf who was the king of the pack at Currumpaw, a wast cattle range in New Mexico, was a thinker as well as a ruler. His pack ate nothing but what they had killed themselves, and thus poison was no good. At last a thousand dollars was set upon his head. This brought a noted wolf hunter from Texas, with his pack of great wolfhounds. But again there was failure. Then two other hunters came with subtly devised poisons to work his undoing. Then I came on the scene. First I tried poison, and there was no combination of strychnine, arsenic and prussic acid which I did not use. I put the poisons in cheese melted together with kidney fat, and during the whole process I wore gloves steeped in hot blood. And I scattered the bait all over the ranch. The next morning I went out and found Lobo's tracks, with the bait gone. I was delighted. I followed the track and found another bait gone and yet another. Then I found the three baits piled upon another one and covered with filth. Lobo had evidently carried the first three in his mouth and had taken this means of express ing his utter contempt for my devices. But Lobo's downfall came about through a big white she wolf who was always with him. I managed to catch her in a trap. Then I knew we should soon have Lobo. Night after night he estead and mourned his mate in long, plaintive howls. I knew he would try to find her body. I set 130 strong steel wolf traps, and in one of these I caught him-a martyr to constancy. And that was the end of Lobo.—Interview With Ernest

What do you use most during the day? Do you use the little white lie almost as much as your shoes?

When a man makes one mistake he usually follows it up with three or four before he recovers his balance. Don't be conceited; get any map of the United States, and do you find any mark on it to show that you are on

Two Ways of Doing Business. I have seen in London only one office where there is any real enthusiasm. And the employees seldom have any in terest in the business beyond drawing their salaries. In most of the factories and even in the offices, they are taught a certain round of duties, and they are allowed to do nothing else. They seldom suggest improvements for fear of losing their places, where in America they'd soon lose their places if they didn't make suggestions. Here it's the firm in its private offices and everybody else doing as little as possible and never stepping out of the rut they're put in, and there it's everybody working together, coats off, and the head of the concern glad to listen to the office boy and to do as he says if it means reReported Appearance in Manitoba.

A German epicure comes to the rescue of the Chinese in regard to their alleged habit of eating rotten eggs. The eggs, he says, are simply preserved in lime until they get a consistency like that of hard butter and they somewhat like lobster. Balky Steam Boilers. According to an engineer, though there may be every reason present why a steam boiler should steam there are occasions when it simply will not. It refuses duty and sulks without any cause that can be detected. On such occasions every one takes a hand at the fires, but the result is the same no steam or only enough to keep quarters speed. Marine and stationary hollers are both thus afflicted. There are "good days" and "bad days" in the performance of each.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets Hit the Right Spot.

She takes different medicines, but they do her little good. They don't hit the right spot. ing a stimulant to heal inflamma medical ingredients necessary to regulate and strengthen every organ of the female system. And that is just what these tablets do. In taking the ordinary remedies you may miss the very ingredients your system requires These tablets contain every ingredient. They go to the weak spot wherever it may be.

It is not necessary to guess at the cause of the trouble and perhaps take the wrong medicine half a dozen times. It is not necessary to even know exactly the cause of the trouble.

Dr. Hugo's remedy contains something for every organ of the female system; something for the stomach to help indigestion for the bowels to cure constipation-for the nervous system to tone up the nerves-for the liver and kidneys to make them active in carrying off impurities-something for the uterine system to stop alldrains, allay inflammation and make women regular.

The tablets are sure to go to the right spot and get there the first

The remedy is now recognized beyond doubt or question as the best adapted to the special needs of sick and run-down women, no matter what the cause.

"Stomach Catarrh"

It is a fatal waste of time to trifle with snuffs, powders, inhalers, or other dangerous postrums, with the idea of curing Catarrh of the Stomach. Once Catarrh has reached the stomach it can only be eradicated by creating pure, rich blood. Catarrh is a germ disease. The stomach and intestines become nests for myriads of these tiny germs. Local applications have no effect on them. They must be driven out -the stomach cleansed, the blood purified, the system toned up. "PSYCHINE" will positively cure the worst form of Stomach Catarrh, by purifying the blood, cleansing the stomach, and destroying germ life. Thousands have been cured of the prevalent malady, through this remarkable discovery, "Psychine." Druggists recommend it.

HUTTON'S ONE RECIPE.

Included a Paper Cutter, Ini Eraser and Rubber Bands.

Perhaps the most ingenious and the curing autographs was from a lady in a western town. She was raising funds for the building and support of a public library, and she had conceived the idea of issuing a volume to be called "The Authors' Recipe Book." Authors from Authors' Recipe Book." Authors from all over the country, the most distinguished of authors—always authors with a capital A—had been good enough FROM BROCKVILLE $75.50 of their own construction, with their method of making them.

The cookbook was one of the many forms of literature to which the recip ient had never turned his attention. He had no more idea of cooking than he had of milking a cow or of harnessing a horse or of setting a hen or of build-ing a dynamo. He did not even care what was cooked for him so long as it contained none of the ingredients of tripe and none of the essence of tomato. But he was asked to contribute a Solo Organist, Pianist and Voice paper, which she would have reproduced in facsimile, stating what he could prepare most to his liking upon a kitchen range or in a chafing dish, with his manner of procedure. This quite nonplused him until he bethought imself of one particular and peculiar delicacy in the evolution of which he could safely trust his reputation as an expert. In reply, for which he received no thanks, he said: "Take a long paper cutter; attach to the same by means of rubber bands. and securely, an ink eraser; insert the ink eraser firmly into a marshmallow plug and hold the same over a student's lamp or study fire until the marshmalbegins to sizz, drops into the ashes, puts out the light or burns your hand. And eat while hot!'

Another fired his gun at ducks, which knocked him over on his back and fairly got away from him. When he nicked up the gun he found a narrow raised band around the barrel fourteen inches from the muzzle. In this case a wad had probably lodged there. This cus tomer thinks the manufacturers ought to give him a new set of barrels. I tell him if the barrels had not been good ones it would have been a burst instead of a bulge, which might have maimed or killed him. Another man lying on a point brought down a duck with broken wing which scurried for the water. The man ran and struck the duck with the muzzle of the gun and in so doing got sand in it. He blew most of it out and shot out the rest of it. Well, after that shot he found a little blister two inches from the muzzle about the size of a man's little fin-
