Couldn't Do Housework HEART WAS SO BAD.

Mrs. Thomas Melville, Saltcoats, Sask., writes -"I thought it my duty to write and tell you how much your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for me. My heart was so bad I could not sleep, eat, nor walk about the house. I could not do my housework at all, what my husband could not do had to go undone. I had two small children depending on me besides three men to cook for, and it worried me to not be able to do anything. My husband had taken some of your pills, some years ago, and insisted on me trying them, so I started, and before I had taken them two weeks I was considerably better, and before I had taken two boxes I was doing my own work again. Anyone suffering from heart or nerve trouble of any kind should just give your pills a trial. If anyone cares to write to me I will gladly give them all the information I know concerning your wonderful medicine."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. per box, or 3 boxes for $1,25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Hurry up and give us your ideals, girls! Well, girls, our winter will soon be gone. Then comes the hurry and bustle of seeding. Baching is all right in the winter; but when one has to put ten hours in the field and cook the meals besides, it's not what it's cracked up to be. I have three hundred acres of crop to put in all alone this spring, so you may guess I wont have much idle time for a couple of months. Well, I think I have said enough. I am afraid it won't find space in your columns. Wishing The Western Home Monthly success in future.

To Punish Suffragettes

Elm Springs, March 23, 1914. Dear Editor - This is my maiden attempt at writing to the correspondence columns of any paper. "Topsy's" letter caught my eye, and having been residing near Killarney for a number of years, I thought I would like to reply. A good plan to punish suffragettes, or rather reform them, would be to ship them to Western Canada to cook and mend for the many bachelors there. Probably they would become so interested in their homely duties that they would forget the slogan, "Votes for Women." A woman that can make a home bright and cheerful is a goddess. Just a word about myself. I am not a native of Canada, but think it is "the one best bet." I have had no religion since commencing homestead duties, as the nearest church is thirty. miles distant, but used to attend Presbyterian Church at Killarney. Would like to hear from "Topsy" in the near future. In the meantime I remain,

"Turvy."

Not all "Lonely Bachelors"

. Nova Scotia, February, 1914.

Dear Editor - I have been quite interested in the correspondence pages of your much valued magazine as well as its other sections for some time. Now, if you will permit me, I would like to write a few lines, as I have failed to see any letters in print thus far from this part of the world. I have lived on a farm all my life, and think it as good a place as a girl can live. On a farm there is always something new to learn. Oh, yes, someone says, that may be true, but there is also something new all the time in a city home. Of course, there is. But on a farm everything is a nature study, and nature is always bringing forth something new and interesting. I do not understand why every boy and unmarried man in the beautiful West should call himself a "Lonely Bachelor." I think that must only be a habit they have thoughtlessly got into from which they had much better awake. Of course, it is true that lots of them do not have any neighbors or friends handy. I would be pleased to correspond with any who care to write first. Will leave my address with the editor, and sign

"A N. S. Lassie."

She Took The Hint

At the "home stations" of the British army the private soldiers' washing is usually done by the married soldiers' wives, who are expected to sew on missing buttons and make other repairs, for which, says Tit-Bits, a small sum is deducted from the privates' pay.

Pat McGinnis had had a good deal of trouble with his laundress. Sunday after Sunday had his shirt come back with the neck button lacking or only hanging by a thread. He had spoken about the matter and the woman had promised to see to it, but still the button was not properly fixed.

He got out of patience one day when the missing button had made him late for parade. "Bother the woman!" he said. "I'll see if I can't give her a hint this time, anyhow."

Taking the lid of a tin blacking-box, about three inches in diameter, he punched two holes in it and sewed it ... to the neck of the shirt that was next to be washed. When his washing came back he found that she had taken the hint-or part of it. She had made a buttonhole to fit the lid.
