FOOTBALL

The Chatham football team, which has been successfully organized with Max Fraser captain, had a good work-out last Thursday afternoon, and will be in good shape to enter into the Peninsular League series this spring.

LAURESSE

Manager Frank Grace of the Chatham Teumsehse, reports that he has several good players who are anxious to play to come to Chatham. Just as soon as the weather is favorable the boys may be seen practicing at the Exhibition Grounds. It is quite likely that MacFarlane, Lambert, Pickering and Francis will again hold positions on the team.

Albert Monroy of lacrosse fame, who played with the Varsity team, is in town renewing old acquaintances. He intends to play with the Detroit team this year.

A meeting of the Bowling Club was held on Monday night to arrange for getting the grounds in shape for playing and other matters. President W. Dick in the chair, Mr. Bouthie was appointed treasurer in Mr. Pashby's place. Mayor Hinnegan and Dr. Campbell were added to the grounds committee, who will visit the grounds, which are in rear of the town hall, fenced in and seeded, and will probably be in condition for the club's use before the end of July.

ANAEMIA

is thin blood. It causes pale faces, white lips, weak nerves and lack of vitality. A blood-enriching, fat-producing food-medicine is needed. Scott's Emulsion goes to the root of the trouble, strengthens and enriches the blood, and builds up the entire system. For anaemic girls, thin boys, and enfeebled mothers, it is the standard remedy. It builds up and strengthens the entire system with wonderful rapidity.

Mr. D. Dorbert's brother from Nova Scotia paid him a visit. Our village is in need of a lock-up. The maple mucedivated sugar man is scarce this year. Mr. Corbett has engaged S. Elliott for the summer. Mrs. S. Bloom, our teacher on the 11th line, was in the village Saturday.

A GUARANTEE TO MOTHERS.

There is only one medicine intended for use among infants and young children that gives mothers a guarantee that it is free from opiates and poisonous soothing stuffs. That medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. Milton L. Hersey, M. Sc., public analyst for the Province of Quebec, and demonstrator in chemistry for McGill University, says: "I hereby certify that I have made a careful analysis of Baby's Own Tablets which I personally purchased in a drug store in Montreal, and said analysis has failed to detect the presence of any opiate or narcotic in them." These tablets cure all minor ailments of little ones, such as teething troubles, simple fevers, colds, constipation, diarrhoea, colic and worms. They make little ones sleep naturally because they remove the cause of sleeplessness. There are a boon to all mothers and no home where there are young children should be without a box of Baby's Own Tablets. Sold by all medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

JEANNETTE'S CREEK

One hundred boxes of pickarel have been shipped this week, which averaged 15 per box. The lake fishermen had a lively time Tuesday afternoon getting their fish to the station for shipping. One fisherman had a boatload of about two tons of fish, and the boat nearly filled with water several times. It was fortunate the fish were boxed. Misses Florence and Georgie Kontze visited relatives and friends in Blenheim from Friday to Monday. The S. S. will give a concert after Easter.

Mr. McRoberts is putting up 100 rods of wire fence on corner of 12th line at 15th sideroad.

THE STAGE

ANNOUNCEMENTS

At the Grand— Wizard of Oz—April 17. (Supplied to The Planet by Press Agents.)

"THE WIZARD OF OZ." The "Wizard of Oz," which is to be seen at the Grand on Monday, April 17, is more than duplicating its success of last year, a success as great that it is easily the leader of the class of entertainments. Frank Baum's fairy tale is one that is well adapted for a spectacular extravaganza, and both his ideas and those of the dramatist have been most faithfully copied in the construction of the play. The Scarecrow, the Tin Woodman, the Cowardly Lion and the Cow are most original creations and are being capably portrayed at the hands of a quartette of clever players. Bert Swor's Scarecrow and John Swor's Tin Woodman are, of course, the principal features, and it is said it would be hard to imagine any two similar characters being better played. Both gentlemen keep well within the bounds of good taste, and their "make-ups" and general performance denote studious effort. There is just enough of other things in the way of music, dancing, and spectacular effects to keep an audience in good humor, and the play is never permitted to drag for a moment when the comedians are off the stage. The ladies of the company are good to look upon and dance and sing with never failing vigor.

Whistler at the Barber's.

In the midst of enthusiasm and nonsense Whistler moved the prince of jolly dapper, fantastic, irresponsible, & farcical of genius, Ariel and Puck made flesh. Mr. Menpes gives us a ruthless picture of this exterior Whistler. We go with him to the tailor and see him prancing for a quarter of an hour before the mirror—hand on hip, his cane balanced between his fingers and his hat cocked well over one eye—a perfect figure out of Mollere. Or to the barber's: Even in so small a detail as the dressing of his hair, Whistler was most particular. Many people thought him vain; but that idea is quite false. He treated his hair as he would not but treat everything about him, purely from the artistic standpoint, as a picture, a bit of decoration. Many a time have I been with him to the hair-dresser in Regent street. Customers ceased to be interested in their hair; operators stopped their manipulating everyone turned to watch Whistler having his hair dressed. The hair was trimmed, but left rather long. Whistler directing the cutting of every lock he watched the barber in the glass. The clipping completed, Whistler wasted the operators imperiously on one side, and we noticed for a while the back view of this dapper little figure surveying himself in the glass, stepping now backward, now forward. Suddenly, to the intense surprise of the bystanders, he put his head into a basin of water, and then, half drying his hair, shook it into matter wet curls. With the comb he carefully picked out the whole lock, a tuft of hair just above his forehead, wrapped it in a towel and walked about the room for from five to ten minutes pinching it dry, with the rest of his hair hanging over his face. Still pinching the towel, Whistler would then beat the rest of his hair into ringlets (to comb them would not have given them the right quality) until they formed a decorative wave all over his head, and then scream would then read the air! Whistler wanted a comb! This procured, he would comb the white lock into a feathery plume, and with a few broad movements of his hand form the whole into a picture. Then he would look beamingly at himself in the glass, and say but two words, "Menpes, amazing!" and sail triumphantly out of the shop.

To Freeze Earth Bound.

Although it was demonstrated more than 2,000 years ago that the earth is globular in form, there are certain persons who maintain that it is flat. About thirty years ago a controversy on the subject waxed so hot that it was determined to put the matter to direct experiment in order to settle the question once for all. The place chosen was near Bedford, England, where there is a straight six-mile stretch of water. At both ends and in the middle of this water posts were erected, each of the same definite height above the water level. Upon looking with a telescope along the tops of these three posts it was clearly seen that the centre one overtopped the others by about six feet, owing to the curvature of the surface of the earth. These experiments were recently repeated in a more scientific manner by E. Yule Oldham, who read a paper on the subject before the Glasgow meeting of the British Association. The same results were obtained, with the important difference that by the employment of a telephoto-photographic lens and camera the six-foot prominence of the middle post was recorded in an unmistakable manner.

An unfulfilled promise is apt to come back in a way not at all pleasant.

JUDGE OF NATAL SUPREME COURT

Mr. Justice Finmore Tells of Remarkable Cure of Distressing Eczema by Cuticura—Grew Worse Under Professional Treatment.

OTHER SUFFERERS CURED BY CUTICURA

"I suffered a severe attack of eczema on the scalp, face, ears, and neck, and was for several months under professional treatment, but became worse. My face was dreadfully disfigured, and I lost nearly all my hair. My wife prevailed upon me to try the Cuticura Remedies, which I did with most satisfactory results, the disease disappearing and my hair growing thicker and glossier than before my illness. My wife has purchased Cuticura for other sufferers, with good results in each case.—Robert L. Finmore (Judge of the Natal Supreme Court), Pietermaritzburg, Natal."

Needed No Introduction.

"It pays sometimes to know a little of the family history of your clients," said a business woman the other day. "It would have saved me from making a blunder if I had known the relations that formerly existed between two men who met in my office. Their business was practically of the same nature, and as I was obliged to leave them together for a few minutes while I attended to some telephone calls, I thought it would be more agreeable if I introduced them. They responded rather stiffly, but I put that down to temperament and went into my inner office. When I returned a quarter of an hour later the younger man dispatched his business as quickly as possible and got out. The other said: "I was not aware that you were acquainted with my ex-brother-in-law." "Yes, my sister got a divorce from him last summer."

Schools in France.

The French system of education is intensely national. Its plan is exactly the opposite from our own school system. With us the local community controls primary schools. In France the local community has no voice in the matter. The French system is the most centralized, the most strictly regulated, the most autocratic and the farthest removed from democratic ideas of any school system in existence. The exact uniformity of the schools is almost unbelievable. The minister of instruction, sitting in his office in Paris, can tell at any moment just what fabric of La Fontaine each child of a certain age throughout the whole of France is reciting. Teachers are not allowed any latitude at all. The result is to leave both teachers and scholars almost completely lacking in mental originality.—F. A. Vanderlip in Scribner's.

The Briton and Washing.

We have come to look upon water as meant primarily to wash in, as an aid to ablation rather than a thing of beauty. A story of a Somersetshire peasant will illustrate what we mean. The individual in question had never seen the sea until he was taken to Weston-super-Mare on a "choir treat" excursion. Naturally the vicar, the curate and the rest of the tenors, trebles and basses as soon as the esplanade was reached gathered around to see how the first sight of the ocean would strike the natural man. Will it be believed that the words struck from him by the view of "the unfurrowed deep" lying in vast expanse before his eyes were these: "If I'd known what her were like, I'd have brought down a bit of soap and had a good wash." The iron, or rather, the soap, had entered so deeply into his soul that he could only conceive the sea as a huge washing place.—London Spectator.
