MANY MARVELS IN MILLINERY

To Delight Maple City Ladies—Alluring Fall Exhibit of Entertaining Merchants.

New Styles Comprise Many Novelties—Splendid Displays in all City Stores.

WILLIAM FOREMAN & CO. Never in its history has this thriving firm of William Foreman & Co. been in a more prosperous condition. Their neat little store has undergone several improvements since last season. A metallic ceiling has been put in and the appearance of the store has been thus much improved. New lighting will also be put in, and when this is completed Mr. Foreman will have one of the best appearing and most up-to-date stores in Western Ontario.

Their millinery show room, which is situated at the rear of the store, always looks tasty, but at present it has donned special splendor and looks very pretty and inviting. The looks very special and new hats which are arranged and show to the very best advantage. The patient and obliging head milliner and her capable assistants were very busy from early morning until late in the evening, and the day closed on one of the most satisfactory openings ever held by this firm.

A glance around the show room provides an excellent opportunity of obtaining much information concerning the latest novelties in hats. In trimmings, especially, sunsets, plush, chenille and cords are very much used. Lace, angora trimmings, plumes, birds, wings and ribbons, while not new, are still very popular and extensively shown. There is, this year, a marked departure from the flat shapes which have lately been so popular. Large hats hold a high place in popularity and wide flaring brims are also much seen.

Among the most admired hats were the following:

A brown chenille toque, trimmed with shirred velvet and a golden and pearl ornament. This is a very jaunty and cleverly made.

A rolling shaped beaver with three white plumes and white chenille ribbons.

A large picture hat of black velvet high crowned, shirred with black plumes and jet ornaments. This is something of the Gainsborough shape.

Another swell creation is a Glen-gary turban shape, white Persian lamb hat trimmed with black chenille, black satin ribbons and a paradise ospray.

Still another is a rolling turban of green chenille with facings of panne French. The crown is white with an ostrich egrette, forming a striking and pleasing effect.

This firm is noted for its dress goods and linens. In dress goods, French, German, British and Canadian makes are the correct thing, while the imported Scotch and Irish and German piece linens are always good and serviceable.

Any one wishing to visit this store during the fall opening will be assured of patient and careful attention.

THIBODEAU & JACQUES. This ever popular store puts on a fine appearance for fall opening. The store is prettily decorated, and is stocked with the finest and best.

In dress goods the Scotch effect from the plain tweed to extreme novelty comprising bouillon yarns in illuminated colors on dark grounds, the colors of course including all the popular autumn tints, adorn the shelf.

Zepelines in all popular fancy mixtures, also a full stock of new goods of evening dress, such as voiles, London twines and other sheer materials are here kept in good variety.

The millinery department is decorated with green and white with palms. A piano is entertaining the visiting public.

The revival of the picturesque in millinery will be the leading influence in winter fashions. This is already seen in the advent of the poke, with all its picturesque qualities. Quaintness and grace are attractively emphasized in the old time poke bonnet.

Its dainty tie strings, its nodding plumes, and its simple lines, are all more distinctly feminine than anything the millinery world has seen since the thirties, and from the present outlook it seems that many of the old fashioned graces will be revived.

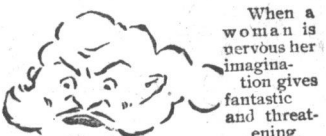

The modes of the thirties will be the basis on which the fashions of this season will depend.

A large poke, covered in black plush facing, folded molins, role of molins on top of brim, finished at back with petunia foliage and turquoise blue ribbon, long malien ties, is among the most prominent.

A Gainsborough hat, covered in green plush, two shaded plumes, as a trimming at the side and back. Large steel bands fastening plumes, makes a very effective hat.

Another hat quite noticeable, is a torpedo shape, covered with white Persian lamb, paradise ospreys, fastened with large steel pins.

Speaking generally, one may say that the favorite colors are quiet, dark and rich. The Bordeaux, Helio and Ophelia shades are shown in every line, and dark, rich browns appear. Hunters green in combination with both white and black and light greens are shown also. Black and white are as good as heretofore, and rich mahogany and capucine shades are seen with frequency enough to make them considered. Beautiful

When a woman is nervous her imagination gives fantastic and threatening shapes to the most familiar objects. By day she starts in fear at every sudden or unfamiliar sound. By night the furniture of her room takes on affrighting forms of ghost or goblin. You can't reason with the nerves. Neither logic nor love can quiet them.

They must be nourished and then the outer of the hungry child ceases to cry when fed.

For nervous women there is no better tonic and nerve than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the diseases which produce nervousness in women, irregularity, debilitating drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite, and induces refreshing sleep.

"When I began taking your medicine I was not able to stand on my feet ten minutes at a time," writes Mrs. Hattie Bonadoni of its Spring Street, Nashville, Tenn. "I had falling of uterus, and kidney and liver disease. I was so weak and nervous I could not keep still. Would take nervous spells and almost die at times. I had several different doctors attend me, but they could not do me any good. The last one I had said I would never get up again. Told him that I was taking your Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and he said, 'Might just as well take that much water each day.' But I thought I would give the medicine a fair trial. Before I had finished the first two bottles I was able to get outside the house and walk around the yard. I kept on taking the medicine and they cured me."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness

soft blouse on the maletot and blue shades, particularly on shaded combinations are greatly favored, especially in turbans. Hats with crowns, large turbans and toques and the medium sized picture hats will be worn, and among some of the leading trimmings will be the shaded effects in wings and ostrich plumes.

A plenty of the comb d with old Yak lace, make a very effective trimming. The large steel and square buckles are quite a new feature this season.

MISS C. A. COOKSLEY. Here, as has always been the case at this store, the proprietress shows an inimitable taste in her choice of hats and workmanship.

The store, Miss Cooksley's new stand, near the Big Clock, is prettily decorated, and the new millinery tastefully arranged.

A very pretty hat at this store is a square front effect, made of black moire velvet, with two large ostrich plumes, and jet ornaments.

Ready-to-wear hats are a specialty here, for children, ladies and misses. Among the ready-to-wears are the Flake cloth turban, with grey bird; the Lipton, white turbans and turbans with the wings.

In trimmings Persian lamb, wings and birds, fancy shaded plumes, fancy felt crowns are among the features.

A large assortment of children's fall and winter bonnets is also in evidence.

SUNLIGHT SOAP is made of pure fats and oils and contains no dangerous ingredient. It is pure soap that gives absolute satisfaction.

TURKS BEATEN. Important Engagement With Insurgents Fought at Perin.

Sofia, Sept. 22.—A communication, which has reached me directly from the insurgent headquarters, states that fighting began on the 16th with a Turkish attack on the village of Perin.

The revolutionary forces, consisting of the revolutionary bands, under Stoyanoff, Doncho and Dervin-goff, maintained the fight until reinforced by other bands under Tzontcheff, Yankoff and Sandanski, the capture of Sofia.

The Turkish force, numbering between 500 and 1,000 men, was, it is stated, completely annihilated, and the Colonel commanding taken prisoner.

Another conflict occurred on Sunday at Kochani, at the foot of the Oso-goska Mountains, near the frontier.

CURIOUS DIS OF NEWS.

There is a negro murderer named Smith out in Multnomah County, Ore., who is certainly a stickler for his prejudices. There is a strike in the county, and Smith objects to being executed on the only gallows in existence on the ground that it was built by "scabs."

The inventor of the watch is a mystery, though the place of its invention is assigned to Nuremberg. The first watches were called "Nuremberg eggs," the first part of the name showing where they were made, the second telling of their shape. It was not until the invention of the spiral spring in the fifteenth century that watches became conveniently portable, and from that time the size decreased, while the timekeeping mechanism improved.

Women are not good tipsters and lack of "tips" is said to be responsible for the withdrawal of twenty waitresses from the dining-room of the Hotel Martha Washington in New York. The hotel is exclusively for women, and when it was opened last March one of the features was the Colonial dining-room on the ground floor, with twenty buxom young women in picturesque uniforms.

All went well at first, but soon the guests of the Martha Washington forgot to give a dime here or a quarter there. Later on it became positively out of fashion to "tip" in the hotel; but it seems the fashion of scolding and complaining grew, at least the girls say so.

Then the girls held a meeting and decided to walk out. The management of the hotel declares that the girls were discharged because the hotel wanted to try men waiters.

At a recent meeting of the Zoological Society of France Monsieur Racovitz, the naturalist of the "Belgica" expedition, declared his belief in the existence of the great "sea-serpent." He quoted with approval the views of a Dutch naturalist, Oudemans, who holds that the so-called sea-serpent is not a reptile, but a mammal belonging to the order of the pinnipeds, which includes the seals.

It resembles in shape the extinct Plesiosaurus. It probably attains a length of 260 feet, the head and neck taking one-fourth of the whole, the trunk one-fourth and the tail one-half.

It never approaches a coast except in pursuit of the fish on which it feeds. Monsieur Racovitz quoted the sergent, Oudemans, who holds that the so-called sea-serpent is not a reptile, but a mammal belonging to the order of the pinnipeds, which includes the seals.

A high silk hat, probably the first ever worn in the small town of Pagan, west of Houston, Tex., was responsible the other day for the death of Philip Buntz of New York, who was traveling for a Bible publishing house in the East.

His attire was that of a dervish, and when he appeared in Pagan he was the center of attraction. That night Buntz walked up to the bar in one of the saloons where the cowboys were drinking and ordered lemonade.

The bartender repeated the order in a tone of voice defiant for all ears, and the new millinery tastefully arranged.

Specimen from Ezra Kendall. No one has ever caught Ezra Kendall unprepared with a story. He is always ready to entertain his friends with a humorous chapter or so from his fund of reminiscences and frequently delights his audiences with them when called upon.

Before he came to this store something decidedly Kendallesque that he told one evening recently:

"I was on my way to Chicago from Baltimore, recently, in a Pullman sleeping car—oh, yes, they allow us to ride in the Pullmans now. After a good night's rest I got out of my berth early in the morning and made my way to the wash-room. You know the little washroom, about so big, at the end of the car. Well, I pushed my way in with some other men and found I took my turn at one of the wash-basins.

"Just as I got my face soaped up good and well the train shot around a curve and into a tunnel, where it was dark, of course. When the train struck the tunnel the far caused my face to slip out of my hands, and it landed in the hands of the man who was bending over washing away, just alongside of me. He kept on washing busily, as if nothing had happened.

"'Hello, friend,' I said, 'that's my face you have in your hands.'"

"'Is that so?' he remarked. 'Well, what's become of mine?'"

"'Guess I've got it here,' said a man on the other side of him. 'I haven't said a word so far, but this face I am washing has been talking right along.'"

Hurray! "Stop!" "What is your business with me, sir?" "I have none at all; this is merely pleasure."

Thereupon, Bronckhorst Thickneck Slugs, the famous boulder-shaped half-back, who measured 3x4x1-2 feet, and weighed on the high side of 240 pounds, seized the haughty gentleman-chauffeur by the throat, yanked him out of his amputuous puff-coat, thrust the ground with him till his shoe-soles flew off, filled the air full of him, and flung him into an adjacent tree-top, where he hung quivering and limp, and giving a most excellent illustration of a party who had received all that was coming to him.

"You ran over my uncle, last week, and he left every penny of his vast fortune to an orphan asylum!" said Bronckhorst Thickneck Slugs, as he turned regretfully away.—"Town Topics."

"I wonder the Smith's baby has turned out so big." "Indeed! Why?" "Well, you know it was brought up on condensed milk."

"When a woman wishes to retire from the world," says the Manayunk Philosopher, "she enters a nunnery. All a man has to do is to marry a famous woman."—Philadelphia "Record."

A little three-year-old miss, while her mother was trying to get her to sleep, became interested in a peculiar noise and asked what it was. "A cricket, dear," replied her mother. "Well," remarked the little lady, "he ought to get himself killed."

THE STAGE

"All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players."

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

At the Chatham Grand:—Perry O'Dell & Dec—Sept. 22, 23 and 24. "Quincy Adams Sawyer,"—Sept. 29.

The Perry O'Dell & Dec comedy and vaudeville company made their initial appearance at the Grand last evening and pleased a good house. Their specialties are good and the production was much enjoyed. They appear again to-night in a new presentation.

(Supplied to The Planet by Press Agents.)

COMEDIANS COMING.

Perry, O'Dell & Dec's Comedians and Vaudeville Company will appear here on Fair Nights. This company enjoys the reputation of a splendid evening's entertainment. Speaking of their appearance in Guest's Daily Herald says—Perry, O'Dell & Dec's comedians opened a four nights' engagement at the Royal Opera House, and by the applause the artists received, went to show that the audience was more than pleased with the performance. Among those taking part was B. B. Bonnie Dec, the cleverest young actress on the stage to-day. W. H. Abel who is without doubt unequalled as a performer on the slack wire; and several new and excellent views on the kinetograph.

Also some beautifully illustrated songs. The Three Dees have a singing and dancing sketch which is intensely interesting and very clever. The balance of the company goes up to a very high standard, and all the acts brought forth loud applause.

This entertainment is one of the best and cleanest of the kind that has ever visited this city, and should draw large houses. The press all over the country seem to have nothing but praise for the performance given by the Perry, O'Dell & Dec company, and a most satisfactory engagement is looked forward to upon their appearance here.

They appear at the Grand to-night and to-morrow night, Sept. 23rd and 24th. Change of program nightly.

The Latest Humor.

"Poor fellow! His doctor tells him the only thing that will cure him is a course of mud baths, and he can't afford to go to the mud springs."

"But surely he can go into politics and let the mud come to him."—Philadelphia Press.

The jungle cub had of the foolish is very profitable to animal dealers, who require them after they have been half reared, at perhaps a quarter of the price at which they were sold. A dealer recently received a letter, according to Leslie's Weekly, from a woman who had bought a whelp lioness, which runs as follows: "Please come and take Kitty away. She has eaten our Newfoundland dog."

"Father," said the little boy, "what is a mathematician?"

"A mathematician, my son, is a man who can calculate the distance between the most remote stars, and who is liable to be flummaged in changing a two-dollar bill."—Washington Star.

A Missouri law-maker snatched a sheet of paper from the desk, wrote an amendment to a pending bill, sent it to the clerk, arose and said, "Mr. Speaker, I offer an amendment."

The clerk was asked to read it. The clerk with an interested expression began in an unusually loud, clear voice, "My dearest Maggie, I am awfully lonesome without you."

"Hold on, there, Mr. Clerk," yelled the legislator, "that's the wrong side." He had been writing to his lady love, and had written his amendment on the blank side of the first page.

He—That's all right. I don't need any encouragement.—Philadelphia Press.

"Mr. Jonesmith isn't in," said the maid at the door. "Will you leave your name?"

"Oh, no," replied Prof. Absentminded. "You see, I may need it myself before I see him again."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

During a trial for assault in Arkansas, a club, a rail, an axe-handle, a knife, and a shotgun were exhibited as "the instruments with which the deed was done." It was also shown that the assaulted man defended himself with a revolver, a scythe, a pitchfork, a chisel, a hand-saw, and a dog. The jury decided that they had given a dollar apiece to have seen the fight.

Purchaser—Look here, sir. You say peaches are twenty-five cents a peck. Now I get half a peck, and you charge me thirteen cents. I am cheated out of half a cent. Why don't you give me thirteen cents?

None out of every ten men have been guilty of transgression against nature in their youth. Nature never excuses, no matter how young, thoughtless or ignorant they may be. The punishment and suffering corresponds with the crime. The only escape from its ruinous results is proper scientific treatment to counteract its effects. The DRAINS, either by nightly doses, or secretly through the urine, must be stopped—the NERVES must be built up and invigorated, the blood must be purified, the SEXUAL ORGANS must be vitalized and developed, the BRAIN must be nourished. Our New Method Treatment provides all these requirements. Under no circumstances should the blood be drawn, the blood purified so that all plumes, blotches and ulcers disappear; the nerves become strong as steel, the face pale and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and sexual systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. We consult us confidentially and free of charge. Cures Guaranteed or no pay.
