Mr. James Crane, verger of the St. Columbia, Cornwall, and parish clerk of St. Columb, Minor, lately celebrated his 102nd birthday. For 168 years three generations of the Carne family have held the same office. Mr. Carne is still hale and active, and, until comparatively recently, had no need for eyeglasses. He does not care for tobacco. When Mr. Carne first became a verger he had to march up and down the aisle of the church, leading the choir with his flute, until later on a carionet, a flute, and a big bass violin were added.
