Death of Levi Johnston

The death occurred in Kingston on Tuesday of last week of Levi Johnston, for many years driver of the Athens-Brockville stage. The body was taken to Gananoque for interment. Mr.
Johnston was well and favorably known to older residents of Athens.
He was here a few years ago and renewed many old acquaintanceships.

Mrs. Myles Lockwood

The death occurred at her husband's residence in Philipsville on Wednesday morning last of Mrs. Myles Lockwood, a well known and esteemed resident of that locality. She had been in ill health for some time.The late Mrs. Lockwood was 83 years of age and her whole life was spent in that neighborhood. Her maiden name was Maria Phelps. Her husband survives.

BLUNDERS IN NOVELS.

"Howlers" That Have Been Made By Women Writers.That popular novelists make all sorts of funny mistakes and perpetrate marvellous anachronisms when writing their surprisingly thrilling tales is well known. Dickens, Scott, Thackeray, Reade, and so on, right down to the latest, Mrs. Florence Barclay, have all fallen into the trap before to-day. But in nothing are so many laughable blunders made by novelists as in relation to sport, and this is particularly the case with women writers, however eminent or experienced they may be."Ouida" was probably the most astounding of all great story writers of her sex in this respect. Three instances will prove that she took very little pains to learn the details of any sport she was describing. Speaking of one of her heroes who was taking part in a famous boat-race, "Ouida" makes this astonishing statement:— "All in the boat rowed splendidly, but none rowed as fast as number six."If "Ouida" has any blunder to surpass this amusing error in a sporting contest, it may be found in her description of a great horse-race, wherein her heroine is supposed to be the owner of the winner. And, this horse having won, the female novelist goes on to show the sensation made by the lady owner (we do not wonder at it either!) when "she came proudly into the paddock, leading in the winner of the Waterloo Cup." Of course, all sporting men know that the Waterloo Cup is the trophy awarded for the finest dog-race in the world."Ouida," too, seems to have been totally regardless as to whether sporting items got mixed with her educational ones, or vice versa, for in another story she makes her hero become "very popular at Cambridge, where he got his Blue for history." This is funny, too, to make a "Varsity man" laugh for a month! As "Blues" are given by the sports' captains for certain games only, how any fellow under the sun could get his "Blue for history," either at Oxford, Cambridge, or anywhere else, is a puzzle. But your woman novelist never troubles about a detail like that —not she! Why should she? If Cambridge doesn't give "Blues for history" when she says so — well, it ought to, that's all.Even the celebrated Marie Corelli is not always accurate when she comes to write about men's sports and men's work. Says she, in "The Treasurer of Heaven," when her hero is speaking in that book:—
"After school hours I got an evening job, with a shilling a week, for bringing home eight Highland bullhounds from pasture."Bull-hounds, indeed! What sort of creatures are they? They are a bit like that when somebody used to send very juvenile boys to the nearest grocer's shop for "a pen'orth of pigeon milk."

Services at Front Door.

The question of the right of religious bodies to hold open-air services, with instrumental music, at the front doors of London dwelling-houses was raised at the Westminster police court in London recently. An engineer, who stated that his age was 86, complained of the annoyance caused by Sunday night religious services outside his residence, in Walnut Tree Walk, Lambeth. The noise of a choir, an harmonium, and the crowd, he said, was most distressing to those who desired peace and quietness in their homes.
Complaint to the minister in charge was met with the threat that he would be given into charge of the police if he again interrupted the service. His rejoinder was that the boot was on the other foot, and that he should appeal to a magistrate for a summons.
Mr. Francis said that the act would protect a householder if there was interruption to his ordinary occupation, or "other reasonable or sufficient cause" was assigned to stop instrumental playing. If the nuisance was repeated he was prepared at once to grant a summons against the harmonium player or any other musician who had been requested to desist and did not do so.

He Was a Model Chauffeur.

James Morris, who has been chauffeur to Cardinal Bourne since the latter was presented with a motor car some years ago, and who had previously been coachman to Cardinal Vaughan, has retired. It is Morris's boast that he has safely driven nine princes of the church in the motor car, which he has piloted 18,000 miles "without ever getting the cardinal into trouble with the police for exceeding the speed limit." Cardinal Bourne has presented him with an autograph portrait of himself.

Japanese Toys in London.

A current U. S. Consular report issued from Washington states: "Japanese toys are rapidly supplanting those made in Germany" in many of our departments, "states a larger importer of toys in London. 'Thousands of gross of toy Union Jacks are made in Japan, and also the majority of the small nodding animals, jumping rabbits, and other novelties that are now so common.'"

Early Paintings of Cain and Abel.

In the pictures of the eastern churches Cain is slaying Abel with a dagger; in the west his weapon of murder is usually a club; sometimes, however, he is painted in the act of stoning his brother to death.Cain and Abel are generally well-"dressed men in early illustrations.
Lady Eastlake has the copy of a picture in which Adam's elaborate Gothic castle or mansion forms the background to the figures of the two brothers.—Old Scrap Book.

The Firm's Health.

At the annual picnic of a Manchester firm one of the packers was called upon after dinner to propose the toast to the firm. He was rather nervous, and began thus: "Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, I have very great pleasure in rising to propose the health of the firm, which will be very brief." —Manchester Guardian.How Concrete Work Was Made Easy For YouThis label is your assurance of satisfactory concrete workUNTIL a few years ago farmers considered concrete a mysterious material, that could be used successfully only by experts. They knew that upon the quality of the cement depended much of the success of concrete work. They had no means of testing cement, such as big contractors employ, and so could not be sure of its quality.

Yet the farmer needed concrete.

He was kept from using this best and most economical of materials by

1. Lack of knowledge of how to mix and place concrete.
2. Lack of a brand of cement upon the quality of which he could absolutely rely.

Canada Cement

has supplied both these requirements.

We employed men to make a thorough investigation of the farmer's requirements; to find out where and how he could use concrete with profit to himself; to discover all problems he might come across and to solve them. This investigation was expensive. But when it was completed we had the material for our campaign to show the farmer how and where to use concrete, and we printed a book, "What the Farmer Can do With Concrete," for free distribution. That book makes every farmer who reads it a concrete expert, as far as his needs are concerned. He finds that there is nothing mysterious about concrete—that a few simple rules supply all the knowledge required.At the same time we met the farmers' second objection—inability to test the quality of cement—by producing cement of a quality that does not need to be tested.The Canada Cement that you buy by the bag is the same Canada Cement that is sold by the train-load for great elevators, buildings and bridges.

Lecture—Types of Poultry for egg and roaster production.Address on Co-operation in Marketing.Those present will be given an opportunity to form an Egg Circle to operate in the locality of Athens.Mr. W. H. Smith issues the following foreword:In farming, as in manufacturing the profit increases proportionately as returns exceed the cost of production. By making all available sidelines pay the maximum dividend the margin of profit is materially widened.Poultry-keeping is practiced in a more or less haphazard manner on all farms. A little attention to proper methods will work wonders in making this branch of farming more profitable.Arrange to attend the meetings on January 8th and 9th, and avail yourself of this opportunity of securing reliable up-to-date information on this subject.

CONTRAST IN PRICES

His Honor Judge McDonald showed a representative of the Recorder a scrap book, containing newspaper clippings, which he has had in his possession for many years. One of the items was of peculiar interest was a clipping from the Recorder of November 11, 1864, containing a list of the prices of com-
