A STORY OF FORREST.

How the Peppery Actor Squared Ac-

Many years ago Edwin Forrest, the celebrated actor, when in New York, was in the habit of dining at Windust's, a noted restaurant on Park row that was a favorite resort of actors and literary men. It usually happened that Forrest would be joined by friends and that the little group would sit together at one table. On one occasion it chanced that an Englishman with a reputation for conceit and impertinence, who had scraped acquaintance with the tragedian, was one of the group.

Early in the course of the dinner the Englishman began to make criticisms which he considered pleasantries about Forrest's conception of certain roles. Encouraged by his own appreciation he gave full play to his humor and concluded each of his impertinences with, 'Pardon my freedom, sir; it's my way."

To the astonishment of all who knew Forrest's irascible disposition he bore the Briton's offensive remarks patiently and seemingly ignored them as far as possible. When, however, the nuts were brought in by the waiter, he took several cracked walnuts in his hand and, walking over to the Briton's place, jocularly snapped them successively in the face of that individual, lightly saying after each shot, "Pardon my freedom, sir; it's my way," and snapped him out of the restaurant.

Grewsome Football Legend. Where did football originate? Some people give ancient Chester, in England, credit for bringing the great winter pastime into existence. There is a record of football playing in that city in the year 1540, but Chestrians believe in a legend of much earlier

In the tenth century, it is said, a Dane was captured and beheaded by the citizens. Some one began kicking the head about the streets, others followed, and it was discovered that this formed a new and decidedly fascinating sport. This was repeated whenever possible, but as enemies' heads became scarcer and the entertainment of kicking them more difficult to procure it was at last arranged "for the shoemakers yearly on Shrove Tuesday to deliver to the draper, in the presence of the mayor of Chester, one ball of leather, called a football, of the value of 3s. 4d. or above."

There is evidently a fine precedent for those concerned in the game "losing their heads."

Miracles of Warfare. Until war ceases, which will be the greatest miracle of all, it will always be the exhibition ground of miracles. How can a bullet puncture a man's coat behind and before or piece his boot and sock and be gravely shaken out of both without wounding him? And what mysterious channel does this human body contain which leads a th weak, faltering step, pale faces hair's breadth from the seat of life, yet never rending it-a phenomenon vouched for by more than one army surgeon? Shells have burst thunderously between the very legs of soldiers and left them still soldiers. Pompom shells of two inches diameter have passed through legs and arms without shattering the bone or bursting at the impact, though there appears to be literally no room for such a merciful performance. In fact, a history of the escapes in war would be wild reading even after a course of Munchausen. A New Danger.

A story is told in a neighboring town, says the Troy Press, of the well meant efforts to do his duty of a hostler employed by a local doctor. It so happened that the doctor was attending two cases on the same street, one house which had just been blessed by an heir and in the other existed a slight case of scarlet fever.

The doctor instructed his man to take a "contagious disease" card and tack it up on the house where lived the fever patient. Unfortunately the messenger made a mix up in the location of the house, and what was the astonishment of passersby to read on the house where cooed a lusty newborn infant: "Contagious Disease. Keep

A Thousand Million Suns. Lord Kelvin once made some interesting calculations of the probable total amount of gravitation matter in the visible universe. He showed that if 25,-000,000 years ago 1,000,000,000 masses, each equal to our sun, had been distributed through a sphere about 18,-000,000,000,000,000 miles in radius they would now have acquired velocities about equal to those known to be possessed by the stars visible to us. There fore it is probable that the total amount of gravitational matter in the visible universe does not differ much from that of 1,000,000,000 suns. Sounded Familiar. "You wretch! You miscreant! You worst of villains!" exclaimed the heroine at rehearsal. The heavy villain, who had just joined the company, looked patiently aggrieved and said: "Excuse me, is that in the part or are you acting as stage manager.

Americans are known as a dyspeptic people. The extent of this disease may be inferred from the multitude of so-called "medicines" offered as a remedy. They are often in tablet form tives of the immediate effects of dyspepsia. The man who used them may feel better but is surely getting worse. They do not touch the real sause of the disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine specially prepared to cure diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It is not made to give temporary relief but to effect permanent cure. In ninety-eight cass out of every hundred it cures perfeetly and permanently.

PAST HIS FIRST YOUTH.

A Fowl That Was Hardly to Blam

The swan is said to be excellent eating when young, but as it is one of the longest lived of all creatures it is well to learn if possible how old your bird is before you cook it.

A gentleman in Lincolnshire, England, sent a dead swan to the Athenæum club, addressed to the secretary. A special dinner was to occur that week, and the committee without question turned the bird over to the cook.

At the dinner the swan, resting on a great silver dish, was a delight to the eye, but when it came to carving and eating the bird no knife seemed sharp enough to cut it, and of course eating it was out of the question. A few days later the donor met the secretary and said, "I hope you got my swan all right."

"That was a nice joke you played on s," returned the secretary. "Joke? What do you mean?"

"Why, we had the thing boiled for thirteen hours, and even then we might as well have tried to cut through the rock of Gibraltar." "You don't mean to say you had the wan cooked!" "Why; of course." "Man alive! I sent it to be stuffed and preserved as a curiosity in the club. That swan has been in my family for 280 years. It was one of the dentical birds fed by the children of Charles I. You've seen the picture of it. My ancestor held the post of 'master of the swans and keeper of the king's cygnets.' Well, I have no doubt

t was a bit tough."

Longfellow, John G. Whittier, William Cullen Bryaut, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Oliver Wendell Holmes and Walt Whitman. Others whose names occur almost simultaneously are William Cowper, Isaac Watts, Henry Ward Beecher, Daniel Webster, Wendell Phillips, George William Curtis, Richard Grant White, Julia Ward Howe, George W. Cable, William D. Howells, Charles Dudley Warner and Richard Watson Gilder. To these are ensily added Sir Walter Blackstone, John Wesley, Edmund Waller, Nathanicl P. Country Inns In England. A noted traveler says he has sampled a large number of botels in his time-even in Greece-but for barefaced dishonesty in the making of bills the bluff British landlord takes first place. "After charging twice tacks on a further charge for service, another for lights, another for bath, another for fire. In short, my experieuce of country inns in England-and I can speak with some authority-is that I pay as much a day at a shabby little country inn of England, where the food is poor and ill cooked, the attendance inferior and the beds poor, as I would at a good hotel in such towns as Springfield, Mass., or the very best in Switzerland or Germany. Indeed, it must have struck the average American that the incomparable Baedeker bardly ever finds it possible to recommend an English hotel."

The Original Silhouette.

The name silhouette was derived rom Etienne de Silhouette, a French minister of finance in 1759, who introduced several parsimonious fashions furing his administration called a la Silbouette, a name which continued to be applied to the black profile portraits. Silhouettes were executed in various

One of the simplest is that of tracing the outlines of a shadow's profile thrown on a sheet of paper and then reducing them to the required size elther by the eye or by means of a pantograph. The camera obscura and camera lucida are also occasionally used for the purpose.

His Appeal.

Little Georgie was taken by his aunt to see the newcomer, aged one day. He was duly and profoundly impressed with the specimen and asked where the little brother came from. "God sent it," answered the aunt reverently. The answer made a deep impressi on little Georgie, for that afternoon he was seen out in the backyard gazing up into the deep blue sky and spreading his diminutive apron expectantly as he said, "Dear God, please throw

When in England Lord Rendel lives in another suburb country place, Hotchlands, at Guilford. He spends five or six months a year at Cannes, and has another fine residence at Posilippo, near Naples.

Lady Rendel has long been wned for her exacting fastidious ness as regards the keeping of her gardens. At Thoreno she has 20 men doing nothing but looking after them, besides a head gardener, two foremen and a squad of experts for the greenhouses. The avenues alone provide work for several hands every minute of the day-not a fal leaf, burnt match or footprint allowed to remain on the sand. As the park lies on a hillside, the aged Lady Rendel never strolls through it, except in a tiny chaise drawn by two white donkeys, and two men with rakes follow at a distance to efface the traces of the wheels at once. What has attracted the King to he Chateau de Thoreno more than nything else, is the wonderful coltion of exotic plants and flowers. the grounds the flower beds are
