

WILD ANIMAL PICTURE CALLED 'CIRCUS' OF THE SCREEN

Magnitude of This Wonderful Film Must be Seen to be Realized.

If the circus may be said to be "The Greatest Show on Earth," then it may be truthfully stated that "THE LOST CITY" is "The Greatest Film of the Screen."

Deep into the jungle went the daring company of players to enact the scenes of this thrilling and intensely adventuresome story, braving the very jaws of death in their determination to picture the terrifying dangers of these strange lands, uncivilized peoples and ferocious beasts.

Hazardous indeed was the venture of the big company, but the story called for realism, and this could hardly have been possible with caged or tamed animals; hence the trip into the jungle itself to tempt the many beasts to display their natural ferocity before the camera while the actors and actresses portrayed the many scenes of the exciting story.

To the beautiful and equally courageous Juanita Hansen, who enacts the role of The Lost Princess, must be given a great share of the credit for the realism of this wonderful story, for it was to her that the story called for the most daring chances; and that she met the test again and again in scenes that must have seemed far more real than any spectator who views them can imagine, is monumental testimony to her courage and nerve—the more noteworthy because of the fact that she is but a mere slip of a girl.

To deliberately place herself within reach of ferocious, untamed lions and leopards, trusting entirely to the ability of another person to lasso a springing leopard in its mid-air flight before it could fasten its claws and teeth upon her, must call for more than ordinary courage, and one cannot fail to share the thrill that must have been her's when this sensational scene is shown in one of the many episodes of this most unusual screen drama.

One thing is certain "THE LOST CITY" will grip and hold any audience because it possesses that element of curiosity, as well as sensation, that make one intensely anxious to know the outcome of each episode, and because of this and the big manner in which it has been produced, there can be no doubt of its being an absorbing and thrilling entertainment for all.

FOOLED HIMSELF

A successful lawyer tells the following story about the beginning of his professional life. "I had just installed myself in my office," he said, "had put in a phone and had preened myself for my first client who might come along when, through the glass of my door I saw a shadow. Yes, it was doubtless someone to see me. Picture me, then, grabbing the nice shiny receiver of my new phone and plunging into an imaginary conversation. It ran something like this: "Yes, Mr. S., I was saying as the stranger entered the office;—I'll attend to that corporation matter for you. Mr. J. had me on the phone this morning and wanted me to settle a damage suit, but I had to put him off, as I was too busy with other cases. But I'll manage to sandwich your case between the others somehow. Yes, yes. All right. Good bye." Being sure then, that I had impressed my prospective client, I hung up the receiver and turned to him. "Excuse me, sir," the man said, "but I'm from the telephone company. I've come to connect your instrument."

POTATOES 75C. A BARREL IN AROOSTOCK

Reports received this morning from Carleton County and the northern Maine potato district indicate a further slump in the price of their staple product. In Fort Fairfield tubers were sold for 75 cents a barrel. That price is prevailing in most parts of Aroostock County.

In the northern part of this province the price is $1.00 a barrel with no demand at any price. The farmers who have disposed of only a very small part of their large stocks are despondent over the situation.

Montreal is now claiming the proud distinction of being the fifth largest city in North America. The city assessors' figures indicate that the city proper and the "adjoining municipalities" have a population of 900,000.

Canada's immigration in 1920 totalled 147,375, of which slightly more than half came from the British Isles. This is far below the volume of immigration in the old pre-war days, but it shows a gain of 25 per cent. on that of 1919.

Motor vehicle fees in the province of New Brunswick during the past year amounted to over $200,000. Upwards of 11,000 vehicles were licensed.

TOO MUCH FACE POWDER

"Any country professing Christianity which spends $750,000,000 on talcum powder and only $25,000,000 on Foreign Missions, has dismally failed to understand the great business of Jesus Christ in this world," said Rev. Neil Herman, in the course of a sermon at the King Street Baptist Church, at Dartmouth, in which he quoted copiously from a recently announced "luxury program" of the United States for the year 1919, to prove his claim that there is a great need for a Christian revival the world over.

"Yes," said Uncle Eben, just returned from a trip to California, "we experienced one pretty severe earthquake,—but I must say I rather enjoyed it. It was the first thing that happened since Polly and I married that she didn't think I was to blame for."

"O CANADA," THE NATIONAL ANTHEM.

(From La Presse, Montreal)

Several days ago we recalled to our readers that on January 21, 1891, we received from Boston a despatch announcing the death of Calixa Lavalee, the well-known musician, and author of the music for the national chant, "O Canada" written by Routhier. It is therefore just thirty years ago since Mr. Lavalee passed away, and it is noteworthy that the public is becoming more and more interested in the hymn which he set to music more than forty years ago now. Indeed, we learn there is a movement on foot amongst a group of Members of Parliament, Senators and others with a view of asking the Federal Government at the next session to proclaim "O Canada" the national anthem for the Dominion.

It is a happy idea and one which we heartily approve, alike from the point of view of arts as well as politics. When the whole voice of Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific shall be raised in chanting the same anthem, national unity will have made another great step forward.

A London despatch states that a "Warrior's Day" on which the proceeds of an extra performance at every legitimate theatre, movie house and music hall in Great Britain are to be devoted to the relief of unemployed ex-service men, will be held on March 31st. The Prince of Wales has been actively supporting the scheme, and the High Commissioners have been approached to suggest that the method adopted in Great Britain be made general throughout the British Empire adopted in Great Britain be made general throughout the British Empire on the same date for the purpose of benefitting workless soldiers in the various Dominion.

The gossip is never harmless till dead.

MEETING THE DIFFICULTY

(From the London Answers)

It was rather late and the strangers met in the Strand. They had both been dancing.

As they met the elderly man stepped to the left and the flapper stepped to the right. Then the flapper stepped to the left and the other stepped to the right. Then the old fellow tried to step both ways and the flapper invented a new two-step on the spot.

At last the veteran took the flapper by the waist.

"Let's waltz—and reverse," he said. So they went round twice, broke away and passed on.

THE PRINCE AS A HORSEMAN

(From the London Daily Chronicle.)

Only those who know something about riding will fully appreciate the skill and pluck shown by the Prince of Wales in keeping his mount and taking ten fences after he had lost his stirrups. No doubt His Royal Highness learned to ride "long" when he mounted the half-wild horses of Canada during his tour, which would help him when there was no support for his feet. It does not take an expert, however, to understand that the Prince must possess a wonderful "grip" and a first-rate balance to lead the field under these conditions.

The promise of business levelling up grows stronger with the lengthening of the winter days. The weekly trade report shows an improvement in orders in practically all lines of trade, which is of good omen.

A Viennese scientist says he has found out how to make old women look young by the use of the X-Rays. If this is true, The Boston Transcript thinks, the rush to Vienna may go far to restore the city to its former prosperity.

A PARADISE FOR SKI-MEN

Preparations are already being made for the annual carnival to be held at Banff amidst the glories of the Canadian Pacific Rockies. Banff is ideally situated for winter sports and this season the dates have been fixed from January 29th to February 5th inclusive. The Secretary writes that the programme is to be considerably extended. He says:

"Our Ski Hill has now been completed in accordance with the suggestions made by the world's champion, Anders Haugen of Broton, Minn., and we are confident that a new world's record will be established on our Hill this Carnival. We have decided to offer a substantial cash prize to the man who can beat the present world's record and to supplement this cash prize with a further prize of $10.00 for every foot or portion of a foot by which the record is broken on our hill. We will also follow the same principle in connection with the amateur championship only in that case the inducement or reward will be in the shape of an especially attractive prize. We have at the present time four different jumps so that we will be in a position to stage competitions in all classes of this very spectacular and hair-raising sport."

"We expect that ladies hockey will be a very important factor in our sports this season. We have already been advised that the ladies of Vancouver under the leadership of Mr. Frank Patrick, of professional hockey fame, expect to compete. The Regents, the Champions of Western Canada, of Calgary, the Patricias also of Calgary, a team from Edmonton, a team from Vulcan, Alberta, and perhaps teams from Winnipeg and

"An ice palace will be constructed on a basis far more extensive than anything heretofore attempted and the resident engineer of the Dominion Government is now at work preparing the plans for same. We expect this palace, when illuminated will be a view that will long live in the memories of those who will be fortunate enough to visit us and see it. The palace will be stormed at different times during the Carnival by representatives of all the different sports indulged in, and it is expected that the fire works display on these occasions will be most interesting."

TREES ON THE FARM

Farm forestry makes farming pay better by—

1. Marketing timber profitably.
2. Supplying timber for farm needs.
3. Furnishing employment for men and teams in winter.
4. Making waste lands yield a profit.
5. Increasing the sale value of the farm.

TOO FAST FOR DOC

The incident is related of a Scottish doctor, new to the gun, who adventured upon a day's rabbit shooting.

"Hang it all, man!" he exclaimed impatiently to the keeper who accompanied him, "these beasts are too quick for me."

"Aye, doctor," the keeper replied, "but surely ye didna expect them to lie still like yer patients, will ye kill them?"

A lie will go across the ocean and back again, while truth is putting on boots.

The Merchant Who Advertises

Is helping to keep money circulated at home because the advertising done by business men of other places to reach Wolfville buyers tends to attract money elsewhere.

If they find it pays to advertise, the home merchant who can advertise at less expenditure of money is even more favourably situated.
