COURT HAPPY RETREAT No. 150 I. O.
F., in Forsters' Hall, Derby, on the 3rd
Thursday of each month at 7.30 o'clock,

I: destroys human life. Many men have been brought to an untimely grave by strong drink. Many of our fellow men are lying under the sod today who, were it not for strong drink would be alive and well supporting their wives and children and helping to do the business of the country. Strong drink shattered their health, destroyed their nerves and brought them to premature graves. Men who once stood high among their fellows, men who men put a stop to this thing?" The traffic in strong drink must be stopped, it is false to all that is true and noble in character and commerce—it is destructive to all that is useful and elevating in society and it leaves the trail of the serpent in its pathway wherever it goes. It must die, though it lives long and dies hard, it must die, it shall die. The traffic cannot remain as it is, the evil cannot be continued. The best thinking men and women of every community are waking up to this duty. The country is becoming alive to its responsibility. The day will soon dawn when a majority of the people of the Dominion will say by their votes that they desire the total prohibition of manufacture, importation and sale of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes.

Robertson.

Events which concern Canada and the British Empire should have first place. Some concrete examples from past years were here cited, e. g., preferential trade; protective charges; dollar wheat; Quebec commission; etc. In foreign events those which have most bearing on the progress of civilization should be sought. If political or moral lessons are to be drawn from such events they should only be most liberal and general. If sound, such inferences may be the basis of the highest patriotism and good government in this age when the pupil of to-day is the voter of to-morrow.

Recent science and invention calls for a large share of all such lessons. Teachers should have most reliable and best maps and atlases to keep abreast of times. A number of best were here named. Such facts

An excellent and well prepared paper was then read by Miss Anna McLeod on "First steps in Geography."

This paper was discussed by Misses Cluston, Underhill and Dr. Cox.

Rev. Mr. Young was called on and gave

We know that our duty is the harmonious development of the child's moral, mental and physical being. The mental must not be supported at the physical and the moral for the moment. We supposed that we ought to direct our efforts to the mental side, but when we mean by morality, honesty, truthfulness, obedience to constituted authority and self respect, it seems to us that the most things to be taught are these. They would surely come better by example than by direct teaching. The child of Algebra or even book-keeping. The character to mould, one mind to train presents difficulties enough. The problems of Psychology are intricate and we cannot teach ourselves the "moral" process and concepts. Judgment, conscience and remorse bit when we realize that every one of the thirty or forty, and ities and most of all his moral and intellectual habits; for it is then that our work must bear fruit and we cannot get to work without a starting point. Every source of information ought to be sought that will add to our knowledge of the child. I sometimes think that teachers do not consult often enough with the parents. The

This paper was ably discussed by Mr. Cox, Rev. Mr. Young, Judge Wilkins and others.

The President announced that there was still a subject to be discussed namely Habits in oral expression.

As this paper had been assigned to no one in particular, Dr. Cox thought of a good idea to have questions asked on the subject.

A large number of questions were handed in and answered by the president and some of the teachers.

The President then addressed the meeting and tried to impress on each teacher the necessity of attending the summer school of science to be held next summer at Campbellton. He spoke of the importance of the subject.
