Obituary.

MRS. SAMUEL H. GARLAND.

At 6 o'clock last evening, there passed to its eternal reward, the soul of an eminently charitable and saintly old lady in the person of Sarah Jane Garland, wife of our highly esteemed fellow-citizen, Mr. Samuel H. Garland, H.M.C. of 22 Mullock St.

The death of Mrs. Garland severs another bond which has served to unite the present with that distant past in which Newfoundland was famed for the hardihood of her sons and the heroism and devotion of her daughters. Born at Lower Island Cove, Bay de Verde District on March 20th, 1850, Mrs. Garland was the daughter of the late David and Angus Garland of that place. In 1870, she married Samuel H. Garland and some fifty years ago she and her husband came to St. John's where they had since made their home.

That proverbial neighborliness which was so characteristic of the Newfoundland woman of past generations, was especially marked in the late Mrs. Garland and for fully half a century, hers was a familiar figure in the sick room or whenever her tender solicitude or loving care could in any measure lighten the burden of those amongst whom she lived.

It is no exaggeration to say of the departed lady, that she lived for others and reckoned not the sacrifice at which she often had to minister to the needs of the sick or the poor. During the terrible diphtheria epidemic which swept the city over forty years ago, Mrs. Garland did yeoman service. Without a thought of self, she threw herself into the fight against the disease whose ravages left many a home desolate and to her untiring vigilance and unceasing effort in the face of odds that must have overwhelmed one less dauntless many a child owed its life.

It was not strange that underlying those noble characteristics of mind and heart was the spirit born of faith in God and therefore all-sustaining. When, some forty-two years ago, the noted evangelists, Bromley and Hutchings conducted a series of services in St. John's, the late Mrs. Garland gave her heart to God and consecrated her life to his service. Her faith was no mere matter of form; its genuineness was demonstrated by every act of her daily life. Being herself without children, she was ever solicitous for the welfare of the poor and parentless and now that she has laid down her burden and passed within the veil, her reward must be in hearing those words of Sacred Commendation "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

The deceased leaves to mourn her loss, besides her ever devoted life-partner, one sister, Mrs. Mary O. Sparkes, one brother, Joseph J. Garland, both residing in Lynn, Mass., and a very large circle of friends.

The funeral takes place on Sunday at 2.30 p.m. from her late residence, 22 Mullock St.—COM.

JAMES A. KING.

A promising young man and well-known resident of the city, James A. King, passed to his eternal rest yesterday at the early age of twenty-eight, after a few months' illness, bravely borne with Christian resignation, at the Sanatorium, where nurses and doctors extended kindly treatment and did all that was possible to lighten the burden—a kindness that is appreciated by his parents and many friends.

The deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William King of St. Boniface and was educated at the Methodist College, leaving there to enter the firm of Ayre & Sons where he early won recognition. From there he went into business with Mr. George Jones; he was also a partner in the general store of Jones and King in his native town. He rendered valuable service to both firms and won many friends, who sympathized with his fond parents bereft of a good son. But it was in the Great War he rendered the greatest service, for when the call of King and Country came—James King was one of the brave young men who went overseas and withstood the trials and hardships of the war and was selected to take special training in artillery engineering because of his marked ability, and he returned to help in the building up of his native land.

He leaves besides a fond father and mother, two brothers, John and Macpherson, and two sisters, May and Beatrice, at home. Kind sympathy is expressed to the family by many friends who feel the loss of one who was so pleasant in manner and exemplary in conduct. The loss is felt keenly but "the Lord's will be done," and the great consolation is in knowing that father, mother, sisters, brothers and friends can meet once more on the happy resurrection morn.

A Reminder

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—Will you please afford me space in your widely read paper to say a few words as a reminder?

In a couple of weeks we will again have the annual Collection for the good Christian Brothers taken up at the different Catholic Churches in the City. Therefore, I would take this opportunity of reminding our good people, and especially the ex-pupils of St. Patrick's Hall and Holy Cross Schools of their responsibility in this respect.

If we but look around us to-day, we will see—not only in our own country, but in the great Dominion of Canada, the United States and other parts—numbers of ex-pupils of these schools filling remunerative positions of respect and responsibility. And many of these will agree with me when I say that were it not for the coming amongst us of this noble order, the Irish Christian Brothers, they would never have the chance to fit themselves for these positions.

Many of our more prosperous citizens can enjoy their comfortable and luxurious homes, and give the Christian Brothers, to a great extent, credit for their success in life.

We all must know that the greatest drawback to the Newfoundlanders at home and abroad, is the regrettable lack of education. Our people have proven their worth—not only in the great World War, but also in the United States, Canada and elsewhere—but when the chance for promotion comes, many of our men must take a back seat and hang their heads for the want of a little learning.

Large numbers of ex-pupils of St. Patrick's Hall and Holy Cross Schools have left their native land—some through choice, but the great majority being compelled—to make their homes in the great republic of the U.S.A. and Canada. Many of them, through the splendid training received in their school days, have made good; and for their success is there any one more anxious than the Masters?

To the many Christian Brothers, boys in and around New York, Brooklyn, Boston, Roxbury, South Boston, Cambridge, Montreal, the great West and other places, I say: "Be sure and have YOUR name in the list of subscribers to the Brothers' Collection this year."

There is no need for me to dwell on the wonderful work of this noble Order since their coming to Newfoundland nearly fifty years ago. There is a most noble work, the education—both secular and religious—of the young, and especially the children of the poor.

Then, in a couple of weeks we will have an opportunity of showing our appreciation of the great work of these grand men.

The better educated the people, the more prosperous will be our country. Realizing the heavy expense in connection with the up-keep of the schools, etc., let us, with the help of our old schoolmates abroad, make this year's collection "The Best Yet."

Having that I have not taken too much of your valuable space, and thanking you in anticipation, I remain

Meets With Accident

Mr. F. C. O'Connell of Harvey & Co., Ltd., received a wire from Montreal to-day which conveyed the news that his mother had fallen on the street in Montreal yesterday and broke her ankle. Mrs. O'Connell is at present on a visit to her daughter in Montreal and the accident is to be regretted.

As to-morrow will be the anniversary of Armistice Day, we recall that Mrs. O'Connell had five sons at the front.

AND WHICH EXPLAINS FOR IT.
SELF—AMICUS—HALLOWEEN—1923.

To Rev. H. V. Whitehouse,
Rector of St. James' Parish,
Carbonear.

Rev. and Dear Sir—As citizens of this town we have heard with feelings of sorrow that you are leaving us after a brief period of five years on account of a promotion to a larger sphere in the Master's vineyard. We desire to assure you of our high appreciation of your valuable services rendered during that period in all the functions of community life. We extend to you our best wishes for your future welfare and assure you a hearty welcome whenever you desire to renew old friendships. Please accept the accompanying purse of gold as an appreciation of your sojourn amongst us, and trusting you will keep a little corner of your memory green of all you loved in our old Carbonear, we feel sure that our sympathy and mutual love cannot better be expressed than in the following quotation. Among other beautiful sentiments of the author of "The Country Parson, who once had an experience like yours and wrote,

"When we asunder part,
It gives us inward pain;
But we shall still be joined in heart,
—And hope to meet again."
Signed on behalf of citizens,

M. J. HAWKER,
HUGH CAMERON,
EDWARD P. GOFF,
Presentation Committee.

Dear Friends,—In thus endeavouring to express my heartfelt thanks for your valuable gift and kind wishes, I am conscious of the fact that these words do not adequately express all that I would fain say. But this at least, my heart tells me that I must proclaim that all the while I have lived in Carbonear I have been treated by all denominations with more generous kindness than I had any right to expect. This alone must for ever make the memory of dear old Carbonear a very pleasant one to me.

You have all characteristically joined in again to do me this honour and pleasure upon my departure from amongst you. I trust God will bless and prosper you for your goodness towards me. To forget you would be to show myself ingrate, to think affectionately of you is my bounden duty and a real joy.

Good-bye, dear friends, and thank you from the bottom of my heart, for I can never forget you, as I am sure that you will never forget me. "God be with you till we meet again."
Yours very sincerely,
HARRY V. WHITEHOUSE,
Late Rector St. James' Parish,
Carbonear.
