

INTER CLUB BILLIARDS.
B. I. S. Reduce Masonic Lead.
 The Masonic Club is now only leading by 40 points in the Inter Club Billiard Tournament, as a result of last night's game between T. Manning (B.I.S.), and H. Foster (Masonic), which resulted in a win for the former by a margin of 164 points. The game which was only a fair exhibition, was witnessed by a goodly number of spectators. Manning went ahead after the 150 mark, and gradually drew away from his opponent to the end. Manning played a consistent billiards right through, but Foster could not get the balls running as desired. When these players met at the B.I.S. rooms, Foster won by a margin of 157 points. Last night's breaks were:—
T. Manning (B.I.S.)—400—10, 13, 13, 13, 18, 16, 12, 14, 12, 12, 18, 15, 15, 11, 16—220.
H. Foster (Masonic)—296—12, 15, 11, 14, 11—53.

Billiard Tournament Postponed.
 The remaining eight games in the B.I.S.—Masonic billiard tournament, have been postponed until after the Xmas season, so that all billiard enthusiasts will have a chance to see them.

ROCKY KANSAS, BUFFALO RING VETERAN, WINS LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE WORLD.

Defeats Champion Jimmy Goodrich—12 Thousand Witness Fight.
 BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 7.—Rocky Kansas of Buffalo, to-night won the light-weight championship of the world from Jimmy Goodrich, also of Buffalo. In a stirring 15-round replete with action every second, the veteran challenger outscored the champion and achieved the goal he set himself to win more than fourteen years ago.

Twelve thousand persons packed the Broadway Auditorium to the doors to witness the light-weight champion defend his title in a 15-round bout against Kansas. The challenger weighed in this afternoon at 132, three pounds under the limit, while Goodrich tipped the scales at 134.

Jimmy Goodrich received a great ovation when he entered the ring and Kansas' welcome was almost as enthusiastic.

Idol Of Buffalo.
 The new champion, a sturdy stock fighter of Italian descent has been the idol of Buffalo fight fans for years. His victory to-night surprised the experts who had figured that the youth and skill of Jimmy Goodrich would carry him through.

Goodrich was chosen successor to Benny Leonard in an elimination bout last summer, without fighting Leonard, who retired. Kansas was defeated by Leonard three times.

Kansas piled up an imposing lead in the first, third, fourth and fifth rounds. The strong "Buffalo Hercules" fought back in determined fashion and refused to relinquish his lead.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS.
Round One—The challenger forced the fighting, scoring several hard lefts to the champion's head. Kansas out-boxed Goodrich and shook him with left hooks.

Round Two—Rocky continued to swing his left with good effect, but the champion's defence stiffened. They exchanged hard right crosses to the head. Goodrich's face was reddened by Kansas' hooks, but he was fighting more skilfully.

Round Three—Both took punishment in in-fighting and then both missed swings. Kansas hammered home two hard left hooks in succession and continued his success in breaking through the champion's defence. Kansas missed a haymaking left hook at the end of the round.

Round Four—They fought more cautiously in the fourth. Kansas was warned for back-handing the champion. Kansas continued to play for Jimmy's face, landing his left almost at will. Kansas was trying hard.

Round Five—Goodrich caught Kansas with successful rights and lefts but he was not bothered and sailed into the champion viciously. Hard left swings and crosses opened up cuts in both the champion's eyes. The champion was bleeding freely at the end of the round but was still strong.

Round Six—Kansas continued to force the fighting. Jimmy missed rights and the lefts he landed did not seem to slow Kansas up any. Rocky's left jab was continually penetrating Jimmy's defence.

Round Seven—Goodrich boxed carefully both scored heavily. Jimmy scored a left to the head and two rights to the body which worried Kansas. The challenger's left jabs kept the champion's right eye bleeding freely.

Round Eight—Kansas shook the champion with a left jab to the chin but took a stiff right in return. They fought viciously and Referee Crowley had little breaking to do. Goodrich worked one, two, three, four hard body punches and a hook to the head, all of which Kansas failed to block.

Round Nine—The champion scored hard rights to the head. The champion was opening up his offensive but could not put the challenger on the defensive. Goodrich landed left and right swings but missed a haymaker. The veteran Kansas was apparently tiring after his fast pace-setting of the early rounds.

Round Eleven—They mixed it up with Kansas getting the better of the long-distance exchanges. Occasionally the champion would open up a burst of speed. Kansas slammed a right to Goodrich's stomach. The champion shook Kansas with a right to the body to end the round.

Round Twelve—Both started strongly in the twelfth. The scoring was about even in the in-fighting. Each scored vicious body blows. Goodrich shot a hard left to the body and Kansas clinched. Kansas slugged the champion and then they stood toe to toe. They were clinched at the bell.

Round Thirteen—The crowd roared its approval of the smart boxing. Kansas, who had been expected to wilt after a few fast rounds, opened the 13th with hard jabs to the champion's head. Jimmy scored hard rights to the body and then to the head. A right hook to the ear staggered the challenger at the bell.

Round Fourteen—The champion swung right and left to Kansas' body and punished the challenger opportunely. Kansas was on the defensive at last, and seemed a bit weakened by the champion's attack on his body. Goodrich was punishing Kansas' body and was receiving little return at the bell.

Round Fifteen—The champion started after the challenger as the final round started and scored hard rights and lefts to the body. Kansas fought back viciously, hooking again and again to the face. Kansas' blows seemed to lack the power he carried earlier. The fight ended with the fighters toe to toe and slugging.

HOCKEY RULES AND PROBLEMS.
 (By LOUIE MARSH, in Toronto Star).
 About Body Checking.

Body checking anywhere except into the boards is allowed by both pro codes, but the amateur code only allows body checking by the defenders in the 40-foot defence area. This is following up a new rule, tested out by the O.H.A. last season, which prohibits body checking on the forward lines. It makes a faster, cleaner game for the forwards can now devote their entire attention to the puck when they are in mid-ice, and do not have to be always protecting themselves from a hard body slam. A body check is all right to protect the goal, but on the forward line 75 per cent of the body checking is only handed out for the purpose of wearing a fast player down.

What is a fair body check?
 The pro and amateur codes agree upon one definition, but might differ of the fans know the difference between a legitimate body check and a charge.

The rule on body checking says "a fair body check shall be when a player bodies an opponent with the hip or side of the body while standing still or skating at a slow rate of speed. A charge is when a player races at another player at a high rate of speed, and crashes into him. A player who does that is obviously trying to injure his opponent and is not trying, only to relieve him of the puck or check his advance. He deserves a penalty.

A player is guilty of a foul when he keeps his stick between him and his opponent when he bodies him even if he does not raise it higher than his waist. A player who carries his stick shoulder high and thrusts it into his opponent's neck or face is guilty of the coarsest kind of a cross-check.

A player who bodies an opponent from behind is guilty of a charge. That is commonly done when an attacking player is standing in front of his opponent's nets waiting for a pass for a shot on goal.

How often have you seen a player sent headlong from a vigorous burst from behind while he was waiting for a pass?

Often, I'll wager, and yet a lot of them get away with it because the referee's eyes are glued on the puck when it is in the danger zone watching for kicks and offside. How the adherents of the defending side roar when one of their players is benched for this offence.

A player carrying the puck is not guilty of an illegal body check if he is skating fast and collides with a player who steps into his way; but if he goes out of his way and is looking to hit some one hard, using the fact that he is carrying the puck for an excuse for a fierce check, then he is penalized just the same as a player without the puck who makes a deliberate charge.

In the old days players were allowed to body check one another into the fence but there were so many players injured that the "no-body-checking-into-the-fence rule" was introduced. It is one of the best rules in the book.

French Attack on Rebels Resumes

NEW HIGH COMMISSIONER CLARES FIGHT WILL BE CLARIFIED ON.

BEIRUT, Syria, Dec. 4.—Simultaneously with the arrival of France's new High Commissioner, Syria, Henry De Jouvenel, the French have gone on the offensive against rebel Druses in Southern Lebanon. They began throwing shells at their artillery against various points occupied by the Rebel Druses, hoping to surround and capture 5,000 rebels, who are still in the area. After the bombardment has been completed, infantry and cavalry are expected to be thrown into the area against the tribesmen who, at a certain war, at the headquarters of the Attrash, their leader, announced that it was their purpose to give battle to the French to their last man. The shells of the French had their principal target the town of Hasbaya, to the southwest of Tybrius, and report has it that this stronghold of the Druses was slowly leveled. No civilians were in town.

Peace Demanded.

High Commissioner De Jouvenel, his first day in Beirut, told the newspaper men that order and security must be restored before peace of the Rebels could be discussed. Military operations already underway would continue, notwithstanding civil reforms. To General Gamel, leader of the French Forces, M. Jouvenel in an address while conferring a decoration upon him, stated that it was the intention of the French to keep up the fighting.

"We would have preferred peace," he said, "but since the rebels refused to fight, we must fight until the day when order and security return to this territory." The League of Nations has entrusted to us and we can establish the independence and prosperity to which people of Lebanon and Syria are entitled and which rebellion alone has delayed. Peace to those who want peace; war to those who want war.

The new High Commissioner received numerous pledges of cooperation from the 10,000 persons comprising delegations from all the political and religious groups of the country with the exception of the rebel Druses.

Expecting Too Much

WHY THE APPLES ARE LEFT ROT.

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. (Canada Press)—Criticism of the farmer lets his apples waste has been going on for this year. One farmer wife comes to his defense:

"An orchard is counted for so many barrels at so much in a farmer's eye. This year the price is low owing to the large yield, and it costs just as much to pick and pack the apples as when the price is low times as much. As for price it is away. I know one lady who tried to send word to her city friends to come and get all they wanted. They made excuses—the cellar was too hot for apples, or they had barrels. Had she hired a truck at from two to three dollars a day and bought barrels at one dollar each—that is the price here—paid express to the city, the fruit would have said 'it was nice of you to send them,' but afterward, they are so plentiful, why couldn't they have an instance is quoted of a farmer with 100 barrels ready to ship and wind stripping his trees, but he would not give them away. 'Should he? I have gone into the market and seen hundreds of dressed but if I wanted one I had to pay for it. The farmer likely had pigs. What lots of people would call for and throw away.

"This summer an organization got out to our lake 25 boys for two weeks and asked us farmers to feed them. We made pies, cakes and everything but bread for the two weeks. They would happen if one of our men got 25 of our boys to the city and feed them two weeks? I am sure the boys would like it just as much as the city boys did."
