LARGE SHIPMENTS

Few Farmers on the Market-Live Hogs Shipped Monday.

The attendance at the local market to-lay was small, owing no doubt to the ain of the night and the fact that to-lay is Farmers' Day at the Western 'air. The only offerings were in the fruit market All the dealers received large shipments of fruit today including pears, plums, peaches, grapes and blueberries. The blueberries received today will most The blueberries received today will most likely be the last of the season as the supply is nearly finished.

Mr. McIntyre stated that this week's shipment of live hogs, which was to have been made today, has been postponed until next Monday. No price was announced, but it will be nearly the same as that which prevailed at the last shipments $8 15 per cwt.

Wanted to Make Room to Bury His Wife in Aylmer Cemetery.

[Special to The Advertiser.] moved the body of a child from one grave to another in Avlmer cemetery in order to make room for the remains of his wife, T. E. Pound, of London, was fined $1 and $8 costs by Magistrate Hunt. The charge was laid by Mrs. Foley, of Crosswell, Mich., a sister-in-law of the defendant. The child was Mrs. Foley's by former marriage. Mrs. Foley is the daughter of the late Oliver Baker, of Aylmer, who bought a piece of land in the Aylmer Cemetery for the burial of himself and family. On April 30, Mrs. Thomas Pound, of London another daughter of Mr. Baker, died and her husband went to the cemetery to make the arrangements. Although there was room in the plot for two more bodies, he ordered the grave of the child deg up. This the caretaker did and found the skull and some other small portions, which he put in a band box, and deposited in the little cemetery house until after the funeral of Mrs. Pound, which took place on May 2. When Mrs. Pound's casket was lowered into the earth the caretaker shovelled some earth in, and then laid the box containing the remains of the infant in the earth, before filling up the grave

These facts were proved to the satisfaction of the magistrate, who found that such matters had been at first governed by the ecclesiastical law of England, and had later been incorporated in the and were embodied in the Canadian criminal code.

He held that when human remains were interred with the solemn rites of religion, with the consent of the next of kin, and with the consent of the individual in whom the property is visited in the plot, they could not be disturbed, to cause the next of kin to sorrow and grieve. He considered that the present offence had been committeed thoughtlessly and ignorantly, and made the fine in accordance

The resolution committee reported ion-concurrence in the resolution. The convention sympathized with Arcaud's position, but as it was largely a question of jurisdiction, and in ther parts of the country the two orders work together harmoniously, it was decided to take no action.

The report of P. E. Draper, the secetary-treasurer, was submitted, showing receipts of $15,699.79, and expenditures of $10,219.82, leaving a balance of $5,479.97. The Great Farce Comedy "Billy." There is a "forgetinary" mother in the farce "Billy," at the Grand twice today and twice tomorrow, matinee and night, who blames her daughter for all her mislaid belongings, and then finds them in her hand. She is nice and fat and ought to be good natured accordingly, but she isn't. She is nervous and fussy, and irritable and very amusing, and character is not the least of those which make you laugh when you go to see "Billy." The part is played with fine discrimination by Miss Mary Anderson. Mr. Albert Phillips and Miss Leila Shaw as "Billy," and the sister, are the chief funmakers. Seats selling at special prices,

"The Great Divide."

In the Messrs. Shuberts' production of "The Great Divide," which will be seen at the Grand Opera House for an engagement of two nights, com-mencing Friday night, with matinee Saturday afternoon, there will be two picturesque and decidedly unusual scenes disclosed. One is a cactus farm on the great desert of Southern Arizona, and the other is home-made house on a plateau high up in the Catilina Mountains. These scenes are said to be veritable triumphs of art, and form a striking centrast to the one in which the final act takes place, a typical New England farm house of the better class No expense has been spared to make the production perfect in every detail, and the cast selected is claimed to give a perfect performance of this great American play.

DODGE BIG BOX

A large packing-case, which for some mysterious reason had been placed at the top of the open grand stand at the exhibition grounds, was the cause of a great deal of consternation during the evening performance on Tuesday. Some small boys set the box teetering, and an extra jolt caused it to shoot down the incline. The spectators cleared, screaming, right and left, and it was next to a miracle that someone did not encounter the heavy case. Two young men stood and braced themselves and caught it after rolling about 30 feet, and prevented

Mason & Risch Announcement

Rather than disappoint our many friends who have waited for weeks past that they might have an opportunity of purchasing Canada's greatest piano—the Mason & Risch -made specially for exhibition purposes, we have at considerable expense, although not able to secure space in the Palace, erected a large tent at the rear of the Palace, in which one of the finest displays of Mason & Risch Grands, Upright Pianos and Player-Pianos are on exhibition.

Mason & Risch will deem it a favor if intending purchasers and music-loving people will call and inspect this exhibit.
