BARRETT-BRITTON GO HAS BLOWN UP

Old Ex-Champ Swings Clean To Floor in Workout, Injuring Shoulder.

BY FAIRPLAY.

New York, Dec. 20.—No ship that ever stopped a Teutonic torpedo has anything on that Jack Britton-Bobbie Barrett battle which was to have been held in Philadelphia on Christmas afternoon. The proposed bout is spurles versenkt, scuttled, foundered, turned turta, blown up—no one can find trace of it. It is not Bobby's fault; he was all set to give Philly the merriest Christmas it has enjoyed since William Penn climbed to the top of the city hall.

He was rarin' to go. It was the for-hail.

He was rarin' to go. It was the former welter champ caused the calamity. In the course of a training bout Jack took a roundhouse swing at his opponent, forgetting his old, brittle bones and his shaky limbs. Missing the object of his punch, he took a Charley Chaplin fall and put his shoulder out of commission. So Philadelphia will be permitted to eat its Christmas turkey without sauce. Otherwise Jack Britton is fine. We saw him at the ringside at the Walker-Krug battle, and he looked to be in great shape.

He had the bloom of youth upon his cheeks, and his eyes were bright and fiashing.

He had the bloom of youth upon his cheeks, and his eyes were bright and fiashing.

"I'd like to have been able to get into the ring with Barrett," said Jack, "because I know I'm coming back, and the sooner I convince the public that I've got two or three years of good fighting left in me, the happier I shall be."

Must Improve.

Unless Mickey Walker improves in ring science, the first real scrapper with a hefty left that he meets is going to remove the welter crown from Mickey's brow. Walker is a Terry McGovern in everything but the punch. Since he is not a kuccker-out, he has got to buck up in boxing skill. The champ was censored for pounding Phil Krug when Krug had fallen fhrough the ropes and, when returning, held out his glove for the usual handshake. The reason Mickey ignored the friendly hand and walloped the man who proffered it was because of rage at Krug's trickiness. You see, Walker had rushed Krug and so assailed him about the body that Phil lost his balance and went half through the rope. It was clear that he had not slipped or been pushed; but he was clever enough to wight to make it appear as though he had been shoved. That was the reason he held out his hand, hoping to trap his opponent into accepting it, and thus having it unanimous that he had gone through the ropes not as the result of punches. Walker saw the idea, and laced into his man something terrible.

He was roundly hissed, but it looked

While the St. Louis Browns finished only a game behind New York last season, Manager Lee Fohl has his work cut out if he is to do as well in 1923.

What about Shocker? Will the ace of the Browns' staff have another big year?

Then there is "Shucks" Pruett, the young collegian, who was such a great help to Fohl. Was he a flash or will he improve with the year's experience? Can Ray Kolp come through in such an impressive manner as he did in 1922? Kolp hasn't a great deal of stuff, but is a smart pitcher.

Will Van Gilder, the enigma of the staff, really do the fine work he is capable of?

dent the club was to be rebuilt.

Steve O'Nell is still a great catcher, but he is a veteran. The Indians' star backstop is going rather than coming. However, there are several clubs in the American League that could use a veteran backstop like Steve to great advantage. In return, they might be table to offer some promising youngsters. Myatt, with the year's experience he had at Milwaukee, seems ready to make a big go of it in the American League. Cleveland certainly thought so or it would never have made the big offer it did for his services.

The result of their deliberations was the invention of the "mud" shoe. In place of the customary cleats on these shoes, a large round rivet of equal cleat length was used. To make the idea stronger the in-rentors added a composition of graphite and petroleum. This was spread over the entire shoe, resisting mud and also water and making the shoes water-

The inventors kept their solution in strict confidence and there was a great deal of mystery around the football field the day before the "mud" shoes were to be used for the first time. It was admitted that the idea could not be patented, but the authorities felt cortain that they could have the idea. ertain that they could have the idea

The following day the varsity eleven appeared on a muddy field wearing the new shoes, but, much to the consternation of the coaches and the players, the members of the opposing team moved about as lightly and as free from mud as the members of the home eleven.

And, after the game, it was discovered that the opposing eleven had used the same formula, unconscious that the other team had taken advantage of it.

HAMILTON TIGERS TO PLAY IN WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Dec. 20.—A nice series of exhibition games has been arranged for hockey fans of Woodstock, who will have an opportunity of looking over their junior and intermediate teams before the new year is well st-rted. The first game will be played next Tuesday, when the Ingersoil juniors will be here to play against the local youngsters, and a return game will be played on Thursday next week. The biggest attraction, however, is the visit of the Hamilton Tigers here on Dec. 29 to play against the Woodstock intermediates. On New Year's Day the St. Marys juniors will play against the Woodstock juniors, who, after these three games, should be in good trim for the O. H. A. season.

PAN DRIEDS READY FOR GROUP AFFRAY

Tillsonburg, Dec. 20.—The local inter-lates are getting into fine fettle as result of nearly two weeks hard work on the ice. As there is a large number of aspirants to choose from, the Pan Drieds should have a fairly strong team on the ice for the local grouping.

"Gentleman Jim" made a brief return to the squared circle, not to face an opponent but to referee a bout between a couple of tissueweights in a Christmas Fund benefit. The two youngsters who did their stuff like veterans are Willie Wargo (right) and Harold Jensen (left). Note
