"Bluebeard" Hoch Hanged Yesterday

Bigamist and Wife Killer Pays Penalty of His Crimes at Chicago.

Desperate and Prolonged Attempt of Counsel to Secure Pardon.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Johann Hoch, convicted of bigamy, confessed murderer and wife killer, was hanged yesterday at the State Prison at Joliet, Ill.

He faced death with a prayer on his lips, and the officers of the law who took his life, and for the words "Good-bye, my dear wife," which he uttered as he was led to the gallows.

The last scene occurred at 11:45 while his attorneys were making desperate efforts for more time. His death, the lawyers say, has not ended the appeal that was made in his behalf and they promised to carry the case to the supreme court of the United States.

Mr. Hoch was hanged at 12:05 p.m. shortly after 9 o'clock Hoch's attorney filed an application in the United States circuit court for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that Hoch was held in violation of the constitution of the United States.

The attorneys argued that the writ should be issued because the state court was not a competent jurisdiction to try Hoch, that the sentence was in violation of the 14th amendment of the constitution.

Judge Remains Firm

"Judge, if I did not think that this poor man had been deprived of a fair trial, I would not have asked you to execute him."

Judge Landis, who had been making his way toward the elevator as rapidly as he could, stopped and confronted the attorney.

"I will not grant one," "I am not this man's rights of every other citizen?" demanded Maher.

"Yes," replied Judge Landis, "but I say there is no appeal in such a case," and he left the building.

Will Continue Case

Attorney Maher was soon joined by Attorney Comerford and together they set out to find Judge Landis. As they turned away from the Union League Club house they met a newspaper man who had been waiting for them.

Both attorneys declared that the case would be continued and the appeal would be made to the supreme court of the United States.

It is decided that Hoch at the time of his execution still possessed the right of appeal, proceedings of a criminal nature, the lawyers declare, will be instituted against all the public officers who had anything to do with the execution.

The body was given to a local undertaker, who buried it at his own expense.

Ian Hamilton and the Japs

Subjects of the Mikado Angered By English General's Criticism.

London, Feb. 22.—We learn, says the London Express, that grave difficulties have arisen owing to the publication of Lieutenant Sir Ian Hamilton's reminiscences of the Russo-Japanese war.

Several of Gen. Hamilton's statements have caused great offence in Japan and the matter was brought to the notice of the King on the occasion of the departure of the mission to invest the Mikado with the Garter.

It was felt that the publication of the book would be a serious blow to the prestige of the British Empire and that the King's chief minister should take steps to have the book suppressed.
