

PLAN SUBSIDY TO BRITISH INDUSTRY

Baldwin Proposes Measure of Aid To Manufacturers.

UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION

Labor Motion of Censure Lost In Commons, 374 To 143.

LONDON, June 29. (Associated Press Cable).—A motion of censure, moved by Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, the Labor leader, against the Government for failure to solve the unemployment problem, was voted down in the Commons to-night, 373 to 113.

The motion declared that the Government "after a lengthy period of industrial depression and confronted by an alarming growth in the number of unemployed has failed to take measures to deal with a situation of unprecedented gravity."

The debate had a strong flavor of political controversy, the Government speakers having the early report that the late Labor Government has equally failed to solve the same problem. The report demonstrated that the Government had no heroic measures to propose.

Premier Baldwin argued that except in the coal, iron, steel, shipbuilding and engineering industries, which were more affected than others, unemployment was not much greater than a year ago when Labor was in office. Moreover, it should be remembered that the population had increased and emigration had been greatly restricted, while the difficulties were aggravated by the growing foreign tariffs against British trade.

FOREIGN POLICY.

The premier laid stress on the fact that the British foreign policy was unwaveringly devoted to fostering peace in Europe—an absolutely essential concomitant of any industrial progress at home, and in this connection, he said, the Government hoped for much from the efforts to secure an agreement between France, Germany, Belgium and Great Britain, which would go far to make foreign credits flourishing.

The Government had a big electricity scheme in contemplation, but the pre-mler could say nothing about it until the committee had presented its report.

Mr. Baldwin then came to his point when he said the Government had been considering, and asked the House to consider, the possibility of subsidies to industries which at the moment seemed to be beaten down into a position of helplessness.

He suggested subsidies on production, or subsidies on specific contracts and orders mainly for export, or subsidies in especially distressed districts in aid of local rates and railway freights. He admitted the difficulties were great, but thought them not insurmountable.

Asked whether this applied to coal, he replied that he did not propose to touch the coal question, pending a settlement of the present dispute in that industry.

BRITISH FILMS.

Another interesting point dealt with by the prime minister was the film industry, proving that the recent agitation against United States film pro- duce-ance had influenced the Govern- ment. He declared that the time had arrived in the national interest to in- quire into the possibility of providing that a majority of the moving picture films exhibited in Great Britain should be of British make.

He had no specific proposal on the subject, but only suggested an exam- ination of the question, having regard for the enormous power of the film de- veloped for propaganda purposes and the danger to which the industry and the empire subjected themselves if they allowed this method of propaganda to remain entirely in the hands of foreign countries.

MIGRATION UNDER SETTLERS ACT

Service League Considers Problem of Ex-Soldiers.

COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED

Haig Hopes For Decision "In No Uncertain Terms."

OTTAWA, June 29. — (Canadian Press Dispatch).—"If we fail to develop the magnificent resources of this empire, may they not be taken away from us and given to somebody else?" asked Gen. Sir Andrew Russell, of New Zealand, addressing the biennial parliament of the British Empire Services League here to-day. The question of migration of British ex-service men within the empire was under consider- ation, and Sir Andrew drew a compar- ison with the man who had one talent and buried it. It was taken away from him, Sir Andrew said, be- cause he failed to use it. The great heritage of the British race might be lost to somebody else if it was not made use of.

After the opening ceremonies and the adoption of reports, the conference of ex-service men of the empire got down to resolutions and took up first the proposal to extend British Empire settlement and to appoint a committee to study the question of means of promoting more rapid migration of veterans. Commander A. P. Hett, of Great Britain, moved the resolution. Sir Andrew seconded it, and urged the need for more rapid settlement under the British Empire Settlement Act. Capt. W. Appleby, of Great Britain, promised that the British Legion would select for settlement overseas its most suitable men, and, above all, its best women. He said the employment service of the legion regarded the se- lection of the women more important than that of the men. It was the women who would encourage and sup- port the man in his early struggles in a new environment, and her capacity as a wife and mother would make all the difference in the success of the settling family. He said the settlers now being chosen for Western Aus- tralia under the agreement with that Government were being taken fresh from the County of Northumberland, because they were most suited to the settlement scheme.

SPEAKS FOR CANADA.

Major Dr. W. D. Sharpe, retiring president of the G. W. V. A., spoke for Canada. The Dominion needed farmers, he said, at present overindustrialized and could absorb city dwellers from overseas. He thought he could promise to any British ex-service men who were able and willing to take up farm life that they could make a living in Canada. He suggested that the group system of migration was not as useful to Canada as the individual group settler.

It was necessary that the immigrant adopt the customs and spirit of the country as soon as possible if he was going to be content and prosperous. If the British Legion contemplated send- ing groups to Canada it would be well to consult with provincial authorities beforehand to make sure that suitable locations could be found for such groups. He denied that Canada had a prejudice against English settlers. He humorously remarked that Scotch and Irish people were assimilated into Canadian life more easily than Eng- lish, but he thought there could be no doubt about the welcome awaiting the English if they were prepared to be- come Canadians and not try to "bring their own atmosphere with them." Dr. Sharpe answered a number of ques- tions concerning conditions in differ- ent parts of Canada, the relation of farm wages to city wages, and such mat- ters.

James Cornell, Western Aus- tralian, said that his state required set- tlers of British stock, and would give a warm welcome to members of the British Legion. Captain J. L. Bennett, of Northern Ireland, emphasized the need for definite proposals from the domi- nions which might be placed before im- pending emigrants in the Old Country. The conference adjourned until Tues- day morning.

In opening the proceedings Mr. Lemieux, welcomed the delegates to the half of the Canada. He paid a glowing tribute to Earl Haig, who had been the foremost leader in war, and who continues to devote a still abounding energy to the work of re- storing on former foundations that peace which our soldiers have won and which all lovers of humanity wish to maintain. Mr. Lemieux referred to plans for a war memorial in Ottawa. Other memorials would be preserved in the Parliament buildings.

THE PREMIER

Premier King warmly welcomed the delegates and added his tribute to Earl Haig. The field marshal's high praise of the Canadian troops, included in his public speech on Sunday, would be pre- served as one of the most precious records in Canadian history, he said. He believed the conference would be of great value, not only to ex-service men, but to all Canadians and to the empire generally. To the delegates he urged that they keep "the vision splendid" and go forward in their labors for the preserving of peace which they had fought to win.

Earl Haig said that satisfactory progress had been made by the league in the last two years. There was room for further progress and ample de- velopment, and this he felt sure would be achieved for the benefit of ex-sol- diers and the wider interests of the empire as a whole.

At the conclusion of the opening for- malities S. Lister, chairman of the British Legion, was elected to the chair of the conference.

Earl Haig expressed his warmest thanks to Premier King and Speaker Lemieux for their words of welcome and his appreciation of the welcome he had received in Ottawa. The presence of so many delegates at the conference showed that there was whole-hearted support for the noble objects and ideals of the league and inspired him to feel that ex-service men were ready to give to the prosecution of its aims that loyal and devoted service which distinguished our soldiers in the war.

GREAT OPPORTUNITY.

"We have indeed a splendid oppor- tunity before us as a league," continued Earl Haig, "provided always we strictly adhere to the fundamental principles on which we started—that we are non- political and non-sectarian. As at our last conference two years ago, I em- phasized three words as our ideals: Unity, Comradeship and Peace. The paramount task of this league, of course, is the establishment of the league itself and so our first ideal is that of unity even more than that of charity, must begin at home. It is quite im- possible to expect to have a successful imperial organization unless each of the constituent organizations are united in themselves.

He said to say that our records during the past year show that we are generally and steadily pressing forward to greater unity. There is another great object included in our de- tails, that of encountering migration throughout the empire. Much practical assistance you will see has been given to ex-service men desiring to migrate throughout our great empire but much remains to be done, and I hope that after full discussion this conference will record the decisions at which it arrives in no uncertain terms. I feel confident that whatever decisions you may come to will be ones which are achieved pro- gressively and steadily.

and arrange to look after them until they have made good."

Capt. Donald Simpson, secretary of the league, then presented his report.

Captain Ian MacKenzie, of Vancou- ver, Major W. D. Sharpe, of Brantford, former president of the G. W. V. A., and Col. F. F. Clark, of Toronto, were selected last night to represent Cana- dian ex-service men at the conference of the British Empire Services League. The meeting, which was held in cam- era, was attended by Earl Haig and representatives of ex-service men's or- ganizations.

Considerable trouble was experienced in selecting the representatives. Earl Haig stated that the G. W. V. A., the only constituent unit in Canada, was entitled to three seats, but left with them their disposition. The G. W. V. A. officers decided to give up one of their seats and the third seat was given to the balance of the organizations represented. Some argument ensued be- tween the Canadian Legion and the United Veterans, the Army and Navy Veterans, the Amputations Association, the Canadian Legion and, eventually, the G. W. V. A. officers picked Col. Clark, a member of the Canadian Leg- ion, to represent the Canadian Leg- ion. I want to thank you for any- thing I have been able to do. You can depend on me to continue to do my utmost for the league."

HAIG RE-ELECTED. Ottawa, June 29.—Old comrades, I thank you for the honor you have done me in re-electing me grand pres- ident of the British Empire Service League. I want to thank you for any- thing I have been able to do. You can depend on me to continue to do my utmost for the league."

Thus Earl Haig acknowledged the ovation which greeted him on his re- turn to the conference chamber after his re-election to the grand presidency. The Prince of Wales was enthusi- astically re-elected grand president. Delegates from South Africa and Burma proposed and seconded the motion, and it was indorsed on a standing vote amidst great applause. A cable was dispatched to Sir Andrew Russell, ac- quainting him with the action of the conference.

CONTRACTS LET FOR ROAD WORK

Province To Lay 187 Miles of Paving This Season. COST ABOUT $4,350,000

Flat-Rate Subsidy of 50 Per Cent. To Counties.

Special To The Free Press

TORONTO, June 29.—Ontario's road building program for the present season as outlined to-day at the Parlia- ment Buildings by Hon. George S. Henry, minister of highways, involves the construction of approximately 187 1/2 miles of paved highways. The cost of the work will total in the neighborhood of $4,350,000, this figure including the cost of bridges and other works in ad- dition to that of the road construction proper.

Mr. Henry stated to-day that con- tracts for the whole of this work have now been let and that a great part of it is going to be completed in progress. If the construction of the highways is ac- celerated, he declared, showed a slight decrease over last season when a price of $25,000 per mile for paving was realized, this price representing a re- duction of almost 50 per cent. from the price at which Hon. Mr. Biggs had been constructing the highways.

The aim of the highways depart- ment, according to previous statements from its minister and from Premier Ferguson, is to complete the Ontario end of the Montreal to Windsor highway. A stretch of 600 miles of fine paved road will then have been provided for the province's motor traffic.

NEW POLICY OF GRANTS

The new policy of highway grants whereby the Government is to pay a flat subsidy of 50 per cent. to the coun- ties instead of the present subsidies ranging from 40 to 60 per cent, was foreshadowed to-day at the Parliament Buildings in the visit to Mr. Henry of a deputation from Grey County headed by Hon. Dr. Jamieson, M.P. In view of the fact that the time is near at which the new system is to come into oper- ation the deputation visited the highways minister to urge his co-operation with Grey County in securing a high type of road for the urban municipalities within its boundaries.

Under the new system of grants the roads within urban municipalities are taken over by the counties and built by them, the Government paying the same subsidy upon them as upon the other county roads. The desire of the Grey County deputation was that the county build pavement roads in the urban
