

Blessed.

Blessed is the man with a short name when he pays for space by the line.

Blessed is the man who giveth his duplicates to a young collector, for he shall be saved the expense of starting a stamp company.

Blessed is the man who runneth a stamp paper successfully, for unto him shall be given $1 a year profit.

Blessed is the editor who has a wife, for she can address and wrap the papers for him.

Blessed is the collector who cannot read for he shall be saved the pain of reading some of the philatelic poems.

Blessed is the publisher who has a pull with the Postmaster General for unto him shall be given second class rates.
