At a recent sale, the 2-year-old stallion Oh So, by Nutwood, was purchased by ex-Senator Cameron, of Wisconsin, for $12,000.

A turf authority says: Get a high order of individual excellence with your fashion able pedigree, and you will never encounter a dull market.

It is said that Holm has developed a most savage temper. He will attack either man or horse, and his future is a subject of much concern to his owner.

A new western flyer in Toronto, whose 2-year-old record of 2:24, gives promise of much better work when the trotter has more age and experience.

Two.
How does a woman love, there, no more, Though love forever its love departs, Deep in sorrow or deep in sin, Ourselves beneath her heart within, One alone by night and day, Moves her spirit to our prayer, One who only can call her soul Back from the grasp of death's control, Though love's love, or in love's pride, Yes, when she smother's another's bride, Still for her master her life makes mean, Once is forever, and once alone.

How does a man love? Once for all, The sweetest times of life may call, Sorrow and love, or death, or day, Joy's red rose, love's love, For one, more or less, or from, The sweetest times of life may call, Love's love, or death, or day, Through storm or sunshine, by day or night, Wandering, falling, asleep, awake, Though love's love, or in love's pride, Once is forever, and once alone.

M. S. Chard, of Astoria, Ore., paid $2,000 for a 2-year-old trotting stallion, and on going to his stall one morning found him dead. He was apparently in perfect health the evening before, and no cause could be assigned for his death.

Jockey Tarr, contradicts the assertion attributed to him that he is forming a "jockey trust" to raise the prices. He is not behind anything of the sort, but on the contrary believes the jockeys are a rickety well paid now under the present prices of twenty-five dollars for a winning and ten dollars for a losing mount.

J. Porter, the little colored boy who has made such a fine reputation as a successful light weight jockey in the west, is a son of John Porter, the humpbacked charity, who himself rode races long before the war. He also rode during the seventies with some success, once or twice having the mount on the great Ten Hroch.

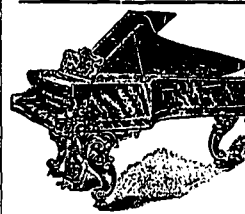

A physician has hit upon an excellent way of stitching rubber in the treatment of wounds. He places one end of the strip of rubber upon one lip of the wound, and then stretches the rubber to the other end to the opposite lip. In this way he draws the several parts closely together, and the elastic rubber continuously holds them there.

CANADIAN RETAILERS!

Please Read Why You Should Use a National Cash Register.
BECAUSE IT SHOWS

- The amount of your cash sales.
- The amount of your credit sales.
- The amount of money paid in on account.
- The amount of money paid out on account.
- How many times the drawer is opened for change.
- The amount of money taken out and not charged.

It can be used with or without a cashier in five different ways.

It tells the amount of your sales of two or three kinds of merchandise, such as cigars and soda water, or any other special branch of the retailer's business.

It renders a detailed statement of the amount of business done each day.

Don't lose five times the price by waiting for prices of our Register to come down; they are more likely to advance than decline.

The "Charge," "Red on Account," "Paid Out," "C. O. D." and "Change" or "Ticket" keys will pay for the system in less than six months. Call and see them, or drop a postal and have our travelling call and explain our Registers.

She Was All Right.
"I hope, Jennie, that you have given the matter serious consideration," said a lady to a servant girl who had "given notice" because she was to be married that "day two weeks."
"Oh, I have, ma'am," was the earnest reply. "I have been to two fortune tellers and a clairvoyant, and looked in a sign book and dreamed on a look of his hair, and been to one of those astrologers, and to a necromancer, and they all say to go ahead, ma'am. I ain't one to marry reckless like, ma'am."—Harper's Bazar.
Exactness a Promise.
There is no sentiment winter in the soul of Kit's brother Frankie, and he often grieves his mother and angers his father by the coolness and insensibility with which he repels his little sister's overtures of affection.
"She keeps wanting to love me," is his only excuse when either of his parents tries to persuade him that he ought to let Kit play with him.
"Why of course she loves you, poor little thing," said his father the other day in reply to this. "I should think that would be reason enough for you not to be so hateful to her."
"Well," returned the youthful Adam patronizingly, "well, maybe I'll let her play with my shovel down at the beach some time if she'll promise not to ask to kiss me one single time from now till school is out next June."
