

this house would be suspended at ten o'clock. Therefore I conclude my remarks by drawing to your attention, Mr. Chairman, that it is now ten o'clock.

Mr. Martin: Not even if I asked my hon. friend to go on a little further? Would he not be open to a suggestion from a most agreeable minister?

Mr. Nicholson: I do not think the minister would want his first item to pass without the committee hearing from either him or his parliamentary assistant.

Mr. Martin: I thought I would do it on the items.

Mr. Nicholson: As it is now after ten o'clock—

Mr. Martin: I can save my hon. friend the necessity of speaking further. I did not intend to say anything until we reached the items. I thought that was the best and most orderly way of dealing with the estimates.

The Deputy Chairman: It being ten o'clock, shall I report the resolutions and ask leave to sit again?

Some hon. Members: Agreed.

Resolutions adopted in committee of supply this day reported, read the second time and concurred in.

BUSINESS OF THE HOUSE

Mr. Harris: Tomorrow morning we shall take public archives, national library, national film board and the supplementaries of citizenship and immigration. Then we shall continue with national health and welfare, then take veterans affairs, mines and technical surveys and public works.

I should also say, Mr. Speaker, that it has been understood among all of us that on Monday and Tuesday we shall go into supply by consent. There will not be an amendment to the supply motion.

It being four minutes after ten o'clock the house adjourned, without question put, pursuant to standing order.
