

leads the world. The type is nobly large and clear. The printing was executed at the Riverside Press, under the special charge of its most skillful pressman, who points to it with pride as a specimen of printing, which, in delicacy in bringing out the illustrations, has never been excelled, even by the old printers.

The illustrations (one hundred and forty in number) are from sketches made on the spot by an artist specially employed by the Publishers.

The color introduced is a complete novelty. The artistic part of the book was produced under the supervision of Mr. J. B. Millett, which is a sufficient assurance of its excellence, as he has the credit of having produced many novelties in bookmaking.

All anglers and sportsmen; all campers and tourists; all lovers of nature and of the out-door life; all who love laughter and literary entertainment; all who seek information of Canada and its resources, should look into this peculiarly happy combination of fun tempered with pathos and sunshine.
