VANCOUVER BUSINESS REVIEW.

Vancouver, Aug. 31.

The wholesale grocers have been unusually busy for the past week in filling orders for the Klondike, and they are all rush orders. The special canning notices expire on Monday next, and this is the reason of the great increase of business. Business is generally reported good and collections fair. In the grocery market the feature of the week is the receipt of a shipment of Cayon green peas. New peas are slightly higher and the price of sugar is unchanged. In the dairy market the attempt to keep up the price of the local creamery butter has failed, owing to the stock of eastern creamery on the market of fairly good quality, and instead of the price of local butter advancing, the prices of eastern butter have advanced. The British Columbia apples are in large supply at from 50 cents to $1.

In the industrial world the sack and bag factories and saw mills continue very busy supplying the provincial markets, and from indications the prospect of building activity which has created the building, will continue for some time. The shingle mills are still closed down as far as Canadian marbling are concerned, the surplus stock being too heavy to handle and the continued production of shingles. The shingle plan all over the country is very hopeful. The reports from the coast mines indicate that large bodies of ore have been struck out and the developing work is progressing in a conservative manner for the purpose of blocking the ore and making mines of the different properties. Reports from the Kootenai coast indicate that the government bounty stimulating the silver lead industry to such an extent as to place life into the mining industry, indignation against the Dominion government as regards the refusal of the government to establish a close season for salmon is almost universal in Vancouver and Victoria, as well as among the cannerymen. The facts are simply these. The run this year has been a small one, and between the American traps and the Puget Sound and the nets on the Fraser river, no salmon have been able to reach the spawning ground. Consequently, no remedy is applied at once, in 1907 there will be no salmon, for the salmon that hatch one year return to the scene of their birth four years afterwards, to, in their turn, carry out nature's plan of propagation. No close season means extinction of the salmon, and the loss to British Columbia of millions of dollars every year. The government was asked to establish a close season at once to enable the salmon still running to reach the spawning grounds. At the instigation of the fishermen, however, who got the ear of the members of parliament, representing Westminster and Vancouver, it actually refused their request, and thus greatly imperiled the life of the industry. It is believed here that the entire industry desires to comply with the wishes of the fishermen that it might retain its influence and then, if it is possible, however, that the government may make a political blunder in this respect as the fishermen desire to rapidly leaving the river, and in another year there will be 50 Japanese fishermen to every white one, and the Japanese have no votes and no stake in the country, and live in the States where the salmon seasons, while the cannerymen have millions of dollars invested in the industry.

Organization is the order of the day in Vancouver. The employers of five hands and over have combined into a very strong association, with J. G. Woods, president, and A. E. Goodman, secretary. This week the retail merchants of Vancouver combined, with A. E. Lees, president, and A. E. Goodman, secretary. The shipowners of Vancouver also combined, with R. H. Milgip, president, and A. E. Goodman, secretary. Four newspaper publishers in the city joined forces this week for protection against possible demands of the Typographical Union and other reasons. They were previously combined the shingle manufacturers, the lumber manufacturers, the builders, carpenters, box factories, the master plasterers and the master plasterers. All these different bodies are in the hands of the employers' association, so that all employers in the city of Vancouver will be able to meet the call of one body rather than if an emergency should demand it.
