CONTROLLERS HINDER PROGRESS.

Not Anxious Enough to Get Fire Station Sites.

Chief Thompson's suggested means of affording fire protection to the newly annexed Avenue-road district was endorsed by the civic fire and light committee, to whom it was presented yesterday afternoon, and it was sent to the board of control.

The pathologist at the General Hospital has received the intestines of an infant which died about a month ago in the epidemic at Dawson City.

The pathologist and superintendent John N. Elliott Brown of the General Hospital made an examination, and are perplexed.

"It looks to me like a case of cholera infantum," said Dr. Brown. "All the indications are present, but I acknowledge the symptoms are puzzling. I understand the older people suffered from attacks of a similar character, but they did not die fatally. It was among the younger children that the mortality was alarming. It was all the younger because the climate in the Yukon is exceptionally healthy for the children. A delicate child going to that country is almost certain to recover its health."

One of the few children attacked by cholera infantum was that of Major Wood, the four-year-old son of Jack Wood, commanding officer of the Northwest mounted police in the Yukon. However, it has spared his vitality so much that he is "as thin as a rail" when compared with his former condition.

R. Y. Douglas in his letter, which accompanied the remains, was evidently of the opinion that the epidemic was caused by something eaten by the colony individually.

QUEER EPIDEMIC AT DAWSON PUZZLES THE DOCTORS HERE

Intestines of Infant Victim in Far North Are Sent to Toronto for Examination.

The pathologist at the General Hospital has received the intestines of an infant which died about a month ago in the epidemic at Dawson City.

The pathologist and superintendent John N. Elliott Brown of the General Hospital made an examination, and are perplexed.

"It looks to me like a case of cholera infantum," said Dr. Brown. "All the indications are present, but I acknowledge the symptoms are puzzling. I understand the older people suffered from attacks of a similar character, but they did not die fatally. It was among the younger children that the mortality was alarming. R. Y. Douglas in his letter, which accompanied the remains, was evidently of the opinion that the epidemic was caused by something eaten by the colony individually.

ANNUAL REPORTS INDICATE

The annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Great North Western Telegraph Company was held at their head office yesterday.

The financial statements presented by the president and directors were considered very satisfactory, and a still further increase in business is looked for during the coming year.

The following directors and officials were elected for the ensuing year: J. P. Dwight, Toronto, president; Adam Brown, Hamilton, vice-president; L. McMichael, Toronto, vice-president; George Dicken, Toronto, secretary; B. VanEvery, New York; secretary-treasurer; Geo. D. Perry, auditor; A. C. McConnell.

FRUIT MARKET.

On the wholesale market yesterday receipts were fairly heavy, but the prices generally were higher than yesterday.
