THE SITUATION AT CAMP BORDEN

Ottawa, July 12 - (Montreal Star) - The situation at Camp Borden is being closely watched by the authorities of the militia department, but the suggestion that the camp may be abandoned or its use even temporarily discontinued is little entertained here.

Only under stress of grave and sustained public pressure would the training ground be abandoned. The large area has been secured for the purpose of providing the space necessary for extensive tactical training and advanced work which, it is said, the smaller camps do not permit.

More than 500 NAMES ADDED TO LIST IN NEW CITY DIRECTORY. The new city directory which is now off the press, shows a steady growth in the population of St. John, despite war conditions. Last year the directory contained 19,550 names and this year there are 20,000 names. Figured on the usual basis of three to one, this would give a total population of 60,000, an increase of 1,850 over the population recorded last year.

The work involved in the preparation of a directory is indicated by the fact that 5,000 changes were required to bring the volume up to date. In addition to the usual lists of names, arranged alphabetically and by street numbers, the directory also contains a large amount of valuable information regarding the officers of companies, corporations, societies and other organizations, with other information not otherwise easily accessible.
