

WOULD LINK UP PART OF COUNTY WITH THE CITY

R. E. Armstrong Speaks of Situation That Has Arisen

WOULD ADD TWO TO CITY HALL BOARD

Also Goes Into Some General Matters Affecting Progress Here

"According to Friday's issue of the Times-Star," said R. E. Armstrong, former secretary of the Saint John Board of Trade today, "outstanding comments should be made not only on the association of the city and county councils but that recommendations should be presented with respect to methods that might or should be faced upon for the advancement of this section of the Maritimes, as well as all other Maritime Provinces."

"In recent years has it not only been the duty of leading residents of this section to advance the interests of New Brunswick but to obtain close co-operation on the part of the three Maritime Provinces? It is pleasing to note that a good feeling has been aroused within the Maritime Provinces, and, further, that practically all other sections of the Dominion have also become sympathetic toward these Maritimes and their advancement."

MAKES SUGGESTIONS

Mr. Armstrong made several local recommendations as follows:

"That every effort be made to create a good feeling between the city and county, and that the both councils should endeavor to co-operate closely and actively;

"That such portions of the county as Lancaster, Fairville, the Bay Shore sections in front thereof, also East Saint John, including Courtenay Bay, and adjacent regions such as Red Head and Glen Falls, should link up with the city;

"That provision be made for two additional members in the city council, one for the west and the other for the eastern areas;

"That the action recommended by Mayor White with respect to the lessening of city taxes be continued should be followed up closely, and every effort made for an early decision thereon;

"That whatever residents of the central city are desirous of spending their summer in rural regions of a pleasant type, should fix upon their summer homes within the city's border, so that it would not only lessen and unify their taxes but would be helpful to the city, its merchants, industries and publicans;

"That the highway through all rural sections of this good city should be improved and broadened; for example, the Sandy Point road, the Rockwood Natural Park road, the Tucker Park area, East and West Saint John, also that highway connecting the city and the county, and possibly street railway lines, be provided between Millville and Drury Cove, connected with existing roadways that are in close touch with the Kennebecasis region; that camping or golfing parties be furnished for summer visitors in these attractive sections, and summer pleasures of a broad and delightful character be also supplied.

PORT NATIONALIZATION

"That close thought be given to the nationalization of the Port of Saint John, both West and East, that the Federal Government be urged to extend the Negro Point breakwater to Partridge Island, so as to protect shipping and pier facilities in the harbor of Saint John and Courtenay Bay, and to prevent the entrance channels on both sides from being filled up, which would tend to lessen dredging expenses; also that more ocean piers be constructed for steamship use, and a bridge be extended to West Saint John via Navy Island.

Letters To The Editor

THE MAYOR AND THE PETITION

To The Editor of the Times-Star:—Sir: His Worship the Mayor and the council have neither granted nor refused the petition signed by 3,000 taxpayers—they have simply ignored it.

The Mayor is quoted as saying: "For four months the council have been considering this matter and I have been in correspondence with municipal experts and I have reached the stage where I think it would be wise to call in an expert to diagnose the case. So as an audit is concerned, I believe that one and only expert should be engaged, and that the man in view is Dr. Horace L. Brittain and from enquiries I have made, I am sure he is the right man."

Thereupon it was decided to invite Dr. Brittain to come to Saint John for consultation with the commissioners with a view of having him make a survey of civic administration.

The Mayor is, therefore, carrying out his own idea, conceived four months ago. His action is in no way a reply to the petition, which he mentions in his own words, but whose provisions he ignores.

The petition asked for two things:—1—A thorough audit and investigation of the city's books and accounts, by independent departments, including the assessors, etc., by an auditor appointed by the council, but named or approved by a committee of the undersigned.

2—That an efficiency expert be appointed to investigate the city's affairs, which the auditor and efficiency expert make reports, etc., which they live and inspect, and be furnished by the auditor and efficiency expert to the press and to the committee on request.

According to the Mayor and the council, we are not to have an investigation conducted by an expert named or approved by a committee of the undersigned. We don't need it. "Just like that," says the Mayor.

And who was deputed to make arrangements for bringing Dr. Brittain here but Mr. Olive, chairman of the Board of Assessors, which department was to have investigated with the Mayor's consent? Moreover, Dr. Brittain cannot come until October, to consult with the commissioners with a view to further activities, and we are to wait until then. We cannot afford to wait.

The Mayor was pleased to see 3,000 people showing an interest in civic affairs, but if so, he is not taking the trouble to investigate the city's affairs, which they live and inspect, and be furnished by the auditor and efficiency expert to the press and to the committee on request.

It is impossible to sell real estate in this city on account of the high rate of taxation. From a prospective buyer of property calls at City Hall to ascertain the rate of taxation. It is off 10 per cent. to be the custom of the assessors to increase the value of a property for sale. The rate of taxation is not the custom of the assessors to increase the value of a property for sale. The rate of taxation is not the custom of the assessors to increase the value of a property for sale.

French Cabinet To CUT DOWN STAFFS

Stand of Government Against Public Sincere Arouses Hostility

PARIS, Sept. 18.—The Government yesterday took the initiative in what is expected to develop into another struggle in his efforts to reach this end, with machinery and equipment that is the last word in modern ideas.

One of the new features of the plan is the installation of automatic fire extinguishers, which separate each department. So sensitive are they, that the tiny flare of a match flame will release them and shut off the affected portion.

Deaths

Mrs. Olivia Whitehead.

The death of Mrs. Olivia Whitehead occurred at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. J. Vincent, Fair Vale, Kings county, of heart trouble, on the evening of Sept. 11. The deceased lady, who was the daughter of the late John Ingraham of Upper Queensbury, was born on Dec. 18, 1850 and is survived by two sons, Chipman of Woodstock, and Harry of Red Head, and two daughters, Mrs. E. L. Vincent, Fair Vale, with whom she resided, and Mrs. Grace Greiner, Woodstock; also two brothers, Ira, Ingraham of Bear Island, and Frank Ingraham of Upper Queensbury, York county, and two sisters, Mrs. Saunders, wife of Dr. W. E. Saunders of Blackie, Alberta and Mrs. Nell Moore of Lowell, Mass. A short service was conducted at her late home, Fair Vale, by Rev. W. H. Hibbard of Rothesay, after which the remains were removed to the undertaking rooms of G. A. Chamberlain, where a funeral service was conducted at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. J. Vincent, on Sunday, Sept. 12. Many friends gathered to pay their last tributes of respect to her, who was well known and highly esteemed by all who knew her. The pall bearers were her two sons, two daughters and two nephews. Interment was made in the Union Cemetery, beside her husband, who died eight years before. The many floral tributes from her friends in Saint John, Fair Vale and Woodstock were beautiful.

DYE WORKS IN NEW BUILDING MONDAY

Elm Street Industry to Resume Next Week—In Modern Quarters

The new home of the American Dye Works Co., in Elm street, North End, will be opened for business on next Monday, following the destruction of the plant by fire some three months ago.

The new building, which has just been completed, stands upon the exact location of the old one. In every way the new structure has been designed to meet the requirements of the business. Entirely constructed of concrete and faced with brick, with no walls of wood or inflammable material it has been made fireproof.

George Burton, the manager, who has been connected with the dyeing business for over 25 years, has shown his absolute faith in the future prospects of Saint John through his enterprise in rebuilding.

Mr. Burton plans to have one of the most up-to-date plants of the kind in the Maritimes, and he is sparing nothing in his efforts to reach this end, with machinery and equipment that is the last word in modern ideas.

AURORA EFFECT ON RADIO RECEPTION

Explorer Says Lights Don't Matter But Shifting Cuts Off Sound

The mere presence of northern lights had no effect on radio reception, Paul Magee, chief radio operator of the Arctic explorations schooner Bowdoin, said on return of the expedition to the United States. He did say, however, "that changes in the altitude of the apex of the light cone had the effect of completely blanketing and cutting off all receptions." Throughout the four-thousand-mile journey through northern waters Magee was working amateur stations in America and Europe.

Magee and his aids packed the larger of the two receiving sets over the rocky shore to a spot two miles up a river, where a small glacier came down between sheer rocky cliffs more than 100 feet high. Scaling one side they swung a rope across the chasm and with this drew and stretched a wire of their several hours work they established their complete satisfaction that the mere presence of the light phenomena affected not at all early reception of stations in the United States. However, as the summit of the light cone ascended or declined in the sky all reception was immediately cut off and could not be resumed until the light apex was again fixed.
