THE TURF

Fredericton Park Association. The Gleason says:—The preliminary work towards the reconstitution of the Fredericton Park Association has been commenced and notices will be sent to stockholders a few days calling a hearing for about April 15. There has been a movement on the part of a new combination to get control of a majority of the stock of the association and install a new management, but whether this movement will materialize or not is problematical. In the meantime it is said that if the old board of directors remain they will at once issue a programme of early closing stakes in connection with the Fredericton 1913 exhibition and will so give other race meetings during the season.

FOOTBALL

IE RING

Welsh Would Box, Not Act. New York, April 6.—Fred Welsh, the glib lightweight champion, has decided to accept any stage engagements for present. Instead he intends starting active boxing campaign, with bouts at once a week. Welsh has offers on and will take on as many opponents consistent with his plan to force re-nomination from Willie Ritchie. He makes one stipulation—they must be light-gits.

BASEBALL

In Fredericton. Saturday's Gleason said:—That there was but one person approached who declined to make a contribution and with that one exception everybody else gave at least as generously as they did last season and in most cases gave more liberally was the gratifying report of the first work towards securing guarantee of funds for the Fredericton Baseball Club.

The work was only carried on for but a short time yesterday, and will be continued on Monday. Last evening parties connected with the club said there was no doubt as to the citizens being willing to subscribe as much as they did last year, and Bob Ganley has been advised at his home in Lowell, Mass., of the encouraging outlook here and will doubtless be here for the next league meeting on April 10. Definite instructions to go ahead with the signing of players have not been sent, however, but probably will be in a day or two. In the meantime the executive of last year is busily engaged with the details for the production of Captain King the comic opera, at the Opera House on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week which it is hoped will provide sufficient funds to wipe out the last of last season's deficit.

Fred Mitchell. Sam Carick in the Boston Post says of Fred Mitchell, formerly Yapp:—He gained his first pitching experience in 1899 in the Harvard baseball game. Mitchell, in company with Larry McLean began going over to the cage and pitching to the batsmen of Bill Reid's nine just for fun. Reid liked their work so well that to assure their continued attendance he offered them $250 a day, which they jumped at. Later they struck for $5, which they got by doing double the amount of work which had previously been called upon to perform. In 1900 Mitchell and McLean joined the St. John, N. B., semipro team as pitcher and catcher, and the following year found them with the Boston Americans. With this club Mitchell remained until next season, 1902, when he went to the Athletics. He stayed with Connie Mack for the rest of that season and jumped to the Phillies in 1903. He remained with that club two seasons, going to Brooklyn in 1905. The following season found him a member of the Toronto team, with which he stayed for years. Mitchell will probably be seen in action very little by the fans this year, and his name will appear in print on few occasions, but his handwork will show in whatever success the youngsters on Stallings' staff may have. He is a sort of silent partner in the firm, but not the less important for that.

The Big Leaguers. The New York Giants defeated the Baltimore Internationals on Saturday in Baltimore, 12 to 3. Tarsan pitched five innings for the Giants and struck out seven men. The Brooklyn Nationals defeated the New York Americans in Brooklyn on Saturday, 3 to 2. Nearly 25,000 persons saw the game. The Philadelphia Nationals and Americans played an eighteen inning draw in Philadelphia on Saturday. The game had to be called on account of darkness with the score 2 to 2. Brown pitched the entire game for the Athletics and was found for only thirteen hits. The Phillies used Alexander, Chalmers and Brennan. They allowed a total of only ten hits.

St. Louis April 6.—A mixture of passes, errors and hits, one of them a triple, of two pitchers in the first inning, gave the local National League club a win from the Americans 13 to 6 in the fifth game of the series for the city championship. The series now stands three won for the Americans and two for the National League. The batteries were Harmon and Wingo, Hildebrand; Hamilton, Allison, Levernier, Adams and Agnew. O'Brien In Great Form. The most encouraging thing for the Red Sox in last Thursday's game at Champane, Ill., against a university nine, was the nine innings' work turned in by "Back" O'Brien. O'Brien was in excellent shape, showed how carefully he has brought himself down to form this spring. He was dead on the mark, passing no one, and, scarcely his over second base was the only safety that the collegians were able to register against him. In 1912 O'Brien, while he pitched good

Effort to Bring Jim Jeffries Back Should be Frowned Upon

By TOM ANDREWS

The effort of some of the promoters or managers out west to bring Jim Jeffries back into the boxing game is not meeting with much enthusiasm, especially with the public, and it is about 100 to 1 that the big fellow will never consent to any kind of thing like that. The public well remembers the fiasco of 1910 when Jack Johnson, the colored boxer, was given the opportunity to defeat a man who had no business in the ring at that time.

The idea of trying to bring back into the game a man who has proven that he cannot "come back," is so ridiculous that the followers of the sport would never stand for it. They had one experience and that was sufficient.

It is not Jim Jeffries that is to be blamed for any such movement now, but the men who are trying to urge the big fighter to try once more "come-back," like the "farewell" of Patti. It was not Jeffries who wanted to get into the limelight in 1909 when the critics began to howl for him to re-enter the ring and bring the championship back to the white race. Jeff said time and time again that he was out of it for good; that he had retired and wanted to remain a retired and undefeated champion. The urging was so great that the Alfalfa farmer began to think that he was really as good as ever and might make a successful re-entrance into the arena. He even went so far as to visit Germany for the purpose of taking the baths and to find out whether his stomach, which had bothered him considerably, would stand the step of training for a hard battle. That was the secret of Jeff's first trip to Germany at that time. The long grind was too much for him, and though he appeared in good shape before the contest for the title at Reno, he was a sick man, or rather on the verge of nervous prostration, on the day of the battle. The fact is he was never the same man physically after he left Howardian in California, when Gov. Gillette ordered the contest declared off, as he lost heart from that moment and did not take the same interest in it. He never was the same man after that time to the right point for the earlier date and from that time on he began to go back.

Jeffries is thirty-eight years of age and has not lived the life that some of the athletes should live in order to keep up such work. If he could not do himself justice in 1910, what chance would he have now? It would be the rankest kind of injustice to the public to try to spring such a farce again and it is a good bet that Jim Jeffries will not consent to any such plan.

ball, did not reach the standard of which he was capable, but this year, being in the best of trim, and along all his former prowess, Jake Stahl will regard him as a sure enough asset from the very start of the American League races.

The Boston men did not go after the college boys very hard, beating them at but four times and had carried in two pretty plays in the outfield. Carigan caught all the nine innings and kept O'Brien in good gear all the time. Gardner returned to the regular line-up so that the Red Sox were absolutely intact and went through the game with only one shut, this being Heuriksen for Hooper late in the game, and after Hooper had been at bat four times and had carried in two pretty plays in the outfield. Gardner, on his return to the infield, had little to do. He had one chance only, which he accepted, and showed that he has not lost his batting eye during that lay-off. O'Brien did some clever fudging in his position, retiring no less than seven of the college players at first base.

Diamond Sparkles. Johnson, centre fielder of last year's Houlton, has been released by Milwaukee for further seasoning. He may join Fredericton. Dugan may not get a permanent post in the Providence outfit.

FORMER CHAMPION DEAD

Dan Kelly, who died recently in Orilla, Ont. He was at one time amateur boxing lightweight champion of America, having won the title in the nineties at San Francisco.

Not only to say the right thing in the right place, but, far more difficult still, to leave unsaid the wrong thing at the tempting moment.—Sala.

TWO MORE FIRES; ONE THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN THE WORK OF FIREBUG

A fire, believed to be of incendiary origin, broke out on Saturday evening in a barn in Pond street, owned by James Murray. A valuable mare, belonging to Mr. Murray, was burned to death and two sets of harness and supplies of hay and straw were destroyed. The loss is about $600 and there is no insurance. The West End fire department was called out last evening about 6:45 to extinguish a fire in a house owned by C. B. Lockhart, corner of St. John and Union streets. The blaze started beneath the floor and it is thought that it was caused by rats coming in contact with matches. Considerable damage was done upstairs, and the furniture and walls in the lower flat were drenched with water. The building is insured.

CARE OF FEEBLE-MINDED

Halifax School for the Blind, Murdoch St., Halifax, N. S., April 4th, 1913. Editor Evening Times and Star.

Sir,—I note with pleasure the very timely article in the "Evening Times and Star" of the 1st inst., in which you make a strong plea for the education of the feeble-minded. You may be interested in knowing that this matter is now engaging public attention in Nova Scotia and that fifty leagues for the protection of the feeble-minded have been formed throughout the province. The government of Nova Scotia has been memorialized by the parent league in Halifax and petitions with respect to the care of these life-long children have been sent to the government from all parts of the province. I trust that at an early date some definite action with respect to this helpless class will be decided upon. Yours faithfully, C. F. FRASER.
