Shoemaker's Candles.

I well remember some seventy years ago seeing flat candles in use. To produce what was known as the flat candle, which was also sometimes called "shoemaker's candle," two newly made "dips" were pressed close to each other while soft and then again lowered into the hot fat, thus holding them together as one candle with two wicks. The size could then be increased if desired. This flat candle was most generally used by shoemakers and tailors, but was made use of in some households whenever an extra bright light for working or reading was required.—Cor. Dickensian.

An Amiable Victimist.

Robert Browning and Joachim met one evening at a friendly gathering in London. The violinist had "obliged" without satisfying certain ladies, who entreated the poet to obtain from him another solo. Browning, feeling the delicacy of his task, discharged it diplomatically and spoke, as sometimes he wrote, so as to conceal his thoughts, while the violinist, not understanding, bowed and smiled and did not play.

As they left the house Joachim asked, "What did you mean just now?"
"Oh," said the poet, "I wanted you to give us some more music."
"Then, why did you not come and say, 'Joe, old boy, give us another tune?'" returned the amiable violinist.

Acomia

Many Men Have it, and most of them Worry About it

ACOMIA—it's a magic word—what does it mean? Simply absence of hair.

A baldheaded man has ACOMIA—absence of hair.

A million more men will have ACOMIA a year from now if they do not get rid of disgusting dandruff.

Dandruff is caused by germ. He works while you sleep and when you awake. He breakfasts, dines and sups on the vitality stored in the hair roots, and the longer you tolerate his presence the surer you are of displaying a shiny headpiece later on.

Kill the dandruff germ; that's the only way to keep from growing bald. Any capable doctor will tell you so.

How can you be sure that you are killing the dandruff germ? Simply by using daily for two weeks Parisian Sage, the most pleasant tonic for the hair the world has ever known.

Parisian Sage is the most pleasant and invigorating hair dressing in the world. It is not sticky or greasy. It will make women's hair soft, silky and luxuriant in a few days. ## TENDED HIS VICTIM

James Bourke is Nevertheless Charged With Murder.

TOOK HIM TO HOSPITAL

After Working For Two Weeks For George Matthews, Whom He Injured In a Fight, North Bay Man Gets Him to Toronto Hospital Where His Patient Expires—Dying Man Freed Bourke.

Toronto, July 28.—To carry a man about the country, nursing him as a mother because he was the cause of his injuries, to have the man die just as he had got him within the doors of Toronto General Hospital, where he had hoped he would be cured, and then to be taken into custody by the police, charged with his murder, is the experience of James Bourke, erstwhile butcher of North Bay, which reached its climax at local police headquarters yesterday morning. Bourke two weeks ago sold out his business.

The deceased is George Matthews of Horning's Mills, Ont., who had been in North Bay for some time and was employed as general workman by Bourke. On the night of July 11 the two men were in a bar at North Bay. An altercation arose over a money matter, when Matthews, it is alleged, called Bourke vile names. Bourke struck him and Matthews' head struck the bar. He became unconscious and a doctor was called, who declared Matthews' condition due to liquor rather than the blow. Then it was suggested that they take him to the hospital at North Bay. Bourke set out for the hospital with Matthews in a rig. On the way the injured man asked that he be taken to his boarding-house, where he was refused admittance, and was taken to a doctor's house. From there he was taken back to the boarding-house, where he spent the night. He was then removed to the hospital, where he remained until Tuesday, when the authorities said they could do no more for him, and put him on a train to be taken to Sudbury and his home at Horning's Mills. On the train he became very sick, and was seen by a doctor at Sudbury. It was then decided to bring him to Toronto to a hospital. They were met at the station yesterday morning and hurried to the General Hospital in the police ambulance. There Matthews died in the corridor, and Bourke gave himself up to the police.

Before leaving North Bay a lawyer had been called in and an agreement drawn up and signed by Matthews in which he waived all claims to all-against Bourke, civil or criminal, in consideration of Bourke's undertaking to pay all doctor's bills and other expenses of Matthews' treatment.

Matthews was 41 years of age, and leaves a wife and three children. Bourke is 30 years of age and unmarried.

Split In Elevator Commission.

Winnipeg, July 28.—As a result of what was practically an altercation between Prof. Magill, chairman of the Saskatchewan Elevator Commission, and George P. Langley, M.P.P., and a member of the commission, the session of that body came to a sudden and unexpected termination.

During the examination of John Fleming of A. McPherson & Co. an ex-president of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, Mr. Langley took vigorous objection, practically contending that the chairman was trying to prevent the witness from giving the evidence which he (Langley) was desirous of eliciting.

Mr. Magill warmly denied the insinuation and insisted that Mr. Langley retract what he had said, otherwise he would adjourn the session. Mr. Langley, however, proved stubborn, and, instead of retracting, reiterated his remarks, whereupon Mr. Magill, rising, gathered his papers together and left the room.

Sensation at Execution.

Auburn, N.Y., July 28.—While William Gilbert, a Catauga County negro, was being led from the death house to the electric chair in Auburn Prison yesterday morning, a group of men in the cell house shouted oaths at the legal witnesses, declaring they were murderers of an innocent man. Gilbert himself was resigned to his fate, and exhibited no fear as he walked to the chair.

"Even Generals Differ."

JOHN EWAN IS DEAD

Great Liberal Journalist Passes Away in Toronto.

BELOVED BY COLLEAGUES

Associate-Editor of The Globe and One of Canada's Most Famous Newspapermen Succumbs to Cancer—He Was War Correspondent in Cuba and South Africa—Born in Aberdeenshire in 1854.

Toronto, July 28.—After months of suffering John Alexander Ewan, associate editor of The Globe, died at 140 yesterday morning at his home, 10 Victor avenue.

Born in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, in 1854, he came to Toronto when a boy and learned the typographical art in The Globe office. In 1879 he went on the reporting staff and later reported for The Mail and Empire at Ottawa. Then for a time he was editorial writer on The World, returning to The Globe in 1892. In 1897 he became widely known as a writer of a series of articles on life and conditions in Quebec, achieving a national reputation as war correspondent for The Globe in Cuba, and later in South Africa with the Canadian troops. He also "covered" the big Pennsylvania coal strike for his paper a score of years ago, and his last series of special articles were on the Esplanade viaduct, gleaned from a trip to the United States. He was well known at the Ottawa Parliament buildings.

Mr. Ewan was president of the Civic Guild, a member of the Canadian, National and Ontario Clubs, an ex-president of the Ward Union Liberal Association and a member of St. Michael's Church. He is survived by a widow and one daughter, a brother and two sisters, all in Toronto.

The Globe this morning says of him: "No one was so beloved by his colleagues of The Globe or by the other newspapermen throughout the Dominion as well as an extraordinary long career of friendship and newspaper work, as the late Mr. Ewan. Every newspaper man who visited Toronto in the course of his work or on pleasure bent, looked in on the Globe's associate editor for a friendly chat or exchange of opinions. To the younger newspapermen of the city he was a kindly godfather."

28,000 Will Go Out on Strike.

Chicago, July 28.—A general strike of building trades was decided upon at yesterday's conference of thirty-seven unions, which met in a final effort to obtain a settlement with the Otis Elevator Co.

By noon to-day it is said the strike order involved 28,000 men. The carpenters' union is the only one not affected, the representatives of that union at the conference declaring against a sympathetic strike. The cause of the strike is the refusal of the Otis Elevator Co. to remove machinists from elevator construction work.
