Narrow Escape of Sebree and Other Officers on the U.S. Cruiser Tennessee on Pacific Goast

SAN PEDRO, Cal., June 5.—A terrible accident occurred on board the United States armored cruiser Tennessee at 11.08 o'clock this morning, while the ship was steaming at 19 knots on a speed trial off Point Huenenne, Cal., a steam pipe in the starboard engineroom bursting under 235 pounds pressure, killing six men and injuring eight others, all the men in the compartment at the time.

The explosion, the cause of which is unknown, occurred only a few minutes after Admiral Uriel Sebree, Captain F.
B. Howard and Chief Engineer Robertson hal left the engine room on a tour of inspection. Four of the men were killed instantly and two more died at San Pedro after the arrival of the Tennessee.

There were fourteen men in the fire room when the tube, which is four inches in diameter and inclosed with water inside the boiler, blew out, driving a torrent of scalding steam, coal dust, cinders and hot ashes through the ash pit, and showered the half naked men.

BOSTON, June 6—Rev. Dr. William H. Van Allen, rector of the Church of the Advent (Episcopal) of this city, and one of the legiscopal Church. It was recently stated in American and Canadian newspapers, including the Star, that a number of the clergy had gone to the Roman Catholic Church because of an amendment to one of the canons, under which Protestant ministers have occupied certain Episcopal pulpits. The truth of the matter is that sixteen priests, nearly all members of the Order of the Companions of the Holy Saviour, with headquarters in Philadelphia, resenting

The ship was undergoing inspections by the commander of the second division and had been under way for over two hours, the engine, boilers and all machinery working perfectly and fully equal to the acceptance trial.

The boiler was of the standard, tubular kind, the Babcock and Wilcox make, used on many warships. It consists of a large cluster of four-inch tubes, carrying water into the main boiler. Only one tube, and this one of the bottom tier, exploded. The break was less than six inches in length. There was no wreckage but the explosion was described by the survivors as frightful. So great was the blast of soot and steam that every man in the room was blackened from head to foot while those closest to the break were cooked alive. There are sixteen similar fire rooms, but each is separated by steel doors and the men in adjoining compartments did not feel the explosion. When the outside rescuers entered the fire room it was in utter darkness, the steam and soot covering the electric lights and ceiling and walls with a thick coat. The men in this fire pit work naked except for short trousers and slippers, and the dead and injured were blackened almost beyond recognition.

It is understood that Lord Tweedmouth is not likely again to be seen in the House of Lords and is even not in a condition to write a letter of resignation.

The cardinal, however, saw danger ahead. His note of warning was against the misuse of prosperity and power. He added:

"If I may be allowed to draw a lesson from Mount Vernon, I should like to say to the American people that the alarming increase in the number of divorces in the United States is a great and crying evil, full of danger.

The greatness of any country must be measured by the strength and purity of the home. Divorce disrupts the home and descerates its sanctity. I feel that the American people appreciate the beneficient influence of the Catholic church in its fight for the home, in which the first lessons of respect for authority and the necessity of obedience must be learned; and these lessons cannot be instilled into the mind of the child if the home be not what it ought to be."
