

been hard feelings extorting, if in any case unkind and hence unchristian words have been spoken, even as Christ has forgiven you so forgive. See to it that in your respective churches there is union and love, then God, even our God, will bless us.

Blessed that man who with advancing years finds "his bosom glow with love," blessed indeed that ripening for glory, love, brotherly love; it is good to live on, it is good to die on. This of all graces brings one near and yet nearer Christ. This the secret of true success, this among the noblest and purest traits of Christian character. This will open to the redeemer, the shining gates, through which there shall be an abundant entrance into glory; this the grand introduction into the assembly of the first born; this like a crown shall rest upon the Christian's head, a king and priest unto God forever.
