INDIFFERENCE IS BLAMED FOR GIANTS' POOR SHOWING

"What is the matter with the Giants?" Thousands of fans repeatedly ask this question nowadays as the pennant chances of McGraw's team appear to be growing less with each game. McGraw blames the slump on his pitchers. He also thinks that the twenty-one player limit rule is particularly at fault and that the Giants have fared poorly at the hands of National League umpires. There is no doubt that unfavorable weather during the training season in Texas handicapped the team in getting away to a good start. Accidents which crippled Burns, Mertle, Snodgrass, Doyle, Robertson, Meyers, Perritt and other players from time to time also kept the Giants from going to the front. In short, McGraw has experienced a run of hard luck all season which seldom has attended his managerial efforts in former years.

McGraw justly attributes the poor showing of the Giants to the disappointing work of his pitching staff. Mathewson, who has won seven games and lost nine to date, had a record of twenty-four victories and thirteen defeats in 1914. Teraue, who won twenty-six and lost ten a year ago, has managed to win twelve out of twenty-four games so far. Marquard, who pitched in twelve winners and twenty-two losers last season, has won eight and lost eight this year.

Perritt's record with the Giants is nine victories and thirteen defeats, but he has been the only one of the twenty-one man rule compelled McGraw to send them to the minors. Harry Smith, the young catcher who went to the Giants last fall from Savannah with a big reputation, was a total failure and McGraw finally released him unconditionally.

Perhaps the long term contracts held by some of the Giants are responsible for a general slowing down, for it is hard to get a player to play hard when he has a figure in the disappointing work of the team. It is not too late to begin playing ball with the old fire and dash, but many loyal followers of the Giants have stopped rooting.

WINS $1,178,452 IN 25 YEARS

EDWARD GEERS

Edward ("Pop") Geers is shown in this picture with one of his favorite cigars. It is a fact that he is just about as careful in the selection of his weeds as in naming his Futurity and stake candidates. That "Pop" smokes to good advantage is evidenced by the fact that in twenty-five seasons as a turfman he has won $1,178,452.

HERZOG, KING OF SHORTSTOPS.

There are many who agree with Miller Huggins in his declaration that Charley Herzog, of the Reds, is the greatest all-round shortstop in America.

"Herzog is the best balanced player in any league; he is the most aggressive, the brainiest, and the hardest worker," said Huggins. "Herzog always pulls the unexpected. He is ever on the alert. Nothing escapes him. He's a wonderful hitter in a pinch, the steadiest and coolest man in the game in a crisis, and his amazingly nimble brain never over looks an advantage for his team."
