10

apades of Sitting and it was great ans to allow the papers to scatter as rather amusing New York World neer for dear life. by one of his own wn reserve. He turbance because stopped and two arrest him. He ce down and the d shot him where said, too, that e resisted arrest.

eat leader of his Riel, though, a fighter, but his and did as he is buried on the in Dakota where moved after the in the United one to the Indian

annock

spread, between 00 B.C. and the era, over a large nany, over all the became Austriathe whole of the is from the same seventh to the irresistible flood er what is now eventually over ne Caucasus.

ses of the vast inst all obstrueyet imperfectly es were not mere lomination or of condition which to-day, namely, gradually outd other resources whom they were internal pressure ve the external irections of less nt contributory overflows were erritories by the and Eurasic inwars among the oles, all of which ce to the Slav process of the in the earlier ly a natural one ed one of vital t variance with y and ephemeral Vandals, Huns different from nized military-se of Rome. as not always entle, we know history of the occupied a new e this promptly rsal occupations ndry constituted nists, who soon he soil and were addition they new neighbors, which favored a ne remnants of ough in some ne reasons in the ame assimilated alien groups. l they occupied the Baltic and e Elbe to the e Far East. In ages they lost v denationalizaetween the Elbe s were absorbed ns, those of the iffered Magyarit of the Balkans made at their and Illyrians ous results of severing of the main Slav body by a broad Magyar-German patch; while the westernmost Czechs became hemmed in on three sides by the Germans. But while blocked and suffering losses in the west the Slav strain kept on gaining in Eastern Europe and then in Asia, so that the total territory they occupied towards the beginning of the present century was greater than that covered by them ever before in their history.

With the territorial changes and new contacts, however, and in the course of the centuries, some far-reaching internal developments took place in the Slav world. Originally, according to all indications, they were but one great strain of people of the same blood. They had the same language, the same habits, and the same naturalistic religion, with Peruni, the "Great Thunderer," as its chief deity. They also had throughout the same family a clean organization, on cherished democratic foundations, but apparently without possessing ever a single central government that would embrace the whole or even large groups of the population. As time advanced, however, and with increasing territorial distances, dialects appeared, and the clans or groups of clans began to form separate streams or bodies, which progressed according to circumstances and in instances by outside intervention, to political and geographic units, more or less independent of each other, the eventual Slav nations and countries. Under the influence of non-Slavonic peoples the dialects of these units grew gradually further apart, detrimental differences in faith were introduced from without, and the groups followed in large measure their separate destinies, at times even contending with each other; but there was never lost a strong basic feeling of common parentage and mutual sympathy, a feeling which in the recent epoch, and among the more cultured groups become largely responsible for the so-called Pan-Slavism, the great bug-bear before the war of the guilty conscience of both Germany and Austria-Hungary.

The groups which have arisen from the original Slav leaven were, and are, as follows:

Main Groups

The Russians

Eastern

Northern and

Slavs Secondary Groups (Bielo (White) Russians. Velko (Great) Russians. Malo (Little) Russians or Ukrinians, with Cerveno (Red) Russians or Ruthenians, the Carpathian tribes or Gorali, and the Ugro-Russians. cossacks (particularly those of the Don). Cossacks

Western

and Central

omeranian, Tribes—extinct. (Kashubs. Poles of the Mazurs, or Kingdom Masovians Galician (Poles proper Lusatians, Sorbes or Vends nearly extinct. Cecho-Slovaks.

(Pomeranian, Polabian (Elbe)

Slavs of Pannonia, Dacia, Rumania—extinct or small remnants.

Slovenes

Southern

Slavonians Croatinus Serbo- Dalmatians Jugo- | Croats | Bosnians and Herzegovinians Slavs Serbians and Montenegrins (Macedonians (majority) Bulgars (with part of Macedonians). (Slavs of Albania, Epirus, Thessaly, etc.—ex## tinct or small remnants). Numbers

As to the actual numbers of Slavs in Europe and the inseparable Asiatic provinces of Russia, our figures are not as precise or uniformly up-to-date as desirable. In Austria-Hungary, in particular, the German and Magyar governments have, as well known, for decades now made it impossible to obtain anything like a just census of the Slavic population. Nevertheless, there are sufficient data and knowledge of conditions to enable us to arrive at close approximations, which, with a numerical strength of other European groups, are given in the following columns.

Slavs Contrasted with Other Popula- Scandinavians, Danes..... tion in Europe

(In round numbers and regardless of Political Boundaries). Slavs in Europe 145-150 millions or 34.5 per cent Northern (and Eastern) Russians (all subdivisions). Europe ..... 102 (besides which in Siberia)... 10

Western (and Central) Poles..... Czecho-Slovaks..... Lusitanians and other remnants neglig-

Jugo-Slavs and related Macedonians Bulgars and related Macedonians. Nordic Anglo-Saxon, German-144-148 millions, or 34. per cent.

English, Scotch . . . . . . . . . . Germans, German Austro-Hungar-Spanish, Portuguese... Italians ..... Roumanians.... Greeks.....

Others 10-12 millions, or 3 per cent. Albanians, Basques, Caucasians, Gipsies, Gipsies, Kelts, Turks, etc......11

*Based on the Russian and Finnish statistical annuals up to 1915; on the Austrian census of 1910 and Czech corrections of same, and on latest censuses of the rest of the Slavonic countries, with 12 estimates up-to-date, based on the known mean annual accretion of each group. With some assistance from Almanack of Gotha and latest editions of Statesman's year book.

Granulated Eyelids, Fyes inflamed by exposure to Sun, Dust and Wind quickly relieved by Murine Eye Remedy: No Smarting, inst. Eye, Comfort. At Your Druggists or by mail 60c per Bottle.
For Book of the Eye free write Murine Eye Remedy Co., Chicago.

When writing advertisers, please mention The Western Home Monthly

The Spirit of Reconstruction

"Zero Hour"

HE secret of our success Over There is bound to be the secret of our success in the business world. And right here is it's symbol-my Elgin watch."

The Elgin stands for the new idea in war and business - everything must run on schedule time.

When zero hour for Germany was set by the Allies, it not only marked the downfall of autocracy, but also registered the last zero hour of the Allied schedule.

For weeks, months, years, our great war machine worked on schedule. Everything moved like well-oiled watchworks-in unison and to the tick of time.

When the Elgin marked 11 o'clock on November 11th, our chief task was completed our great work done. The whole world knows how the bravery, the resource and the efficiency of our own Canadian boys have won for us glory and honor.

Now a new chapter opens. Reconstruction is the vital issue. Greater production in every factory, every mine, on every farm, by every Canadian man and woman-is the first essential-we must all work to schedule.

The Elgin is at once the symbol of all this and the gateway to its fulfilment. It continues to be our trusted Ally in Peace and production-just as faithfully and unerringly as it upheld the service on land, on sea and in the air.

There is a jeweler in your vicinity who is equipped to help you safeguard your Time.

CANADIAN ELGIN WATCH COMPANY LTD. Toronto

One of the famous Areamline models

reamline

Pendant

Patented